'Thou Shalt Not Steal'

Priest gives The Lord a hand, foils robbery

GRANADA HILLS (AP) — A knife-wielding would-be bandit has learned the biblical lesson "Thou Shalt Not Steal" the hard way after a Catholic priest wrestled him into submission at a church.

Father Peter O'Sullivan, 66-year-old parish priest at St. John the Baptist LaSalle Church, told police he was awakened at the church Thursday by a man holding a knife to his throat and demanding money.

Father O'Sullivan said he gave the man $47 from his pocket, but the robber ordered him to open the rectory safe. The priest did, and handed over another $647.

Police said Father O'Sullivan caught the assailant off guard, jumped him and wrestled him until police arrived.

"We're really proud of Father O'Sullivan," a police spokesman said. "He really showed some spunk. He's great."

Police booked 20-year-old Jeffery Welch, of Sepulveda, for investigation of suspicion of robbery.

Liner turns back, rescues woman who had fallen overboard two hours before

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Margaret Fuller, a 64-year-old woman who fell overboard while on a cruise, survived for two hours in the open ocean by floating on her back and occasionally swimming, the captain of the liner Windsor Castle reported today.

Mrs. Fuller was reported in satisfactory condition today after being pulled from the chilly South Atlantic about 250 miles off the coast of Angola. She was wearing a light blue dressing gown, and crewmen said they thought they saw a shark circling in the waters near where she was found.

Capt. Patrick St. Quentin Beadon said she fell from the rolling deck of the Windsor Castle about 8:15 a.m. Monday as the ship was steaming at 21 knots in moderate seas. It was headed for Cape Town, where it docked Thursday.

Mrs. Fuller's husband, Leslie, noticed she was missing, and the ship turned back about an hour after she went overboard.

"When we finally decided to turn back to look for her, it took us 10 minutes to turn and we sailed back about 25 nautical miles before we spotted her," said the captain. "It is hard to expect anybody to stay afloat in a sea of that temperature — it was about 65 degrees."

Passengers streamed to the sides of the ship and officers on the bridge scanned the sea with binoculars.

About 10:30 a.m., a ship's officer spotted Mrs. Fuller waving and shouting to attract attention. Passengers shouted that they also saw her. She was floating on her back and occasionally swimming the breast stroke, they said.

A lifeboat was lowered and Mrs. Fuller was thrown a lifejacket and line, which she grabbed. Crewmen hauled her onto the motor launch and took her back to the ship where, bruised and cold, she was wrapped in a blanket and rushed to sick bay.

Her husband, who watched from the deck as his wife was brought to safety, said: "It is a miracle she is alive — this is a human tragedy. Pray God she will be all right."

The Fullers live in Port Elizabeth, on the southeast coast of South Africa. They had been to England to visit Mrs. Fuller's sister.

The sister said Mrs. Fuller was a strong swimmer and was in good physical condition, although Fuller indicated his wife had suffered a nervous breakdown recently.

"It is not really unusual for a ship to find someone who has fallen overboard," said Capt. Beadon. "It is not a complicated calculation to retrace your course. If you do it accurately you will arrive back on the same course."

Two die in accident

Two Montclair men tell of surviving air collision above L.B.

PB Staff Writers

Two Montclair men, sight-seeing over Long Beach Harbor Thursday night, were about to make a pass over the Queen Mary and come on home when their light plane collided in mid-air with another plane.

"I was scared to death," said pilot Dale Ratts, 39, 9605 Fremont Ave., speaking from his home this morning. "I knew we had been hit, but I didn't know by what or how badly we had been damaged."

Ratts, a glass company foreman, and his neighbor-passenger, David M. Leighty, 29, 9613 Fremont Ave., a Pomona postman, survived the 6:15 p.m. collision over Long Beach Harbor which killed two and injured a motorist.

Ratts landed in the ocean. The second plane fell to the ground, losing a wing and hitting three parked cars near the Naval Base.

Both men aboard that plane, J. Donald Wilkerson, 42, of Seal Beach, and Edward Shaw, 39, of Lakewood, were killed. Each was a licensed pilot. It was not known which man was at the controls.

Debris falling from the second plane injured Navy man Tom Steffey, 28, who was driving his sports car on Ocean Boulevard when he "saw a flash and heard a noise."

He was hit on the back of the head by a part of the tail assembly.

The crash occured less than an hour after Ratts and Leighty had taken off from Cable Airport in Upland in the rented single-engine Cessna.

"The windshield was smashed out and the sound was terrific," said Ratts. "I tried the controls and discovered they worked.

"It's impossible to fly a small plane very far with the drag caused by a smashed windshield. I contacted the Long Beach control tower, but with the rushing wind, I couldn't hear them or know if they heard me.

"I knew I was in a populated area. So, for the safety of the people on the ground and ourselves I headed out to sea. When I knew I was going to ditch in the water, I turned and asked Dave, 'Can you swim?"

Leighty said he heard Ratts' question and nodded.

"I yelled to him then that the plane would go upside down because of our wheels.

"I landed in the water as slowly as I could, but I knew it would nose over and it did.

"There we both were, hanging upside-down by our seatbelts. The plane was under the water. I couldn't find the buckle on my belt. Finally I did.

"We both got out and crawled up on a wing. I signaled we were alright and by this time the tower had notified all possible rescue units.

"Thank God the tide was coming in and we were able to save the plane. We started towing it with a rope and soon had rescue people and newsmen helping. We beached the plane."

Both Ratts and Leighty said they "felt terrible" about the two men killed in the other plane. They have flown together frequently, they said, and will continue to fly.

Ratts has 230 hours behind the controls and holds a commercial pilot's license.

Neither Ratts or Leighty consider flying "all that dangerous."

Driving back home last night they saw two bad freeway accidents, they said. "I'll bet neither of those made the news today," said Ratts.

Ratts told officials at the crash scene that he never saw the other Cessna and did not know how the collision occurred.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the FAA had no idea what caused the crash.

Sailor Roger Grant, 20, said he was sitting in the barracks at the Naval Base when he heard a bang that "sounded like dynamite going off."

He said he ran to the window and "saw this plane spinning away from another one."

The craft in which the two men died crashed on the median strip of Ocean Boulevard on Terminal Island. The fuselage and one wing landed in a nearby parking lot damaging three parked cars.

The men inside were pulled from the wreckage by motorists and pedestrians at the scene. One was immediately pronounced dead and the second died enroute to the naval base dispensary, authorities said.

Longest, hottest fall heat wave to linger

Santa Ana conditions minus the winds continued to bake the valley today in what is being reported as the longest and hottest fall heat wave in the recorded history of the Pomona area.

It was 96 degrees in Pomona Thursday after a 97 degree Wednesday — both record highs in the books of the National Weather Service.

According to the weatherman, the highest level the mercury climbed on a November day before this year was 94.1 on Nov. 3, 1949.

The heat wave is expected to continue for at least the next five days. A high reading of 93 degrees is predicted both for today and Saturday. By contrast, cool nights with temperatures in the low 50s are forecast for the weekend.

What is making the heat more bearable is that it is dry with relatively little humidity, and that the usual smog which accompanies temperatures above 80 degrees here has been absent. The weatherman expects those conditions to continue at least until Tuesday.

Jobless rate up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate rose from 7.8 per cent to 7.9 per cent in October, the government reported today, providing fresh evidence that the economic slowdown is continuing.

The unemployment rate is one of the economic indicators President-elect Jimmy Carter is watching as he considers whether to propose a tax cut after taking office in January. He told a news conference Thursday night that a tax cut for average wage earners "could be a strong possibility if there is no change in the rate of growth of the economy and if economic indicators should show a negative aspect."

Police Chief Davis eyes governor post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Chief Edward Davis says he is thinking about running for governor after he retires next year.

Politics is one of several options along with teaching, writing, or working in private industry, Davis said in a written statement.

In a talk he gave to a women's group on Wednesday, Davis said he is "seriously considering" running for governor in 1978.

Displays boldness, dignity, humor

Carter impressive at parley

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — There he was, the next president of the United States.

But there were none of the trappings. No trumpet flourishes, no dazzling chandeliers, no flags, no seal of office, no honor guards.

Yet, standing there before that weather-worn old depot in this little Southern town at his first post-election news conference, telecast across the land to countrymen still wondering much about the person they had chosen as their 39th chief executive, Jimmy Carter looked and talked more like a president than ever before.

He was forthcoming in his answers. He was gracious to his defeated opponent. He flashed spontaneity. He showed boldness, dignity, humor.

Maybe it was the emancipating effect of victory. Certainly the man answering questions Thursday was not the intense candidate whose steely mien, many thought, betrayed an inordinate hunger for the job.

The Jimmy Carter outside the depot was serenely confident. The president-elect doing the job. He seemed in control of himself, in control of the situation.

The hard edges of the campaigner were smooth, fuzzy edges sharpened.

He even managed to back off adroitly from one of the stands he stumbled into in the heat of electioneering, the business about keeping U.S. hands off Yugoslavia.

Somehow, he rounded his position off into acceptable perspectives without seeming, in that old haunting phrase, to have flip-flopped.

Those who knew him best said his wit was always there, just wait.

So, asked how he could unify the nation after losing practically all the Western half, Jimmy Carter smiled. Not a push-button smile. And asked, hadn't he won Hawaii, the Westernmost of all?

He spoke of taxes and of foreign affairs and of his notion of what a mandate meant and he spoke with unaccustomed authority and sureness.

He was at ease.

Could the rustic setting for his first major appearance as president-to-be have had something to do with Jimmy Carter's performance?

The only other times the nation had a sustained look at Carter were in three televised presidential debates. Sterile affairs they were, held in antiseptic arenas, stage-managed to the last centimeter.

This time, by contrast, the president-elect stood not at a plastic lectern but at an antique hand-hewn pine pulpit salvaged from a long-forgotten country church in Douglasville, Ga.

His spectators were not strangers in theater seats but neighbors and some curious tourists, about 400 in all, who stood in the night air to watch from behind hemp ropes strung between green oil drums.

This time his questioners sat on folding chairs borrowed from an undertaker. And his vice president-elect and both their wives and some of their children sat off to one side.

The TV lights glared, a melancholy hint that quiet little Plains would never be the same, not at least for the next four years.

But overhead, a full moon turned surrounding Georgia pines into spearpoints, piercing the crisp November sky. One could indeed sense much that was genuine in Plains, Ga.

Weather

Continued hot and dry throughout the weekend with cool nights. High today 94, low tonight 53, high Saturday 93. The high Thursday was 96 and the overnight low was 54. Saturday's sunrise 6:15, sunset 4:54.

'Family hour' ruled unconstitutional

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The major television networks violated freedom of speech rights guaranteed by the constitution when they adopted an industry group's "family hour" viewing policy for early evening programs, a federal judge has ruled.

But Thursday's decision by U. S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson involving NBC, CBS and ABC didn't abolish the controversial "family hour" on TV.

He just said the networks couldn't delegate authority in family viewing policy to the National Association of Broadcasters, which adopted such a policy to which the networks and 462 TV stations now subscribe.

In a 223-page opinion that included stinging criticism of the networks, the judge also held that the Federal Communications Commission violated the First Amendment "by issuing threats of government action" through FCC chairman Richard E. Wiley "should (the) industry not adopt the family viewing policy or the equivalent thereof."

"This court has no authority to declare an end to the family hour," Ferguson said. But he warned that "censorship by government or privately created review boards cannot be tolerated."

The ruling came in a lawsuit filed in October 1975 by three entertainment guilds, two production companies and nine situation-comedy-makers. They named as defendants the networks, the NAB and the FCC.

The decision wasn't expected to produce any immediate network program changes, although the plaintiffs hailed it as a victory for the constitutional right of free speech.

"Americans everywhere won a victory today," said one of them, producer Norman Lear, creator of CBS' hit "All in the Family." He told a news conference, "The First Amendment was upheld."

CBS and ABC said they would appeal. And CBS, which led the fight for adoption of a "family viewing" program policy by the industry, added: "In the meantime and until further notice, CBS will voluntarily continue to adhere to the family viewing concept."

NBC and the NAB said they still were reviewing the decision and had no immediate comment on whether an appeal would be made.

The "family hour" policy was adopted in September 1975 after network officials and Wiley held a closed meeting earlier that year.

The NAB's family policy says entertainment programs "in appropriate for viewing by a general family audience," shouldn't be aired at night during the first hour of network programming or the immediately preceding hour.

BEACH WEATHER

Record high temperatures drove these people to enjoy the waves at a relatively uncrowded Hermosa Beach Thursday. Santa Ana winds have driven temperatures into the 90s all week though a cooling trend is forecast for the weekend.

For property improvement

Montclair to join loan program

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

Montclair will soon become the sixth city in San Bernardino County to participate with the county in a property improvement loan program.

The Montclair City Council authorized $20,000 of its Community Development Act funds for participation in the program for the remainder of this fiscal year only. Lee McDougal, coordinator of the CDA programs for the city, assured councilmen that the city was not to be listed on any loan provisions and would not be involved in any contingent liability.

McDougal pointed out that the objective of the federal CDA funds is "to cause the improvement of the housing stock within a given area." In considering the options for a proposed property improvement loan program, the staff examined five possibilities before concluding that one offered by Security Pacific National Bank was best.

The housing coordinator described the Security Pacific program as "simple and most effective for this community." It also can be quickly established within two weeks.

Any single-family occupant is eligible to apply for a loan if that individual meets federal and Security Pacific criteria. That establishes that an applicant must be from a low to moderate income family with annual income not exceeding $11,000; of legal age; a property owner; show a steady income for repayment; demonstrate a past payment record; and be an acceptable credit risk.

An individual can borrow a maximum of $10,000 for repairs and rehabilitation of a single-family dwelling and have up to 12 years to repay the loan. The loan can be applied to alterations and extensions, interior and exterior work, and repairs and restoration of important parts of the structure.

Five other cities have established grant and loan programs under the general division of Community Development Act projects. Chino allocated $45,000 for a program that is directed toward the senior citizens. A team of workers goes to individual senior citizen's homes and make necessary repairs up to $500.

Ontario has taken $50,000 for a grant program for the elderly and one phase of the Upland program allows $30,000 for home repairs for the elderly. The second phase of the Upland program allocates $76,800 for a home improvement loan program that is identical to the Montclair program. Fontana allocates $15,000 and Rialto $119,041 for similar programs.

McDougal told the council that it would not be necessary to seek additional employes to coordinate the program.

"This enables us to divert personnel savings into the program to make more loans," he said.

He said that $2,000 would be set aside as a contingency for administrative costs for special advertising if necessary.

Hahn continues his attack against County Fair Board

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The Los Angeles County Fair Board came under attack again this week for not returning to the county any of the revenue it realizes from the operation of the county-owned grounds in Pomona.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn who castigated a five-year contract last week that allows the fairgrounds to operate through 1981 without any county charges continued his barrage.

He asked County Assessor Philip E. Watson to find out how much the county is losing by keeping the 421-acre parcel off the tax rolls.

First estimates supplied by an aide showed that if the land was under private ownership, the county could collect at least $100,000 a year in property taxes, based on a current market valuation of about $10,000 an acre. "They have a million dollars in the treasury," Hahn pounded away in his attack. "Those who make such big profits should return some of it to the county."

Hahn was following through on a report he had asked Harry Hufford, the county's chief administrative officer, to prepare last summer. The report recommended that the county charge some kind of a revenue for the use of the fairgrounds.

Hufford found that the fair association pays about $100,000 to the city of Pomona for permits, and nearly $1 million to the state in betting fees, but the county is getting only $28,000 in property taxes from a piece of land which the fair board owns privately.

Phil Shepherd, executive director of the fair, says his association has been plowing most of its revenue into the improvement and maintenance of the county fairgrounds.

The supervisors have agreed to hold up any action on Hahn's motion to break the contract and write a new one until Supervisor Pete Schabarum returns from his vacation Tuesday. Schabarum, who as First District supervisor has jurisdiction over the fairgrounds, is an ex-officio member of the fair board.

2 men rob store, bind woman clerk

A female employe was left bound at noon Thursday following the robbery of Ron D Enterprises in Pomona in which two men fled with almost $4,000 in loot.

The victim, Sharann Roberts, 33, said the men entered the store at 662 E. Holt Ave., browsed for a while and then each drew revolvers. She was bound with a necktie by the pair who then carried off leather coats, trousers, jewelry and a .22-caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

The leader was described as black, 20 years old, 5 feet 9 weighing 160 pounds. He had long sideburns and wore a long-sleeved blue shirt and and black trousers.

Woman hit, purse taken

A Fontana woman was hit on her head by one of three youths who grabbed her purse and ran Thursday afternoon in Pomona.

The victim, Darlene Harris, 32, told police that she had left the rear of a store in the 1200 block of N. White Avenue when one of the group approached and asked for a cigarette. She told him she had none and turned to walk away when she was hit from behind. Her attacker then grabbed her purse containing a small amount of money and all three youths fled. The victim did not require medical attention.

Her attacker was described as black, 17 years old, 5 feet 6 weighing 135 pounds. He wore a blue nylon jacket with a fur collar and blue denim trousers.

Two women held up

The owner and an employe were robbed late Thursday afternoon in a holdup at DAB Originals, a decorator shop at 165 S. East End Ave. in Pomona.

The owner, Dorothy Ann Bender, 41, said the man waited until customers left before pulling a pistol and demanding money. He looted the cash drawer and took money from her purse and that of employe Lisa M. Hetland, 20, before fleeing.

The man was described as black, 25 years old, six feet tall and thin. He wore army-style fatigues with an insignia on the jacket stating, "Hell On Wheels," and a cap.

Thieves cut phone lines

Burglars cut telephone lines to four Upland businesses Wednesday night before stealing $5,000 in office equipment.

Police said the thieves may have been trying to cut the burglar alarm systems. The businesses are located near Benson Avenue and Foothill Boulevard. They are Horticultural Enterprises, General Engineering, Cirlab, Inc., and Buckle Up.

Good that Kissinger leaving?

LONDON (AP) — The influential weekly magazine Economist says that while many of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's purposes are accepted by President-elect Jimmy Carter, it is a good thing Kissinger is leaving government.

The magazine said: "The Kissinger method was needed to achieve break-through. A return to more usual ways will do no damage now."

Pointing out that Kissinger's style can never be imitated, the Economist added "only the testing of Mr. Carter, whether by the Russians or by America's friends in Europe, will now tell whether the strategy laid down over eight years by Mr. Kissinger under two presidents is to be departed from."

It added many are ready for a less personal approach and that fences need to be mended between Congress and the secretary of state in a way Kissinger probably could not have managed.

Plan for $1.5 million R.H. library unveiled

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The community of Rowland Heights is about to get a $1½ million public library.

Plans for a 15,000 square-foot structure at the southeast corner of Nogales Street and Colima Road were revealed Thursday before the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors by Robert H. Disterick, head of the facilities management division of the county library system.

He was one of two persons who testified before the board at a public hearing required by state law before condemnation proceedings are begun to acquire the site.

Disterick told the board that the library is interested in acquiring about 60,000 square feet, mostly along Colima Avenue. He said a county appraiser has estimated the current value of that parcel at $44,500.

But J.C. Sackett, who said he represented the owners of the property, claimed the parcel was worth a lot more. He charged that leaving the six-acre parcel without any frontage would be "quite damaging financially" to the rest of the land. He said the assessed valuation of the property was $45,000 an acre, but the county was willing to pay only $44,500 for 1½ acres.

The hearing was continued for two weeks because Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum, who represents the district, was still on vacation.

Disterick told the board the county wants to build a new library for the community in place of the present one at 18412 Colima Rd., which is now being leased. He said the community has grown from 11,000 persons when the library space was leased eight years ago to about 32,000 persons last year.

As a result, the 22,000 volumes the present library stocks is no longer sufficient. Disterick said the current formula is to provide two books for every resident. He said on a basis of 32,000 persons, the library would house about 64,000 books.

He estimated the cost of construction at $957,000. The contents were estimated at another $550,000.

Supervisor Kenneth Han, in calling for the two-week continuance, suggested that Sackett, Disterick and the county's real estate department get together and try to iron out their differences.

UAW, Chrysler may beat today's strike deadline

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp., already in accord on money issues, need only to settle a few disputes over job security to agree on a new contract.

Negotiators for the two sides were to resume bargaining this morning in hopes of beating a 6 p.m. EST deadline for a strike by 118,000 U.S. and Canadian employes.

UAW officials were confident that agreement on a three-year contract could be reached in time to prevent an unprecedented second national auto strike in the same year.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser said Thursday that the remaining unresolved issues were not complex and could be settled in relatively short order.

"There are some tough issues but it doesn't take a complicated formula to arrive at a decision," he said. "All they have to do is say 'yes,' and we have an agreement."

Fraser said the remaining unresolved issues concerning job security, such as seniority and contracting out work, stem from the recession.

Fraser said the two sides had agreed on all major economic issues based on the industry pattern settlement forged at Ford Motor Co. after a month-long strike. Among the items resolved, he said, was a dispute over Chrysler's supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) fund for laid-off workers.

The UAW had demanded that Chrysler add $4 million in "front-end" money to SUB, charging that the firm mismanaged the fund during the 1974-75 recession by allowing it to go broke while tens of thousands of workers were on layoff.

The UAW has not waged two national strikes in the same year since it first won recognition from the industry after a series of sit-down strikes 40 years ago.

Meanwhile, officials at Ford's Canadian subsidiary said a tentative agreement had been reached Thursday to end a strike by 14,000 UAW workers at plants in Ontario. Officials said they could be back on the job Monday following ratification votes this weekend.

Union President Leonard Woodcock also said recent bargaining in Moline, Ill., with Deere & Co. have been productive."

Mikesell retirement dinner tonight

A retirement dinner for former San Bernardino County Supervisor Daniel Mikesell will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Hall of Fame Restaurant at Ontario Motor Speedway. Mikesell of Ontario resigned recently from his Second District post after more than 18 years on the county board. He cited ill health as the reason.

Reservations may be made by calling 987-1732.

Chino teachers get OK for bargaining election

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Chino teachers received tentative approval from the state to hold an election Dec. 7 to determine which of two certificated groups will represent them as sole bargaining agent with the school board.

The state's Educational Employment Relations Board(EERB) has granted the approval for an election pitting the Chino Federation of Teachers(CFT) against the Associated Chino Teachers(ACT). Teachers, however, also will have the option of choosing "no representative" as allowed under the state's new collective bargaining law.

An election must be held if two teachers groups are claiming to be sole representative. This came about through the state's new collective bargaining law.

The EERB also has approved the use of absentee ballots for teachers gone from the district on election day.

The election date was changed from Nov. 24 which had earlier been agreed on by the teachers and the school district. Personnel Director Lee Doughty explained various dates were discussed, and the EERB decided on Dec. 7.

Teachers will vote at five campuses from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. throughout the school district.

Club for tall people plans party and barbecue

The New Higherups, a club for tall people, has planned a barbecue and party Saturday evening as one of its first events in the valley.

The 5 p.m. party will be at the home of Dan O'Reilly, 702½ W. Holt Ave., Pomona.

The club is open to men who are 6 feet, 2 inches tall or taller and women who are at least 5 feet, 10 inches tall. Members must be between the ages of 18 and 40 at the time of joining.

The club is affiliated with the California Council of Tall Clubs and will be represented at a Sunday executive meeting of the state organization.

O'Reilly said membership in the local club allows for participation in a number of Southland events.

The club was organized in June and is seeking membership from the Pomona Valley. Persons interested in more information about the club or in attending the Saturday party may call O'Reilly at 629-0943.

RTD subsidy OK'd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The board of supervisors has agreed to pay a subsidy to the Southern California Rapid Transit District, assuring that bus fares will remain at their current rate.

The two bodies reached the compromise Thursday for the $4.5 million subsidy for the current fiscal year.

RTD president Byron Cook said last week that unless the subsidy was approved bus fares could increase a nickel to 40 cents a ride.

The fares were boosted a dime in July to their present rates.

The subsidy includes $684,000 for a special fund which RTD can use in 90 days if it can show it needs the funds.

Charges of abuse in mental hospitals go on

VENTURA (AP) — "They strapped my hands behind my back and strapped me on my stomach. I had to lay that way all night.

"They gave me a shot which hurt the back of my skull...I banged my head on the wall because it hurt so bad. The doctor came next morning and said I was imagining the pain."

This statement from a patient at one of California's 11 state mental hospitals was recorded by one of several citizens groups looking into alleged abuses at the hospitals.

Scores of similar cases have been reported — and a few successfully prosecuted.

Last month a Camarillo State Hospital psychiatric technician was arrested after a witness allegedly saw her beat a female patient with a fly swatter and an ice tray, then loop a towel around her neck and begin choking her.

A registered nurse who works at Camarillo told the Associated Press that "choking out" — using a strangle hold to render a patient unconscious — has been often used to quiet rebellious patients.

Beatings, verbal abuse, tying patients to beds with painfully tight restraints, sexual advances to and rapes of mentally disturbed patients — all these have been reported by various sources.

Next week, the Ventura County Grand Jury will be presented with cases of questionable deaths of patients at Camarillo, and finally allegations of brutal treatment may be substantiated or found groundless.

In any case, the public sessions will likely throw a harsh spotlight on staffing problems and the uncertain future facing California's mental hospital system and its 15,000 patients.

The probe is to determine if criminal negligence — or worse — was involved in deaths from strangulation, drug overdoses, drownings and other causes over the past four years.

If indictments are returned, says Assemblyman Ken McDonald of Ojai, "it will be an indictment not so much of individuals but of the system and the Legislature for not doing something about this situation." McDonald said he has heard about poor conditions at the hospital for 16 years.

The hearings, which authorities say may deal with "as many as 75 deaths," will be held in open court under a seldom-used provision in law.

"We hope that the proceedings will be therapeutic" in improving conditions at state hospitals, said Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael Bradbury of Ventura County.

Carried out over the past year, the district attorney's probe was revealed last month at a time when a series of four unexplained deaths at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk led to the scheduling of coroners' inquests.

Prompted by news stories laet month about the Ventura County death probe, the Health Department recently sent investigators of its own to various hospitals.

They have already reported that about one in every 12 deaths studied involved some irregularity.

Raymond Procunier, installed recently as a Health Department troubleshooter by Gov. Brown, said the investigators were also finding "gross problems" including a drug ring and alteration of records, perhaps to cover up patient abuse.

All of these groups began issuing statements of concern or condemnation after the first questionable death this year at Metropolitan. Mark Holcomb, a 19-year-old Garden Grove resident, was found dead in his hospital bed June 19.

The apparent cause of death was said to be choking on his own vomit, but an autopsy examination showed Holcomb had suffered bruises and cuts on his face and neck. His case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

In the Camarillo deaths, authorities have not given details of specific cases. But the Oxnard Press-Courier reported that a check through coroners' records beginning in 1973 turned up at least three victims who died of strangulation — two of them reportedly while being restrained by staff members.

Obituaries

Laurentina Dorman

Laurentina Ann Dorman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorman, of 12727 Ninth St., Chino, died Thursday shortly after birth, in Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Fontana.

She is also survived by her grandparents, Annie Aguiar of Ontario, Frank Aguiar of Chino, Thelma Amaro of Hawaiian Gardens, and Lyle Dorman of Pomona.

Graveside services will be held Monday at Crestlawn Memorial Park in Riverside, at 10 a.m. The Rev. Robert J. Erickson of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church in Chino, will officiate.

Griffith Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

David S. Castro

David S. Castro of Livermore died Tuesday at the Livermore Veterans Hospital following a two-month illness.

Mr. Castro was born Jan. 30, 1913, in Frederick, Colo. He lived in Oakland before moving to Pomona in 1947. He worked for the Pomona Post Office before going on active duty with the Navy and serving two years in Korea.

After he came home from Korea, he worked as a bus driver for the Pomona Unified School District. Mr. Castro, as a volunteer, coached track and football at St. Joseph Elementary School.

He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Surviving are his widow, Grace M.; three daughters, Doreen Brunswick of Pomona, Dolores Tucker of Poulsbo, Wash., and Kathleen Castro of Spokane, Wash.; 11 grandchildren; his mother, Marion S. of Albany; three sisters, Emily and Sister Marion of Albany and Esther Donner of Berkeley; and a brother, Henry of Pinole.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 at St. Michael Catholic Church in Livermore. An American Legion rite will be conducted at 7:30 p.m., preceding the Rosary.

Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Michaels.

Burial will be in the San Pablo cemetery.

Calahan Mortuary in Livermore is in charge of arrangements.

GLENN STEWART

Poly SLO honors alumnus

Glenn R. Stewart of Pomona will be honored as the distinguished alumnus from the School of Science and Mathematics during 1976 Homecoming festivities at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo on today and Saturday.

Stewart, an instructor at Cal Poly Pomona, was selected by the Cal Poly Alumni Association's Distinguished Alumni Committee.

A 1958 graduate of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo with a bachelor's degree in biological sciences, he received his master's degree in zoology with a concentration in ecology and natural history from Oregon State in 1963.

Stewart began his career at Cal Poly Pomona in 1963 as an assistant professor. In 1968, he became an associate professor and in 1973, was promoted to professor and then named coordinator of the zoology section in 1974.

Dr. Stewart has published 11 papers on reptiles, amphibians, and mammals. His current research deals with the distribution, ecology, and systematics of Pacific Coast garter snakes and rubber boas; microornamentation of reptile scales; and the biology of black bears in Southern California.

Bear fact

The Himalayan black bear is usually a vegetarian and likes honey above all food.

Montclair sponsors 4th band festival

The fourth annual Festival of Bands, sponsored by the City of Montclair and the Montclair High School Cavalaids Booster Club, is scheduled for Saturday.

Leonard Soper is once again parade chairman, coordinating the efforts of 200 volunteers in the final stages of planning. Arnie and Debbie Leis, co-chairmen with Soper, will serve as host and hostess.

The high school band event is expected to pull participants from throughout the Southland. Step-off time is 10:30 a.m. from Montclair High School, the host school. The Cavaliers Band and the Cavalettes Drill Team will lead the parade north on Ramona Avenue to San Bernardino Avenue, east to Monte Vista Avenue, south to Orchard Street and West again to the high school.

The reviewing stand will be located at the corner of Monte Vista and San Bernardino.

Any high school band interested in participating may pick up applications from the Montclair Chamber of Commerce, 10250 Central Ave.

"Linear tactics" evolved in the 18th century European army with the development of firearms. The line of battle consisted of two or three ranks, or lines of men, drawn up shoulder to shoulder. Casualties in the line were replaced by reserve ranks. With fixed bayonets the attackers moved forward, keeping their alignment, relatively safe from enemy musketry up to 100 years away.

The World Almanac notes that this was the drill for British troops in combat and that it was ineffective against guerrilla or Indian tactics.

Chaffey Adult School taking registration

Registration is now being taken for second quarter classes, Nov. 15 to Jan. 28, at the Chaffey Adult School.

Persons may stop by the mobile office at fifth street and Euclid Avenue behind the district office or call 983-2010 for further information.

These classes are available:

—Color photography. Ed Teal will be conducting a class in the art of color photography, involving the processing of color transparencies and color print making. The class will meet on Thursdays 7 to 10 p.m. at Montclair High School. Some photography experience is recommended for this class.

—Career and vocational planning. Counseling and individual and group testing will help select jobs or change careers. Bob Brown, a career education specialist, will counsel. Class meets on Mondays 7 to 10 p.m. at Valley View High School.

—Adult basic education. This class is designed for student needing basic work in math, English, reading and social studies. Mrs. Lydia Miner is the teacher and the class meets at The Salvation Army Building, Mondays and Wednesdays, 9 a.m. to noon.

—Business education. Typing and office practice are available in the evening from 7 to 10 p.m. for persons wanting to improve their office skills. These classes are held on the Chaffey High School campus. Morning classes in office job skills and ABC Shorthand are available each morning from 8 to 10 a.m. at Montclair High School. Mrs. Thelma Kramar is the teacher for the morning classes.

—Crafts. This class will emphasize leather, lapidary, plastics and wood carvings. It will meet on Thursdays 7 to 10 p.m. at Upland High School. Herb Christian is the instructor.

—Sewing. Sally Campbell's class on knit sewing has several openings on Thursdays, 7 to 10 p.m. at Upland High School.

Judge limits steel picket

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge has issued a temporary restraining order to limit picketing by the United Steel Workers' Union at a safe manufacturers' office.

Judge Norman Dowds issued the order Tuesday limiting picketing by the United Steel Workers Union Local 1981 at the Major Safe Co. office in Los Angeles. Dowds scheduled a hearing for a preliminary injunction for Nov. 16.

The court order prevents picketers from coming within certain distances from the company office and limits the number of picketers who may assemble there.

The company's suit seeking the restraining order alleges that several nonstriking employes were assaulted by picketers at the firm late last week.

Woman senator 'proud'

DINUBA (AP) — Being elected California's first female state senator "does make me feel proud," says Rose Ann Vuich, who hopes the unique status will help make her an effective legislator.

Miss Vuich, a Democrat, claimed the 15th District Senate seat with a 2,700-vote margin Tuesday over Republican Assemblyman Ernest Mobley. They battled for the post vacated by the retirement of Republican Howard Way.

The accountant, who helps her brother run several San Joaquin Valley farms, was intrigued by the likelihood that she will obtain more news coverage than normal for a new legislator because she will be the first woman in the upper house.

"I hope they will pay attention to my views," she said in an interview this week. "I'll be a better asset to my district if I get more attention from the press. It will be a help to our agricultural area."

Miss Vuich, 49, the unmarried daughter of Yugoslav immigrants, already benefited once from unusual publicity when her narrow primary victory remained in doubt for several days. That generated extensive news coverage in the area, helping her overcome Mobley's name identification in the district which includes Fresno, Tulare and Kings counties plus part of Kern.

Although never previously elected to a public post, Miss Vuich says she was confident of her chances.

"I felt that I have the qualities and the experience for the job and if I could project this to the voters, I could win."

She has served on the Democratic Central Committee in Tulare County for 12 years, is a Tulare County fair director and past president of Dinuba Chamber of Commerce.

Mobley was surprised that he lost after a decade in the Assembly.

"I really expected to win," he said. "I played it straight. I never attacked her during the campaign.

"It's tough to fight a woman."

Engineers

A national effort is underway to increase minority employment in engineering by 1987, according to The Conference Board. Currently, minorities are scantly represented in the country's second largest professional occupation. Less than 3 per cent of all engineers are blacks, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans or American Indians.

Monthly 'bonus' payment to welfare mothers halted

Federal law has brought an end to the monthly "bonus" payment to California welfare mothers for helping district attorneys locate and collect child support from absent fathers.

State benefit payments director Marion Woods said the bonus phaseout was in the original federal child support enforcement plan and does not signify that the federal government or the state is reducing efforts to collect child support.

"We have made considerable progress in California over a year's time and we are going to continue to be vigilant in locating parents and collecting from them the support they must legally provide their children," he said.

Woods, who administers child support enforcement at the state level, said most welfare families will receive their final bonus check in November, although in some counties the final checks will not be sent out until after the end of the year.

Since October 1975, under a one-year provision of the federal Social Security Act, parents receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) have been able to get incentive payments of up to $20 a month for helping county officials collect from their absent spouses who owe child support.

The bonus came out of the child support payment made directly to the county by the absent parent. It was paid to the mother in a separate check in addition to the regular welfare payment.

Woods said 80,000 of the state's 450,000 welfare families were receiving a total of $1.5 million a month in incentive payments.

He said that in most cases, the elimination of the monthly bonus will have no effect on basic welfare checks. If the change in income level does affect a family's payment, a separate notice will be sent by the county welfare department, Woods said.

The incentive provision was part of 1975 federal legislation establishing uniform procedures for child support enforcement in all states. The legislation established temporary federal cost sharing for the monthly bonus payment to cooperating families in order to encourage participation in the support enforcement program.

B of A branch names loans asst. manager

Stephen "Steve" McIntire has been appointed assistant manager for loans at Bank of America's North Pomona branch, it was announced today by Eber Copeland, manager of the branch.

McIntire, with the bank since 1973, had been a loan officer at the Seventh and Olive branch since 1975. Prior to that, he served as a loan officer at the Lake-Green branch in Pasadena following graduation from a loan officer training program.

He replaces Al Alexander who has been named manager of the Sterling-Highland branch in San Bernardino.

He and his wife, Mary, live in South Pasadena.

Suit against medical assn. dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert J. Kelleher has dismissed a 1975 antitrust suit lodged against the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Kelleher on Wednesday dismissed Dr. Morton H. Pastor's suit alleging that physicians could not purchase malpractice insurance unless they paid dues to the association.

Red Cross training

Members of Pomona V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary 2018 and Walnut Post and Auxiliary 9940 and their families have arranged with the American National Red Cross to be instructed in an all day class of multi first aid, Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Pomona Red Cross building.

This is a new form of teaching by a filmed segment, then by practice until 19 such segments are finished in an eight hour period.

The veteran's and their families are seeking to be better prepared to aid their community in the event of a major disaster.

AYSO dinner

A fund raising dinner dance will be held Saturday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Stanley Plummer Community Building, San Dimas City Hall, sponsored by the San Dimas-La Verne American Youth Soccer Organization.

The spaghetti dinner will feature a salad bar. A four piece band will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Ticket reservations may be made by calling 599-2080 or 599-5004. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door, said the dance chairman Warren Roberts.

Hatha yoga class

The Claremont Parks and Recreation Department will begin a hatha yoga class Monday at 9:30 a.m.

The class will meet at the Baseline Recreation Center, 431 West Base Line Road for six weeks for a fee of $6.50 for city residents and $8 for non-city residents.

Registration is being taken at the recreation division office, 840 North Indian Hill Blvd. Persons wanting more information may call 624-4531. Mats are provided, but students should bring a large towel or blanket.

Trout season starts

The Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park in Ontario will start its third annual trout season Saturday at 7:30 a.m.

Fees for the trout season will be $2 for adults 16 and over and $1 for juniors.

A California State Fishing License is required for adults 16 and over. There is a limit of five trout perperson.

The park is sponsoring a trout derby with trophies and fishing passes to be awarded. The derby will begin at 7:30 a.m. Saturday and continue until 3 p.m. Nov. 14. Categories will be largest single trout and heaviest total limit of five trout. Prizes will be awarded for the top three places in each category.

Parking fees are $1 per automobile on weekends and 50 cents during the week; 10 cents for pedestrians and bicyclists.

Dolls on display

An exhibit of dolls designed and executed by members of the creative doll making class, sponsored by the Upland Recreation Department and Chaffey College, is on view at the Upland library, during November.

"These are originally designed rag dolls," said June Alexis, instructor, "reflecting the individuality of their creators. The dolls range from the saucy and impudent to the fragile and delicate."

Students whose work is on display are Jacqueline Davis, Maria Brower, Irene Gwozdz, Mary Wensorski, Mary Godby and Mary Wegener.

This exhibit will remain in the library until Nov. 30.

Christmas seal kickoff

Highlights of the Christmas Seal Campaign kickoff event on Wednesday, at the Greater Los Angeles Press Club, will be the honoring of two volunteers of the year and selection of the Christmas Seal queen, said Earl B. Smith, president of the Lung Association of Los Angeles County.

Judges of the queen contest will include Will Geer, California Christmas Seal chairman; Ron Cey, sports chairman for the Los Angeles County campaign; Margo Leonetti, beauty and fashion consultant; Ida Mae McKenzie, guest coordinator for the Hollywood Squares TV program; lung association president Smith and TV personality Johnny Grant, who will also serve as master of ceremonies.

Funds raised by the Christmas Seal drive, which has a $1.5 million goal for Los Angeles County, will support the pioneer voluntary health agency's patient services, including free breathing machines and asthmatic children's camperships, public and professional health education and research in all forms of lung disease as well as anti-smoking and air conservation programs.

Medical assistants

The San Antonio Chapter of the American Association of Medical Assistants will be holding its annual recognition night on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Orlando's Restaurant in Pomona.

Medical assistants will honor their employers with a special dinner. Reservations are required. Persons may call 629-7926.

The cost is $10 per person. Entertainment will be provided by "The Singing Magician."

College speakers

Representatives from four colleges will attend a St. Monica's Guild meeting at Damien High School Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Discussions will involve entrance examinations, scholarships and curriculum.

The speakers will be Stacy Kenney, UC Riverside; Richard York, Cal Poly Pomona; Mitch L'Heurex, Loyola Marymount University; and Howard Theurer, Chaffey College.

County to take over La Verne's criminal matters

The district attorney's office will prosecute all criminal matters for the City of La Verne from now on.

La Verne becomes the 58th city in Los Angeles County to turn its criminal court business over to the county.

The request of the city for the county service was approved Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

City Manager George Caswell says use of the district attorney's office does not wipe out the work of the city attorney who is on an annual contract to advise the city on legal and municipal matters.

Until now, whenever the city had to go to court to prosecute violators of its ordinances it has had to pay extra money either to its legal counsel or to an outside attorney.

Under the proposed agreement the city will reimburse the county for all legal services of the district attorney at a rate determined by the office of the auditor-controller.

Cucamonga girl hurt

A loaded cement truck crashed into the side of a car coming off the San Bernardino Freeway offramp at Euclid Avenue in Ontario Wednesday morning injuring a 17-year-old Cucamonga girl.

According to Ontario police, the cement truck driven by William Francis Jarboe Jr., 31, Glendora, was southbound on Euclid Avenue when it struck the car driven by Sherri Lynn Hansen of 8378 Via Airosa, Cucamonga.

Miss Hansen managed to get out of the car moments before it caught fire. She was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital for treatment of her injuries, and later released.

Chapman wins scholarship contest

Ronald D. Chapman has won the Century III Leaders' scholarship competition at Claremont High School, according to John Mann, principal.

The contest is part of the nationwide competition for $116,500 in scholarships at the state and national level. The program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and funded by Shell Oil Co.

Runners-up in the competition are Ann Benjamin, Seth Chandler, Bob Cooke, Luis Rocha and Kathy Vignoli.

Members of the local selection committee were Dr. James Martin, associate principal; Lawrence Ganzell; scholarship counselor; James Hill, social science department chairman; Mrs. Carrie Steele, PFA representative; and Brian Williamson, a senior at Claremont High School.

Graduating seniors' entries were judged on the basis of their leadership potential with emphasis on community and extracurricular activities, high scores on a current events exam, and on their writing viewpoints about America's needs and challenges for the future.

Chapman now competes with other high school winners from around the state for two $1,000 scholarships and an opportunity for the $10,000 top national scholarship.

The two California winners will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the second annual national Century III Leaders Meeting in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in March 1977, to participate in seminars on current issues.

Hand nails

Until a Frenchman invented a wire nail-making machine in 1834, all nails were made by hand. These cut nails, fashioned from strips of iron, were so valuable old barns and houses were once burned down to salvage them from the ashes. Nails are still sold in pennyweight sizes. For instance, a three-inch nail was called a 10 penny because that's what it cost for 100 of them.

16-year agreement with clearinghouse ends

Red Cross pact cancelation affects valley

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

The American Red Cross has canceled a 16-year agreement with a national clearinghouse set up to exchange blood credits and the division will affect the blood donor program in the valley.

The Red Cross conducts the blood donor program in most of Los Angeles and Orange counties and all of the centers in the eastern part of Los Angeles County.

San Bernardino and Riverside counties, on the other hand, are a part of the American Association of Blood Banks and will remain a part of the clearing house program.

This means that it will no longer be possible to donate blood in Los Angeles County and have the blood credit transferred to a friend or relative in the other counties, according to Dr. Loren Spencer, chairman of the Pomona Red Cross.

Dr. Spencer explained that it was the credit, in most cases, which was transferred, not the actual pint of blood.

Both Red Cross and AABB leaders admit that a fundamental difference in philosophy is the basis for the disagreement.

"The AABB believes that the person who receives the blood should be responsible for replacing it, either by securing donors or by paying for it," Dr. Spencer said.

"The Red Cross, however, believes that the entire community should be responsible for maintaining an adequate supply for its people."

"The exchange program has not generated any additional blood to meet the community demand. Instead, it has been an expensive paper program in which the Red Cross has ended up supplying much of the blood used by AABB," added the Pomona physician.

Last year AABB collected and distributed about 3.8 million units of blood in the United States. Its members transfused about 8 million units.

The Red Cross collected and distributed about 4.2 million units mostly to AABB members. Unlike the AABB, Red Cross is not involved in actually giving transfusions.

The credits for all this blood were recorded by a clearing house organized by AABB and Red Cross in 1960. Red Cross withdrew its participation as of Oct. 19.

"We expect an outcry from some people who have built up credits with the Red Cross and now, in possible situations, will be asked to pay for blood," Dr. Spencer said.

In the past, individuals have received one credit for each pint of blood they donate, and the credits could be used for their own future needs or for those needs of a friend or relative.

By leaving the clearing house, the Red Cross will no longer be able to transfer to persons needing blood credits those earned by friends or relatives who donated blood elsewhere in the country.

However, the program within Los Angeles and Orange counties will remain essentially the same.

Red Cross officials say they are working on an alternative system to rectify the problems nationally. But they admit that an effective program has not yet been worked out in California.

The Red Cross system of community responsibility for blood supply would eliminate a nonreplacement fee charged a blood user without blood credits. The AABB officials feel that if the incentive of this nonreplacement fee is eliminated, people will be less motivated to donate blood and that this will result in a blood shortage.

Dr. Spencer added that the problem in Los Angeles County is complicated by the fact the county donors have not been able to meet the needs of its citizens in the past year and have had to be supplied with blood from outside of the county.

He feels that the confusion over the split from the clearing house may complicate the problem even more.

Wage talks between Pomona and municipal employes

Budget cuts or strike possible

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Major budget cuts or a strike by municipal employes looms in Pomona as the stalemated wage talks between the city and miscellaneous workers moves into a new round.

Recommendations for a settlement of the six-month long debate were received this week from independent arbitrator Ben Nathanson, but appear unpopular with city management and, perhaps, employes as well.

In a letter to employes, John Adams, director of Local 660 of the Service Employes International Union, AFL-CIO, asked the 340 employes represented by the union to accept the arbitrator's findings or authorize strike sanctions against the city.

On the other side, City Administrator Jerrold Gonce has calculated that acceptance of the recommendations would cost the city an additional $350,000 — roughly 20 cents on the city tax rate, although taxes could not be raised this year.

Highlights of the recommendations include a one-time $350 bonus for all miscellaneous employes, which does not include policemen or firemen, and continuation of the city's health-dental insurance coverage for both the employe and dependents.

Other recommendations included denial of the union's request for overtime pay instead of compensatory time off, and denial of the union's request for additional night pay for employes working late hours.

Gonce said that the City Council will discuss the arbitrator's findings during an executive session following Monday's 8 p.m. council meeting.

The recommendations are not binding upon the council, which can choose to implement or reject all or part of the arbitrator's award.

Adams said the union's poll of the membership would be tabulated today by representatives of the state conciliation service, but that the results would not be announced until next week.

It is expected that city and union spokesmen will meet to discuss the recommendations by late next week.

Although neither side in the dispute has announced its position in relation to the recommendations, it does not appear that settlement is near at hand.

For the City Council to authorize full acceptance of the recommendations, budget cuts, perhaps in the form of layoffs, would probably be required.

Because the council is not likely to take that course — full acceptance — Gonce was critical of the union's "all or nothing" poll of the membership.

"The union seems to be attempting to provoke some type of job action," wrote Gonce in a memorandum to city department chiefs today.

He said the council will be considering "alternative positions."

During the arbitrator's hearings with city and union representatives on August 6 and 12, the union had asked for a $70 per month raise for employes, while the city had offered a one-time bonus of $200.

The city had also sought to eliminate city-paid coverage of dependents under the health and dental plan, claiming that the dramatic rise in health care costs was out of hand.

According to city calculations, it costs $35.25 per month for health insurance for the employe, $78.54 per month for an employe with one dependent, and $97.40 per month for an employe with two or more dependents.

The union had counter-argued that the dependent coverage benefit had been agreed to by the city previously and that the city should continue to bear the cost despite the increases.

Health coverage for dependents may prove to be the key consideration for council members since it locks the city into a fringe benefit that escalates in cost without any control by the city.

Take a plane ride for 3 cents a pound

The San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the Ninety-Niners, an international organization of licensed women pilots, will offer plane rides for three cents per pound at Cable Airport, Upland, on Saturday.

A minimum charge will be $3 for the benefit event.

In addition to the plane flights, the event will include sailplane, gyrocopter, hang glider and helicopter displays as well as displays of experimental and antique aircraft. Airport will provide movies and literature and the General Aviation District Office will have its vertigo chair and films on hand.

The Ninety-Niners will apply part of the proceeds toward such projects as the chapter scholarship, the Amelia Earhart Scholarship fund, and Air Space Education funds.

In addition, a portion of the proceeds will go to ACE (Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda) and Upland youth soccer organizations.

A snack trailer operated by the Alta Loma Little League will sell refreshments.

Children under 18 need a signature of a parent to ride.

The Cable Airport is located at 13th Street and Benson Avenue in Upland.

Mobile home destroyed by blaze

A fire, possibly caused by a faulty water heater, destroyed the structure and contents Thursday afternoon of a mobile home unit at 1096 E. Mission Blvd. Pomona.

Pomona firemen were called to the scene by the mobile park manager Ernest Britton at 2:11 p.m. Britton and another resident of the park, Arthur Lucas, had attempted to enter the trailer, but the fire and smoke was too extensive.

The trailer, owned by Chelsy Smedley of Claremont and rented by Anna Ayala, was totally involved when firemen arrived and it took 17 minutes to control the flames.

Miss Ayala said she left the trailer about 10:10 a.m. The fire started in the restroom where there was a hot water heater and a small, portable heater.

She told firemen that there had been a minor fire caused by the hot water heater a week earlier and that Smedley was to have had the heater repaired, but didn't.

The estimated loss to the trailer and contents was $12,000. A second trailer in space 22 suffered heat damage to the front, broken windows and scorched curtains, awnings and paint. The damage at this trailer, also owned by Smedley and rented to Harry Hopkins, was estimated at $2,000.

Fireman Michael May punctured his right foot on a nail while extinquishing the fire and later received a tetanus shot.

Battalion Chief Don Skews was in charge of the two engine companies, a truck and rescue units.

Uplander found dead in his auto

An Upland man was found dead in the back of his stationwagon Thursday, the victim of apparent glue poisoning, said West End sheriff's deputies.

The victim, Kenneth Everett Adams, 47, of 590 W. Arrow Highway, was declared dead at the scene. His vehicle was parked near a Chino cornfield.

Officers believed Adams lost consciousness after sniffing the glue, tipping over a 32-ounce can. The glue, they said, contained deadly poisons.

Property tax bills will come earlier in '77

Los Angeles County residents next year will get their property tax bills two weeks earlier than they did this year.

For years the bills went out on Nov. 1, but the county was criticized this year for giving the taxpayers so short a notice before the Nov. 2 general elections. Subsequently, the bills went out Oct. 28.

The motion to send the bills out earlier was made by Supervisor James Hays after County Tax Collector H. B. Alvord said his office could get the statements out by Oct. 15.

The move prompted Supervisor Kenneth Hahn to urge the rest of the board to "take a new approach" to reducing or eliminating taxing agencies which have been "collecting taxes for decades but are no longer necessary."

He singled out the county's mosquito abatement districts contending that their work was appropriate years ago when the county was overrun with mosquitoes.

"But now, we have been paying millions of dollars for closed storm drains, and the mosquitoes have just about all left the county," Hahn said. "Do we still need any services from these taxing agencies?"

Hahn also went after the office of the county superintendent of schools, contending that some of the services offered by that agency were duplications.

"On one hand, they levy taxes to aid the handicapped, on the other hand they have another tax levy for special training," he said. "There has to be some duplication in that."

Alvord said there were 600 separate taxing agencies throughout the county."

Chino CHP officer may have been a target

A California Highway Patrol officer believes he was shot at Thursday while on patrol duty near Chino.

Officer Doyle Williams reported he was driving on Euclid Avenue south of Riverside Drive when he heard three reports which sounded like gunfire and then a small object struck his car.

He called for assistance, and sheriff's deputies and other highway patrolmen who responded later found a a bullet hole in the window of a market at the northeast corner of Euclid and Riverside.

Officers said a spent bullet slug and fragments of glass were inside the building. They believe the shots were fired from a Eucalyptus grove. But a search of the area revealed no sniper.

$12,000 fire in Ontario kills pet dog

A fire, possibly caused by a smoldering cigarette, gutted a duplex apartment in Ontario Thursday night causing the death of a pet dog and $12,000 damage.

When Ontario firemen arrived at the home of vacationing Virginia Marshall, 212 E. Granada Court, at 6:18 p.m. the kitchen and attic were engulfed in flames.

Firemen entering the blazing home found Mrs. Marshall's pet dog dead of smoke inhalation and burns.

Fire inspectors said a woman friend of Mrs. Marshall, left in charge of the home and feeding the dog, left the duplex about 18 minutes before the fire was reported.

Inspectors said the fire appeared to have started on a desk in the kitchen and spread rapidly into the wall paneling and attic. Two filled ashtrays were found in the rubble next to the burned desk.

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading into the living room of Mrs. Marshall's home and the adjoining residence.

Chino council takes no stand on Expo

Chino city councilmen have declined to take an official position on the controversial Expo 81 proposed in Ontario.

The council this week opted for no action after a request from the Claremont City Council for support of that council's resolution opposing the world's fair.

Councilwoman Eileen Carter, who was critical of Expo at a previous joint meeting of the Chino and Montclair city councils, said she wanted to wait for an environmental impact report before recommending a positive or negative vote on Expo.

"Claremont's resolution is a good one, but there are other considerations such as sewage, transportation and buildings that should be included in it," said Mrs. Carter.

Mayor Bob McLeod said he did not have enough information on Expo yet to make a decision. "What I've heard is far from encouraging but I'm not opposing it."

McLeod asked the council if it desired to take a position on Expo 81, but the other members declined.

Pedestrian safety program canceled by O-M trustees

At the request of the cities of Ontario and Montclair, the Ontario-Montclair School District board of trustees agreed Thursday to cancelation of Safetytown, a pedestrian safety program started in the district schools last spring.

After much discussion, the trustees reluctantly agreed to release both cities from the contract, but asked that the school district and the two cities get together to set up an equivalent program.

Lauren Wasserman, Montclair city manager, told the board the program costs too much in repairs, insurance, moving expenses, and employe time to justify the educational advantages. The district had a three-year contract under which it paid the cities $1,500 for the program. The main element of Safetytown is two huge mobile units equipped with traffic safety simulators.

The board of trustees also voted varying salary increases to some 30 administrative and confidential employes to bring their salaries, based on responsibility, into line with those of other school districts of similar size. Increases, retroactive to July 1, ranged from $61.64 for the secretary to the superintendent to $136.57 for elementary school principals.

Three measures affecting school board candidates received the approval of the trustees. It was agreed to hold an election March 8 for posts of members whose terms expire March 31 — Rose Kelber, Reta Spencer and Clifford Donaldson.

The board voted that in case of a tie, the winner will be decided by a flip of the coin.

A matter of mutual trust

Negotiations between Pomona's public school teachers and the school board have degenerated to a raw struggle for power.

This situation is damaging to the entire community and most particularly to the children in our schools.

Exploiting children for economic or political gain is deplorable.

Public education is a tax supported business. It must be run as a business, fairly, efficiently and dependably with integrity and with honesty.

And, most importantly, its sole purpose must not be forgotten. Public education exists to educate minor children.

We strongly feel that as a business, public education in Pomona must be managed by management, not by the employes.

Management must retain control with the support and cooperation of employes if the purpose of public education is to continue in Pomona.

To achieve this state, there must be mutual trust, achieved through compromise, and a willingness on the part of both board members and employes to work towards one common goal — the education of children.

Each child in the public schools deserves that pledge.

We commend members of the school board and those representing the teachers for the many long hours they have devoted to attempting to negotiate a 1976-77 contract under the Rodda Act.

It is new and for the first time gives public employes the right to collective bargaining under the law.

Now we urge representatives of both sides to bargain in good faith, make the compromises needed to settle the negotiations and get back to the job of teaching children to function in a difficult world.

Government's too liberal

Dear Editor:

The media regularly feeds us statistics purporting to show the level of unemployment. These figures are somewhat questionable. They are based upon registration, usually requesting benefits. Many claiming benefits are not all that interested in working. Others have exhausted their benefits and therefore do not get registered as unemployed.

Take Dolly for example; after 30 odd years of work an illness provided a much more profitable solution than work. She has since received salary continuation, state disability, compensation insurance, possibly social security and of course, unemployment insurance. She just couldn't afford to go back to work at this stage.

Sure, some of the claims were ripoffs, but our government is very liberal. Many of our so-called unemployed will not work as long as the benefits last.

The question is, are benefits high because of unemployment or unemployment high because of benefits? The error? Perhaps two to one per cent if the unemployable not registered are considered. Thus a reported unemployment rate of 7½ per cent becomes 5½ per cent. Not good, but not as bad as reported.

Retain the canal

Dear Editor:

As a voting citizen of the United States of America, I feel we should all, as Americans, support our continuing control of the Panama Canal.

Why give away something we have worked so hard to build up for so many years?

If every concerned citizen would just stop and consider the time and work gone into this project to let it go so easily without a fight. And who will be the ones to gain? It scares me.

Or how much more we will have to pay for everything that passes through the Panama Canal. I cannot believe we Americans are not more concerned. I urge everyone to support America's retention of the Panama Canal.

Just in jest

The statisticians recently announced that the use of paper in the United States will amount to 615 pounds per person this year. It must be remembered, however, that this was an unusual year. That astounding total includes sample ballots printed in both English and Spanish, the campaign literature of thousands of candidates, and also their bumper stickers and telephone pole posters.

Then too, had this not been a political year, the newspapers throughout the land would not have had to add on millions of extra pages in order to give their readers the complete texts of the three great Presidential debates as well as the Vice Presidential between-the-acts non-title bout. — -So, thanks to our politicians, whole forests were wiped out in order to supply the wood pulp necessary to manufacture that extra newsprint.

But, as any politician will tell you, the increased paper production provided employment and helped speed up economic recovery. — Also, regardless of who is elected, the winners will be able to point with pride in 1977 to how well their paper conservation efforts are working.

Who knows? With a catchy slogan like, "Was that last square of toilet tissue necessary?" they may even be able to cut this year's 615 pounds of paper per person statistic down to 600 pounds and still be able to send out monthly news letters to their constituents.

Reform in checking needed

By EARL G. WATERS

The revelation by the Department of Motor Vehicles that upwards of $2 million in checks proferred in payment of over 27,000 individual registration and license fees are annually dishonored postulates the problem which exists in business transactions in today's world of finance. Almost everyone, including the government, operates on credit or in something other than cash.

Not too many years ago government agencies refused to accept checks. But their use has become so widespread that even such holdouts as the Post Office have bowed to modern methods. There are of course numerous good reasons for people to avoid carrying cash not the least of which is the fear brought on by an uncontrollable criminal element. The government imposed necessity of keeping good records to satisfy the tax collectors also has led to the universal use of checks and credit cards.

Other than the extra work bum checks cause the Motor Vehicle officials their problem isn't too serious. In the handling of more than 9 million checks with a total value of over $770 million it isn't a large one. And although the average cost of collection for the bad paper is $19 the department recovers part of that in a $5 charge. Since most are for vehicle registrations the delay usually makes the payment delinquent which adds a 50 per cent penalty. And since the department has the power to seize and sell a vehicle whose owner has paid the registration with a worthless check the state experiences small loss and escapes any net loss.

A good percentage of the checks dishonored are for insufficient funds. Those kind are known in the trade as NSF checks and the penalty for passing such is a felony. That fact and the 50 per cent penalty assessment and $5 charge plus ability to take away a vehicle tends to the belief that most dishonored checks result from inadvertence.

That NSF checks are usually unintentional is apparently the experience also of most others in the world of trade. Certainly prosecution for NSF checks has become so rare that police departments are reluctant to spend time investigating complaints of such. They have found that people are quick to offer restitution and judges are reluctant to impose any penalties.

There was a time when NSF check passers were being sent to prison by the droves. Concerned legislators bucked at the felony penalty and reduced it to mere county jail time if the amount was under $100. Some also suggested that stores should handle check cashing in the same manner they extend credit with non-payment being simply a civil matter. The suggestion was also made that the banks should establish lines of credit behind all personal checking accounts.

It took a while for the idea to crystalize but most of the major banks today have established credit behind the accounts of their checking patrons. This however has been limited to carefully screened bank customers.

Perhaps it is time for the banks to review their programs. If checks, which have become very much the way of life, are to be given the instant honor which appears demanded, no bank should open a checking account without establishing a line of credit for the customer. If that were done the possibility of bad checks being something other than deliberate would practically be eliminated.

It would then become pretty much a matter of intentional fraud and the police and the courts might treat offenders far more seriously.

The banks not only have nothing to lose but much to gain since they collect a high rate of interest for credit extended on overdrafted accounts. Furthermore, it would seem they have a responsibility for making the system work in the best possible manner for they created it.

Shortage of gas ahead?

The Environmental Protection Agency's demand that the petroleum industry "get the lead out" could lead to a gasoline shortage next summer as bad as that during the 1974 oil embargo, three separate studies have warned.

The reason is that the mandated cutback in the amount of octane-boosting lead in gasoline will reduce the industry's total gasoline-making capability at the same time as gasoline consumption is soaring.

The EPA's schedule calls for gasoline lead content to fall from a current 2.0 grams per gallon to 1.0 in January 1977, 0.8 in January 1978 and 0.5 in 1979.

According to John O'Hara, president of the National Petroleum Refiners Association, which sponsored two of the studies, the EPA doesn't need a lead phaseout schedule at all since 20 per cent of the gasoline now sold is unleaded, primarily purchased by owners of 1975 and 1976 vehicles. He estimates that the 1977 car fleet will boost unleaded gasoline's share of the market to 30 per cent by this time next year, 40 per cent in 1978 and so on.

This natural phase-out of lead would bring total lead content down to under 1.0 grams per gallon by 1979 and 0.5 by 1981, he says.

Whether or not a gasoline shortage develops, another question is what is going to happen to the millions of older cars that were not designed to operate on low-lead or no lead gasoline. Many owners of these cars have had to turn to premium gasoline to get decent performance, and indications are that some refiners may drop their premium grades because they require more lead.

The Capitol-Korea connection

WASHINGTON — The South Korean effort to seduce members of Congress has been two-tiered. Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the Korean holy man, took the high, ecclesiastical road, and Tongsun Park, a Korean entrepreneur, followed the low, wayward road.

Both men have been tied to the South Korean lobbying campaign by the Washington Post, which cited "electronic evidence." According to the Post, a tape recording apparently exists of a discussion between South Korea's President park Chung Hee, Moon aide Park Bo Hi and the shadowy Tongsun Park.

At the meeting, the three men worked out "a plan to influence U.S. congressmen," the Washington Post reported.

The South Korean government has denied any connection between President Park and entrepreneur Park. Moon's man has denied the meeting ever took place and has challenged his accusers to produce the alleged recording. There have also been over-the-shoulder denials from Tongsun Park at airports from Tokyo to Paris.

Both the ecclesiastic and the entrepreneur, nevertheless, suddenly became active on Capitol Hill in the early 1970s. By the beginning of this year, we were able to count 19 Moon missionaries operating on Capitol Hill. We reported on Jan. 12, 1976: "They stroll the hallways daily, buttonholing senators and congressmen, offering free trips and other inducements."

Moon himself made two evangelical appearances on Capitol Hill before our calls made it impossible for him to find a sponsor who would arrange a room for him. At no time did we question his right to deliver a religious message; we were troubled only by the political overtones. Congressmen reported to us, for example, that Moon missionaries had offered them free trips to Korea.

Those who heard Moon preach on Capitol Hill say he delivered a strong anti-Communist message, laced with Christian philosophy. They recall that he linked the United States, Israel and South Korea as the three great bulwarks against communism. He also defended Richard Nixon during the Watergate crisis.

He spoke in Korean, with Park Bo Hi delivering the translations. Koreans told us that Moon's remarks were often rambling and ambiguous, but the translations invariably were precise and pointed. Our sources have the impression that Park, indeed, is the Rasputin behind the benevolent, smiling Moon.

Each of the evangelist's appearances on Capitol Hill was attended by about 100 people. Perhaps 15 to 20 were members of Congress, the remainder aides and secretaries. Rep. Bill Chappel Jr., D.-Fla., introduced Moon at the first rally; Rep. Richard Ichord, D.-Mo., made the second introduction.

The Moon movement's biggest catch in Congress was House Speaker Carl Albert. We reported on Dec. 9, 1975, that Susan Bergman, a young, hazel-eyed disciple of the Korean religious-political cultist, had developed a curious relationship with the powerful speaker.

In the mornings, she would greet him in the hallway and present him with flowers. Then she would brew Ginseng tea for him in the small kitchen down the hall from his office. She would serve it to him in the speaker's ornate chambers, where she stayed for an hour or two each morning.

When the speaker left to preside over the House, sweet Susan would often appear in the House gallery in the special section reserved for congressmen's families. She would watch the speaker in action hour upon hour.

Albert described the Moon missionary to us as "just a nice girl, a very nice girl, a Jewish girl from New York. She got all hepped up on the Lord Jesus and she just wants to share it. I think that's a nice thing. She's trying to convert me." As he talked, we noticed a black-covered, gold-trimmed copy of Moon's catechism, "Divine Principle," on the speaker's shelf.

While the Rev. Moon quoted the Bible to religious congressmen, Tongsun Park allegedly passed out cash and gifts to the irreligious. The Washington Post, quoting federal investigators, has charged that he distributed between $500,000 and $1 million each year to congressmen and other Washington officials.

We first got wind of Park's activities in early 1974 when we caught him on a strange trip with Rep. Richard Hanna, D.-Calif. We told the story on April 1, 1974.

A classified cable from the U.S. embassy in Sana, Yemen, reported that the congressman "was joined here by a Mr. Park, a former South Korean national engaged in shipping, elaboration of foreign investment opportunities and apparently political lobbying in Washington."

The curious pair also visited Saudi Arabia and Egypt. Indeed, an obliging State Dept. arranged accommodations for the Korean operator.

We asked Park why he happened to be touring the Middle East with a congressman. They traveled together, said Park, because Hanna "is like my brother."

Think on these things

A team is a group with specific parts to play. In all wisdom, they know a lot about every part, but they play their own position with precision and efficiency.

Every player cannot be captain and every person cannot play quarterback. The part may be small, but if it is played with fairness and dignity — giving all — then it will be as important to the successful outcome as the biggest job in the organization.

The practical view of cooperation is vivid in John Dickinson's thought: "By uniting we stand; by dividing we fall." We are only as strong as the weakest, only as cooperative as the spirit in which we work.

Making a decision is difficult enough without losing one's determination to follow through on it. How long has it been since any of us proved to ourselves that we can take a definite stand and mean business in carrying out a plan?

Refusing the responsibility of decision making is like warning a child to behave and then ignoring his misbehavior. We betray ourselves by not having the spunk to support our own beliefs — our own good intentions. If we do not trust ourselves and show it, who else can we depend on to whip us into shape? It is a lot less painful to do it ourselves.

Nice girls are interesting

The wages of sin look pretty tempting.

Elizabeth Ray, the kiss-and-tell girl whose telling destroyed the career of Rep. Wayne Hays, is now in the pay of magazines, her book has sold 1 1/2 million copies, she has been offered an acting role in a movie — and she's miserable.

Both the prosperity and the misery are genuine.

Before long, you'll see.

Meanwhile, a British authoress, Barbara Cartland, has written 19 novels in the past year — all of them are best sellers — her heroines are all highly moral, chaste; her books are about old-fashioned romantic love . . . And she'll sell 10 million of her books this year!

Britain's Barbara Cartland has written 200 books. At the age of 75 she still turns out about 20 books a year.

This year's titles include: "The Elusive Earl," "An Angel in Hell," "The Wild Cry of Love."

If those titles sound lurid, the contents are not. The heroines of Cartland books are all entirely proper ladies.

Some more titles: "The Incredible Honeymoon," "Conquered by Love," "Hungry for Love."

Twenty such novels a year she averages — with a now-and-then cookbook thrown in. Book dealers report that her books need no promotion. People come in asking for "the latest Cartland book." And there are sometimes two new ones every month.

Her books head all of Britain's best-seller lists.

It took a lot to convince American book dealers that Cartland innocence would sell but now there's an increasing American appetite for her books.

How come?

Miss Cartland's heroes are handsome, wholesome and nice; her heroines are beautiful, bashful, virginal.

She has been writing since she was 5 — 70 years ago — but only in recent years has she come back into style.

She hasn't changed; we have.

And in the literary bazaar crammed with pornography, as The Wall Street Journal explains it, "Miss Cartland has cornered the market on virgins."

Despite the titillating titles of her books, their settings are more likely to be a moonlit garden than a darkened bedroom. All of the fictional characters in her novels keep their clothes all the way on.

"I'm always a little in love with the heroes of my books," she says. "I would not want them to be crude, rude or vulgar." The most racy resolution to any romance in a Cartland book is a final fadeout on a fiery kiss.

Her son helps with research. She dictates three chapters a week — every week. She insists she neither knows nor cares about money. She finds her 350-acre estate "comfortable" and her white Rolls Royce a "convenience."

But she's happiest when she is working, most fulfilled when she is falling in love with her own fictional heroes — and it pleases her to know that the world loves them too.

Berry's world

Ann Landers

Sharing an experience

Dear Ann Landers: God bless you for your reply to the young man who was despondent over his homosexuality. I spent 14 years of my life (I'm 30 now) trying to accept my homosexuality. I was the son of a small-town businessman and scared to death to admit to myself or anyone else that I was gay.

Finally I met a man I wanted to settle down with. Although we hid our relationship from all but a small circle of friends, we had a wonderful life and were very happy together.

When he left me I felt as if my whole world had fallen apart. I was brought up in a Christian home and heard so much about the sinfulness of homosexuality that I stopped going to church.

Fortunately, I met a kind and understanding clergyman who spent many hours helping me see that God loves all his children — gay, straight, whatever.

Since all else failed, I took his advice and gave God a chance. Ann, it was the best decision I ever made. I prayed, "Lord, I am gay and I don't think I can change. Please take control of my life. Thy will be done."

Soon after I prayed I felt serene and at peace. A month later I met another man with whom I plan to spend the rest of my life. I also found the courage to tell my parents. They accepted it beautifully.

I don't recommend to all gays that they tell their parents, but I do urge them to go directly to God, as I did. I have never felt so fulfilled and contented. Life is beautiful. — Your Friend

Dear Friend: Thank you for sharing your experience. And now a word to all who read the Bible faithfully: Please don't tell me to look up Genesis 19, Romans, chapter 1, Leviticus 18:22 or 1 Corinthians 6:9-10, etc.

Help is where you find it.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for "Skinny Winner," the woman who dieted for her husband's sake, went into therapy after regaining her weight the second time, ditched Mr. Turn-Off and lost her 55 pounds again.

I'm a 16-year-old girl who weighs about 30 pounds more than she should. I recently decided I am NOT going to be fat the rest of my life. I can and will get myself down to a size 8 dress and stay there.

So far I've lost ten pounds. Both my father and boyfriend are anti-fat. Daddy fought the weight battle last year and lost 50 pounds. A few years ago I dieted and lost 30 pounds but I gained it back because I had done it for the men in my life. This time it's for ME.

I have accepted full responsibility for my fatness. No one puts food into my mouth. And no excuse is good enough to be fat. It's not only unattractive but a health hazard.

Listen, men with fat wives or girlfriends, mothers with fat daughters. Get off their backs. Leave them alone. I know from experience if you lay off they'll do something about it eventually. Let it be for themselves, not for you. It's the only way they will keep the weight off forever. — Thinner Now Than A Month Ago

Dear Thinner: Beautiful! What an upper for those fatties out there who need emotional support. Let me know when you hit size 8.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Imagination on marquees

What's needed around here on theater marquees is a little imagination. Why not show "Earthquake" and "The Poseiden Adventure" and bill the double feature as "Rock and Roll?" Or show "Car Wash" along with "Jesus Christ, Superstar" and bill the program as "Cleanliness Next to Godliness?" That's all I can think of right now. Any others?

All know that history records it was once a crime for a medical student to dissect human cadavers. A client asks why. Q. "I know the world's longest gorge is the 217-mile stretch of the Grand Canyon down the Colorado River in Arizona. But where is the world's deepest gorge?"

A. Hell's Canyon, Snake River, Idaho, at 7,900 feet deep.

Q. "How long has it been since a Russian husband or wife could get a divorce simply by mailing a postcard announcing that intention to the partner?"

A. Just 59 years. After that, the divorce laws over there started to tighten up.

Q. "If I spend 10 hours on the road driving at the 55 m.p.h. speed limit, how far would I travel with my eyes closed because of blinking?"

A. Figure about 44 miles.

Those shoes with the ridged platform soles may look dandy, but they put an unnatural strain on ankles, legs and hips. Or so say the medicoes. Contention is girls who wear same long enough may wind up strolling in a slightly awkward manner, stiffly, as though they'd learned first how to walk on frozen cattle crossings.

New Guinea tribesmen for years believed the world to be no more than five generations old. That's because they had no written histories. All stories of bygone times were word-of-mouth. As the elders died and memories faded, the five-generation timespan notion remained constant.

Pooch likes to lick pennies

DEAR DR. MILLER: Had we known about Jack's peculiar fondness for pennies earlier, we'd have named him "Small Change." He loves to chew on or just lick them. Might this mean he lacks copper? Is it necessary in a dog's diet? — T.D.

DEAR T.D.: Pure copper's hard to find in small change these days. Whether your pooch's penny penchant is related to deficiency or idiosyncrasy would be up to Jack's doctor to determine. Copper, but not in penny-sized doses, is required for blood, bone and skin. But Jack could do better than consume coins to collect that required copper. Commercial dog food contains an adequate supply of copper, without the hazard of coin-caused complications.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm happy to report that Iggy, my iguana, isn't going to hibernate — I don't think. I'm keeping her warm and interested to keep her awake. I'd also like to feed her something besides lettuce, which she seems to be stuck on. What other food can you suggest for an iguana? — L.K.

DEAR L.K.: Including other foods in Iggy's diet would be simple enough, but getting her to eat them may be considerably more difficult. However, the following foods have been favored by some iguanas and are all desirable: Thawed frozen mixed vegetables, flower petals (carnations, dandelions, roses), dog food, young mice, fresh fruits, crickets and mealworms.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Two years ago I lost my male cat with cancer of the lymph glands. Last week, my sister's cat, also an older male, had to be put to sleep because of the same thing. She's going to get another cat soon and is wondering, well, we both are, whether males are more apt to get this cancer than females or was this just coincidence? Is there any cause known for lymph gland cancer? — D.R.

DEAR D.R.: Lymph gland tumors usually lymphosarcoma, are, as with most tumors, more common in older animals and they are, indeed, more common in males. Males are a greater risk with this disease primarily because they're more likely to be exposed to the feline leukemia virus which causes it. Male cats tend to come in contact with more other cats during their adult life, so their odds of being exposed to, and infected by, another cat with feline leukemia virus are greater.

Strangers in Paradise

Although I am not what you would call an ardent scholar of the Bible, I did wade through Genesis one time — a thousand laughs. A lusty young male and a nubile female romping about the Garden of Eden in the nude, and all they're interested in is an apple on a tree? Wonder there's a human race today!

The story of Adam and Eve — factually accurate as we fundamentalists know — is one of the most enchanting and most ignored legends in the literature of science fiction. The innocent fable is more convincing than Noah and the whale, more dramatic than David in the lion's den, more exciting than Salome and the Dance of the Seven Veils. It has all the makings of a smashing good disaster film. I wonder if the copyright has expired?

Suppose you were Adam, okay? One day you wake up a fullgrown man in a jungle where flowers and fruits abound. Nothing before you but the life of the lotus eater, ease and luxury, peace, calm and fulfillment. Then one morning, after a long sleep, you wake up to find a voluptuous female lying beside you. But you are more interested in oranges and limes than in, er, women. That's not too smart. You're both in the buff and all you can think about is the citrus crop. Mighty queer.

The Garden of Eden is a jewel as housing tracts go, rose plot, fringed pool, fern'd grot, but here's this chick munching apples all the time. When you recover from your major surgery, you long to be out again among the peaches and plumbs, carefree and gay, but she has other things on her mind.

You think that the Garden of Eden is paradise enow, but there were certain shortcomings. For one, Eve is the only dollybird in your little black book. After the "E's" it's Endsville. What if Eve is busy that night? Or has a headache. The Playboy of the Middle Eastern World would find his activities severely restricted with only one filly in the stall.

Modern man's customary retreats from the trials and tribulations of domestic life were denied to our proud progenitor. Could he go down to Bill & Sally's Bar and Grill and drink beer and shoot pool with the boys? What boys? What beer? Could he go to Espiau's and watch the game-of-the-week on the telly? (If it were really Paradise, he'd never have to listen to Howard Cosell.) Poor Adam — no bowling, no frolicking at go-go joints, no backyard barbecues or drive-in movies. How do you suppose he spent his time?

Finally, of course, if you have followed the scenario through Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, you know that Adam and Eve's lease expired and The Landlord kicked them out into the outer darkness where there was wailing and gnashing of teeth. And not a moment too soon for the future of the human race.

And did Adam, sitting with his cronies over a flagon of mulled wine in a mud hut on the banks of the Euphrates, look back with wistful longing on his lost youth, the innocence of those days in the garden? Eve by then would have grown fat and querulous, demanding that Adam stay home more, grind corn, not drink it, tend the garden. "Pay a little attention to your children, it wouldn't hurt you!"

Standing in the kitchen in a faded wrapper and hair-curlers, Eve would snarl at Adam that Cain is flunking out of school and what's this she heard about Adam and Lot's wife?

It is recorded that Adam lived to the age of 930, but you have to wonder why.

Dr. Lamb

Trim weight to help heart

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been diagnosed as having "chronic ischemic heart disease with hypertension." I would appreciate your definition of the word "ischemia" and I would like to have any suggestions in regard to the treatment and diet for this disease.

I am 75 years old, a retired lady with a weight of 150 pounds. I am sure this is too much weight for a person who is 5 feet 1.

Presently I am taking hydrodiuril and Aldomet. Are these two medicines adequate for this heart disease?

DEAR READER — Ischemia is a word for inadequate blood flow. The term is now used frequently to indicate there is an obstruction in the coronary arteries to your heart muscle. The obstruction is from the buildup of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

This condition leads to inadequate amounts of oxygen being delivered to the heart muscle and at the same time permits the accumulation of carbon dioxide in the heart cells. It is the common form of heart disease these days.

The Hydrodiuril is to help you eliminate salt and with it excess water from the body. It helps to lower blood pressure in many cases. The Aldomet is a more specific treatment for elevated blood pressure.

These medicines help your heart indirectly by controlling your blood pressure. The high blood pressure increases the deposits of fatty-cholesterol substances in the arteries and also works the heart harder.

You are absolutely right about your weight. If you can get rid of every last pound of extra fat you will decrease your blood pressure and the work on your heart.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. If you will follow these diet principles and also cut your calories down until you can lose your excess weight you can do a lot for yourself. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some health articles recommend eating liver, kidneys, hearts and tongue. My friend tries to tell me they are too toxic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — The organ meats available in the grocery stores are not poisonous. Almost all of them are fairly high in cholesterol. A three-and-a-half ounce (100 grams) serving of liver, raw weight, contains 300 milligrams of cholesterol, more than you find in an egg yolk. However, it is very low in fat.

Lean heart muscle is low in fat and is much lower in cholesterol. Tongue is both fat and contains a moderate amount of cholesterol. So, I think you can eat these organ meats in moderation. However, I would like to say that the vitamin content of these organ meats can also be obtained by taking almost any of the all purpose daily vitamin pills without increasing your intake of cholesterol.

Barbs

Today's kids will fondly remember pies like Mother used to thaw.

Another nice thing about your newspaper: You don't have to wait till Halloween to get the daylights scared out of you.

What people say

"There are so many talented writers, directors and actors, I just can't help thinking what a pity it is that we don't have a medium that calls out for the best, but calls out for the worst in them."

For Saturday, Nov. 6, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could find yourself brooding because you just can't seem to make ends meet today. A frivolous outlet later in the evening won't help.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may feel outmaneuvered when dealing with others today. Trying to take it out on the family will only add to your problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a careless thinker today and won't pay enough attention to essentials. It's best to avoid working with tools or machinery.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't speculate while socializing today. You might end up feeling victimized and blame your "pals."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone will stand in the way today, and hamper your chance of obtaining a long-sought goal. A fresh start will be necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be talked into putting anything on paper or making verbal commitments today. You're not getting all the facts, and could make a big mistake.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone you thought you could depend on will not be able to help you today. Personal obligations will take precedence over everything for them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to match wits with sharpies today. Wait for another time when you're thinking more shrewdly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's not a good day to try to get complicated chores out of the way. Unforeseen hazards could cause additional problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your plans for a good time might be rained out today. Those you want to get together with could be tied down with other commitments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Bringing dead weights into the picture could be your downfall where important goals are concerned. They'll create opposition in all directions.

PISCES (Feb. 21-March 20) You could find yourself skidding around corners today in your efforts to get your work done. Organize first. Then proceed.

Your birthday Nov. 6, 1976

Be persistent this year where important goals are concerned. If unable to proceed it the pace you'd like, remember: The rewards are worth the efforts you expend.

Time is the greatest power

The greatest power in the world can literally shake the top of a mountain, carve it and crumble it to bits. This same power that can churn a granite mountain into dust also has the power to come into a human heart, heal a wound and change a soul. It is a power that you need to tap to make your dreams come true and change your destiny.

What is this power? It is TIME. Time changes everything. Today face your problem with patience. "Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and He shall strengthen your heart." (Ps. 27:14)

Patience puts power in your heart and dreams. You can become the person you want to be and you can succeed in a most phenomenal goalsetting plan, if you're willing to pay the price in terms of time. Almost anything can be accomplished by the patient person.

Different than Ford

Economist says Carter to be active president

NEW YORK (AP) — The major difference between the Ford and Carter administrations will be the difference between a passive and an active president, said Walter Heller, the economist.

"Out of that activity we can look for both a bolder attack on the jobless problem and a more broad gauge, broad spectrum anti-inflationary program, said Heller, one of the Demcoratic party's most influential advisers.

Heller said that despite a more active role, Carter's respect for and understanding of the market mechanism makes it highly unlikely that wage-price controls will be imposed, as businessmen and others have feared.

"There's been a lot of misunderstanding on that issue," said Heller, adding: "He doen't want legal sanctions but instead a sense of responsibility from big business and big labor." Carter's wage-price program will be voluntary, he said.

"I've discussed this with Mondale and with Carter and I see real respect for the working of the market system. But where it doesn't work and where antitrust cannot handle the problem there will be guidelines," Heller said.

Because of his close association with Carter and Vice Presidet-elect Walter F. Mondale as an adviser, and because he served as chief economic adviser in the most recent Democratic administrations, Heller was asked his opinions Wednesday on changes to be expected.

On the issue of jobs, which appeared to play a large role in Carter's victory, Heller said he found the president-elect listening to a variety of programs but that no final choice has been made.

"I find that Carter understands you cannot get down below 5 per cent unemployment with fiscal and monetary measures without getting into inflation," said Heller. "He knows you have to go the last mile with structural measures."

Heller said "It is very important that he understands that, and "very important that the country knows Carter doesn't fit the big spending image." He realizes, said Heller, "you can't just open the spigots."

Carter, he said, will not "try to flood the economy with fiscal and monetary stimulus," but instead will seek to focus his efforts on the specific employment problems, on the "structure" of unemployment.

The thrust of Carter's effort therefore, he said, would be to have government provide "meaningful incentives to private business to give jobs and training to the hard-core unemployed."

Carter, he said, will also seek deregulation of industry in cases where it leads to "price propping" and the stifling of competition.

The president-elect, he said, is also sympathetic to the concept of government acquiring buffer stocks of commodities that could be released in order to control speculative demand that leads to higher prices for basic goods.

Similar stocks have been maintained before but solely for national defense purposes. The idea of using such stocks to control prices results from a staff study of the 1974 commodities price explosion that, said Heller, indicated 40 per cent of the spiral could have been averted.

Speaking again of Carter's feelings on wage-price restraints, Heller commented: "He wants to retain and unchain the Council on Wage-Price Stability to focus just on the concentrated industries and really big business and big labor and get them to sit down together."

He said Carter has expressed himself very specifically on this approach. The president-elect, he said, wants large units "we think of as non-competitive" to report major wage-price decisions in advance to the council.

Heller said he thinks a good objective analysis then can be made, and that when it is determined that increases are unjustified, "the President will use jawboning."

Heller said Carter believes presidential leadership might work where other methods have failed. An example of this, he said would be in convincing labor that "it is just as well off with 5 per cent wage increases and 2.5 per cent inflation as it would be with 8 per cent increases and 5.5 per cent inflation."

A prerequisite of such leadership, he said, is responsible fiscal and monetary policy. "While Carter is an activist, he'll have a well modulated fiscal and monetary program," said Heller.

"He really understands that no longer can you handle inflation by the demand side only, but that you have to move to supply," he observed.

Concluding, he commented that one thing you can expect, "and everyone who worked with him agrees," is that merit will be a very major consideration in appointments. "It will be an administration of merit and competence, of really cracking good appointments."

Would he serve again? Said Heller, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under both Kennedy and Johnson: "I've done my stint in Washington."

Sea clams and mussels now eatable

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It's time again to eat sea clams and mussels, reports California Health Director Jerome Lackner.

Lackner said Wednesday the seasonal quarantine on the shellfish was lifted Oct. 31.

Barring abnormal conditions, sea clams and mussels taken along the California coast should be safe to eat until May 1.

The quarantine is imposed each spring when the shellfish develop toxic levels high enough to harm humans. Lackner said it was imposed in late March this year because of an increase in the poison-producing micro-organism that clams and mussels eat.

Bridge by Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

The late Sonny Moyse, longtime editor of the Bridge World magazine, was one of the most exciting players. He would have been one of the greatest, if it were not for his penchant for taking some action on every hand. Here is one of his triumphs.

It was a pair tournament. Moyse sat West and decided that he just could not let North play at two diamonds. After all Sonny was looking at 13 high-card points and a five-card suit. However he had to go to the three level to bid clubs. He could bid hearts at the two level and did just that. East might well have raised to three, but East knew something about Sonny's bidding and passed.

South looked at his two aces and decided to try two no-trump. Sonny doubled! He didn't want East trying three hearts. Everyone passed and Sonny opened the king of clubs. Since the doubleton queen-10 appeared in dummy and no one held four clubs, Sonny collected five club tricks.

Meanwhile, South discarded down to two queens and six diamonds in dummy. He was going to make his contract if diamonds broke.

Diamonds failed to break for him and he was held to four tricks so East and West scored 1100 points.

Ask the Jacobys

A Pennsylvania reader wants to know the meaning of a four-spade opening bid.

The answer is that it means whatever the partnership wants it to, but practically all experts, including the Jacoby's use it to show a hand such as ♠ A K Q J x x x x ♥ x x x ♦ x ♣ x or ♠ K Q J 10 x x x x ♥ x x ♦ x ♣ A x.

In other words, eight playing tricks and not too much in high cards.

MONTGOMERY WARD CHARG-ALL SECURITY PLAN

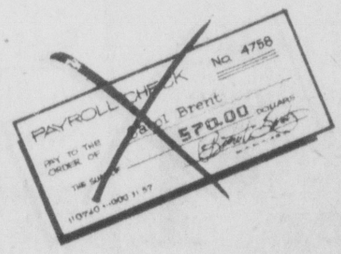
For Wards credit customers only: 5-way protection with Wards CSP!

Here's how Wards Charg-all Security Plan*can help you:

*An insurance program provided by Montgomery Ward Life Insurance Co. of Chicago and the Central National Insurance Co. of Omaha. Marketed by the Signature Agency Inc., a licensed insurance agency.

CSP is credit life insurance!

If you or your spouse suffers death or dismemberment before age 66, your Charg-all account will be paid in full up to $5000. And after age 66, you both are covered for accidental death and dismemberment.



CSP helps if you lose your job!

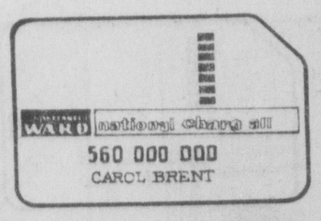
If you involuntarily lose income through job loss, strike or layoff, your monthly payments to Wards stop, too. CSP makes the payments for you up to 9 months. Loss of income due to illness or disability is not covered.

CSP is property protection!

Should your Wards-bought possessions be damaged or destroyed by fire, flood, windstorm, vandalism or 15 other perils they will be repaired or replaced up to 3 years from date of purchase for an amount up to the highest balance upon which a premium has been assessed.

CSP is burglary insurance!

If anything purchased and charged to your Wards account is burglarized from your home—or anywhere in the world—CSP will replace that merchandise up to 3 years as stated above.



CSP is credit card protection!

If your Montgomery Ward Charg-all card is lost or stolen and misused, any unauthorized purchases charged to your account are paid by CSP! Under Federal law this liability can be up to $50.

The cost of peace of mind.

CSP costs ½ of one percent of the previous month's Charg-all balance. So if your balance was $90 one month, CSP costs you 45¢. Or if your balance was $160, the premium is 80¢.

Apply for a Charg-all account at any Wards store, or call toll free 800-241-8444. Ask for operator 185.

DEAR CHARG-ALL CUSTOMER:

At Montgomery Ward, our interests go beyond selling merchandise. We are concerned with the general good and welfare of the people who buy our merchandise. In today's unstable economic conditions, we want our customers to feel secure not only about the quality of what they buy at Wards, but secure as well that an unforeseen calamity will not deprive them of the full use of the merchandise they buy. Secure that involuntary loss of job income will not impose unbearably heavy burdens in paying for purchases already made. Secure that loss or theft of their Charg-all card will not subject them to any penalty whatsoever. Secure that their families are not faced with indebtedness in the event of personal tragedy. These are the problems that Wards CSP can help to solve. Wards Charg-all Security Plan is innovative in the field of consumer credit. If, ten or twenty years from now, most major retailers are offering their customers similar protection, I think Wards can be justifiably proud to have pointed the way.

Rumsfeld promises orderly transition of dept. to Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld promised on Thursday to give representatives of the incoming Carter administration "every opportunity" to present their views on the next defense budget, the B1 bomber and other issues.

But Rumsfeld made no commitment to let those views guide defense decisions by the outgoing Ford administration in its final two months.

"We have the responsibility until noon of Jan. 20 and we intend to fulfill that responsibility," Rumsfeld said.

The Ford administration faces the task of completing a budget to be sent to Congress before the new Carter administration takes office.

Earlier than that, the Defense Department is expected to make key decisions this month on whether to approve production of the controversial B1 bomber and to choose a contractor to fully develop the advanced XM1 tank.

President-elect Jimmy Carter is on record as opposing production of the costly B1 at this time, while the Ford administration has given every sign that it is ready to order the bomber into production even though its cost has once again risen, to a new level of $22.9 billion. The $1.3 billion increase is attributed to inflation.

Rumsfeld appeared without advance announcement at a Pentagon briefing to report on plans for an orderly transition in control of the giant Defense Department to the new administration.

He said he intends to remain in office until Jan. 20 and that he is considering asking other key officials to do the same.

Rumsfeld said he had talked with President Ford about the transition and that Ford told him he wants the changeover in power to proceed "in a manner that serves the nation well."

"We recognize that we have the obligation through Jan. 20, and our goal is to see that the transition is handled smoothly," Rumsfeld said.

He told reporters that we will attempt to see that we develop a base budget that is well scrubbed and tight."

Normally the new administration makes adjustments in such a final budget proposal of the administration it succeeds.

Rumsfeld indicated, as he has before, that the Ford budget proposal for fiscal 1978 will be bigger than $121 billion, a record figure forecast by Ford last January. Carter has said repeatedly during the recent election campaign that the budget could be trimmed between $5 billion and $7 billion without harming U.S. military strength.

"We are at a very early stage of the transition," he said, and the Pentagon has not yet been contacted by Carter administration representatives.

"We want to be as cooperative as possible in making it go well," Rumsfeld said.

At the same time, he said, "You don't want to have 18 hands on the steering wheel."

Reality of her son's victory hasn't hit Miss Lillian yet

NEW YORK (AP) — Lillian Carter, mother of the president-elect, said Thursday that the reality of Jimmy Carter's victory hasn't hit her yet and that she has "gone through so much in the last 22 months, that it's just kind of anticlimax."

"Last night I was so tired I just hit the hay," she told interviewer David Hartman on the ABC "Good Morning America" program.

As she spoke from Plains, Ga., the 78-year-old Mrs. Carter said the town was not back to normal, nor did she think it ever would be.

"I'm kinda glad," she added. "This is the first excitement we've ever had. I believe if we'd had this kind of excitement when Jimmy was a little boy, he'd have been a little bit badder ... when he was little there was nothing to tempt him into town."

She answered negatively when asked if she'd ever been inclined to go into politics, adding that she had a chance once to take her husband's place in the state legislature when he died.

"But I didn't take it. I had more interesting things to do," she said.

She said she'd always let Jimmy know when she disagreed with him, but she doesn't plan to do anything like making suggestions about who he should name to the Cabinet.

"Jimmy doesn't pay a bit of attention to me about things like that," she said.

To a suggestion that she now may be known by the title "first-grandmother-elect," she responded with pleasure, only amending the title to Grandmomma, as the children call her.

"It feels wonderful," she said, to be able to answer the telephone with the words "This is the President's mother."

She said, "I've been saying, 'This is Miss Lillian' for years and years and years. I have a new title."

Carmaker reduces prices

DETROIT (AP) — In a move to bolster lagging sales, American Motors has cut the sticker price of its 1977 Gremlin by $253, or 8 per cent, making it the lowest-priced domestic car for the new model year.

AMC President William Luneburg announced Thursday the subcompact will carry a base price of $2,995. He added the reduction takes affect immediately for all cars in dealer stock and for orders placed beginning today.

The new price compares with the $3,248 set at the start of the new model year several weeks ago, and even undercuts the price for a comparable 1976-model, which sold for $3,082.

The sticker is the manufacturer's suggested retail price and does not include options or taxes. A company spokesman said the price for options, which often add 20 per cent to the cost of a car, have not been changed.

Judge drops his plan to sniff drug

BOSTON (AP) — A Massachusetts judge who said he wanted to sniff cocaine before deciding a case involving the drug has dropped his plans because the proposal "has taken on the dimensions of a circus act."

Judge Elwood McKenney issued a statement today in Roxbury District Court saying, "I feel that it will be impossible for the result to be meaningful, and I am, therefore, canceling the experiment."

He added his decision in the cocaine possession case against Richard Miller would be handed down in the near future.

McKenney said last week he would not rule on the case until he had tried the drug. Lawyers for the defendant argued the charges be dismissed on the grounds cocaine is a "harmless, nonaddictive recreational drug."

James Lawson, one of the lawyers representing Miller, had arranged for Richard Resnick, associate professor of New York Medical College and a director of the school's Division of Drug Abuse, Research and Treatment, to perform the experiment.

McKenney had been expected to go to New York to take the drug.

A spokesman for McKenney said District Court Chief Justice Samuel Zoll supported the decision made today by McKenney.

Zoll had expressed concern about the "impact on the entire district court system" of the proposed experiment.

Saints can clinch title

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Crucial games in the San Antonio League and the Hacienda League highlight tonight's schedule of high school football games in the valley.

Perhaps the most important of all is the HL clash between San Dimas High and Alta Loma at Chaffey College at 8 p.m. If the Saints can pull that one out, they will clinch at least a co-championship. And with Ontario the final opponent on their schedule, the Saints would appear a good bet to win the title outright if they win tonight.

The SAL's chief contest tonight will be the Ganesha-Garey game at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30. The Giants' 4-1 league record positions them just half a game behind the undefeated Vikings, tied with Damien for the league lead at 4-0.

Meanwhile, Damien will face the challenge of Chino, the only team to defeat the Spartans in league play in 1975. The Spartans will host the Cowboys, Montclair will entertain Pomona and Claremont will celebrate its Homecoming against Upland at Citrus College, all at 7:30 p.m.

Other HL games tonight will find Ontario hosting Walnut at Chaffey High, Gladstone at Bonita and Sierra Vista against Royal Oak at Charter Oak High, all at 8 p.m.

American Christian and Calvary Baptist will close out their Christian League schedules this weekend. The Cougars will host Victor Valley Christian at John Galvin Park tonight at 7 p.m. and ACA will meet Liberty Christian at Oak View Elementary School in Huntington Beach Saturday at 1 p.m.

The game against Liberty Christian should determine whether the Minutemen get into the eight-man football playoffs.

The Minutemen trail Liberty Christian by one game entering Saturday's contest — the Huntington Beach-based school defeated ACA the last time they tangled, 38-0.

If the locals can pull off an upset they would tie Liberty for the league championship, virtually assuring themselves of a berth in the eight-man playoffs, which begin next Friday.

If the Minutemen lose, they will have to hope that the CIF office awards them one of the two berths left over after the six league champions from the eight-man division claim their playoff spots. That is not a likely proposition, since two teams that are currently second in their own leagues — Flintridge in the Prep League and Maranatha in the Academy League — are ranked ahead of No. 10 American Christian in the CIF eight-man poll.

Another team that can guarantee itself a playoff berth with a win tonight is San Dimas, the seventh-ranked team in the CIF 2A poll. The Saints have become the valley's leading prep team in both offense and defense by scoring an average of 25.6 points per game while surrendering 6.1 per game.

But Alta Loma's stats are nearly as impressive: 22.7 points scored per game and 7.9 allowed.

Another team with more than a passing interest in the outcome of the San Dimas-Alta Loma game is Walnut. The Mustangs are tied with the Braves for second place at 4-1 and trail San Dimas (5-0) by just one game.

If the Braves should upset the Saints, Walnut could pull into a three-way tie for first place with a win over the host Jaguars.

Bonita can stay in playoff contention with a win tonight over Gladstone, a team that has lost 23 straight games. The Bearcats are 3-2 in league play.

Ganesha will pit two very quick halfbacks — Floyd Eddings and Bennie Gooden — against a very quick Garey defense tonight at MSAC.

Both teams carry four-game win streaks into the contest. Garey is the valley's only undefeated team, with a tie against La Sierra the only blotch on its record. A win for the Giants tonight would move them ahead of Garey in the standings and would mean that the postponed game between Garey and Damien would have to be made up on Nov. 13. If the Vikes and Spartans both win their remaining two league games, they will share the championship and will not make up the game.

Damien is riding a five-game winning streak, tying it with San Dimas and Chaffey for the longest string of victories among valley schools. Chino has won but two games and tied one in seven outings, but the two Cowboy wins have come in the past two weeks.

Claremont and Montclair will be trying to even their league records tonight while their opponents — Upland and Pomona respectively — will be trying to salvage something of their miserable seasons. The Red Devils are still winless on the year and the Highlanders have just one victory — over the Devils.

WAITING GAME

Steve Myer, former MSAC star, stands on side lines watching Seahawks play. The rookie quarterback appeared in one exhibition game, but has not played during regular season.

Free agent bidding begins

NEW YORK (AP) — And now, the bidding begins.

Super-agent Jerry Kapstein's Providence, R.I. offices opened for business bright and early today and baseball owners and general managers will be lining up to talk money with the man who represents 10 of the 24 free agents selected in Thursday's free-agent clearance sale.

"We have appointments with clubs in both leagues starting Friday," said Kapstein, who watched quietly in a corner of the room as baseball divided up the available talent.

Thirteen players were chosen by the maximum 12 teams and nine of those men are clients of Kapstein.

The most popular player at the start of the draft was Oakland outfielder Joe Rudi, who was selected six times on the first round. The first player to be removed from the list of eligibles was Oakland catcher Gene Tenace, who reached his 12-team limit midway through the third round. Kapstein represents both of them.

Others chosen by the 12-team limit in order were Rudi and another Oakland outfielder, Don Baylor, outfielder Gary Matthews of San Francisco, pitchers Don Gullett of Cincinnati, Bill Campbell of Minnesota, Wayne Garland of Baltimore and A's reliever Rollie Fingers, infielders Bobby Grich of Baltimore, Sal Bando of Oakland, and Dave Cash of Philadelphia, and pitcher Doyle Alexander of the New York Yankees.

The first man drafted was Baltimore outfielder Reggie Jackson, who was picked by the Montreal Expos. But Jackson's reported asking price of $3 million for five years, may have scared off some teams and he did not reach the 12-team limit until the 14th round of the draft.

Under the draft's ground rules teams are permitted to sign no more than two free agents each unless they lose more than that number. Only Oakland, with eight players available and six drafted, Baltimore with four and California with three, can sign more than two.

Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland club, went almost the limit, drafting throughout the first 10 rounds and selecting such old friends as Jackson, the outfielder he traded to Baltimore on the eve of the 1976 season.

There were some interesting bidding battles set up by the draft.

The New York Mets and New York Yankees, for example, both had Jackson, Baylor, Grich, Matthews, Gullett and Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris on their shopping lists.

The Yankees, meanwhile, were more concerned with other American League East teams than they were with the Mets.

"The teams in the different divisions are watching each other very closely," said George M. Steinbrenner, principal owner of the AL champions. "The Orioles watched us like hawks."

The Chicago Cubs made the fewest selections of any of the teams participating in the draft, picking just four players—Tenace, Campbell, Baylor and Garland. Each of those four were also selected by the Cubs' crosstown American League rivals, the White Sox, who made 18 selections, the most players picked by any club.

Two players, veteran first basemen Willie McCovey and Nate Colbert, were not selected by any teams and thus become free agents available to all 24 clubs.

Myer waiting for a chance to play

SEATTLE (AP) — Steve Myer confesses he is not a scrambling quarterback. In fact, he is not even a playing quarterback at present.

The Seattle Seahawks' fourth-round draft pick from the University of New Mexico says his lack of scampering probably is one reason he has yet to throw a pass in the first half of his first season in the National Football League.

Left-handed first-year quarterback Jim Zorn, who not only can scramble but also can run, is another reason. And a third is that Coach Jack Patera apparently has settled on veteran Bill Munson as his No. 2 signal caller.

"I don't consider myself a runner. I never have been and, who knows, I probably never will be," says Myer.

"Jim's got a lot of ability," Myer says of Zorn. "He sets up in the pocket pretty well. He's a good thrower, but he's also a good runner. That makes him that much better."

The 22-year-old Myer, who completed more than 53 per cent of his passes for nearly 7,300 yards and 57 touchdowns in his college career at Mount San Antonio in Walnut and later at New Mexico, says his primary asset "is throwing the ball, setting up in the pocket.

"I think Jim's biggest asset is that he can scramble. Right now, with our ball club, I think we need a quarterback like that. We're an expansion team and we've been through a lot of mistakes and letdowns. You need to have somebody who can make the big play."

Myer's only appearance was in the fourth quarter of a 52-7 preseason loss to Denver.

"It really is frustrating. I'd sure like to be playing a lot more," he says. "You go out to practice every day, not doing much, even in practice. But you have to look at it kind of philosophically.

"You say, 'Well, I'm a rookie and I've got a lot to learn.' I feel I'm getting ready to play. You can't have any lapses. You have to know what you're doing, too, knowing your offense and knowing how to read coverages. Once you get that down, a lot just comes from experience. You have to be doing it all the time."

He admits to feeling fortunate at still being a member of the team. "When we got Munson and we had four quarterbacks again, I was worried," recalls Myer, one of nine quarterbacks who reported to training camp last July. "I was thinking, 'Oh, gee, what are they thinking? They want a veteran to come in. They don't like the rookies.'" But third-year pro Neil Graff was cut and Myer stayed.

"I'm glad I made it," he says. "That's the important thing."

49ers to juggle lineup for 'Skins

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — San Francisco 49ers Coach Monte Clark has announced a couple of lineup changes for the National Football League's game at Sunday against Washington.

Keith Fahnhorst is starting ahead of Cas Banaszek at right tackle, and Ralph McGill is returning as starting safety.

"We're not counting Cas out," Clark said Thursday. "I just think Keith deserves the chance to start." Banaszek has been starting at the offensive tackle spot since 1968. Fahnhorst is in his third NFL season.

McGill was replaced in the lineup by rookie Bruce Rhodes after suffering a concussion four weeks ago against the Los Angeles Rams.

Champions' field is set

ARCADIA (AP) — Honest Pleasure will lead seven horses from eastern tracks Saturday at Santa Anita in the $350,000 Champions, one of the world's richest horse races.

Ten horses will compete over the mile and one-quarter for the $240,000 first prize.

Top weight of 126 pounds will go to King Pellinore, a world record setter at the The Champions distance earlier this year and winner of the Oak Tree Invitational here last Sunday. The horse will probably be ridden by Bill Shoemaker.

Next high weight of 125 pounds will be aboard Riot In Paris, who will probably be ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr.

Honest Pleasure, who has won four $100,000 stakes races last summer, will carry 121 pounds. Should the Florida-bred horse win, he would become the 20th millionaire in thoroughbred racing history.

L'Heureax, a stakes winner on both grass and dirt, will carry 118 pounds, while the only filly in the race, four-year-old Proud Delta, will carry 117 pounds.

Hurt Gopher can't limp

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota football team has been crippled by numerous injuries this season, but one of the Gopher players is really in bad shape.

Offensive tackle Jeff Morrow, who has an injured right knee and a sprained left ankle, says, "I can't even limp."

Mariners tab unknown

NEW YORK (AP) — The Seattle Mariners opened the American League baseball expansion draft today by selecting Ruppert Jones, an outfielder from the Kansas City Royals' organization, as the No. 1 pick.

Jones played in 28 games for the American League West Division champions and batted .216. The 21-year-old left-handed hitter spent most of the 1976 season at Omaha of the American Association.

The Toronto Blue Jays who, like the Mariners, will begin play next season, followed by choosing Bob Bailor, a 25-year-old shortstop from the Baltimore Orioles' organization.

Bailor appeared in nine games for the Orioles in 1976, batting .333. He spent most of the season at Rochester of the International League, this third year with that club, and hit .311 with one homer and 12 RBI.

Seattle's selection of Jones was announced by entertainer Danny Kaye, part-owner of the Mariners' franchise. Jones batted .262 with 19 home runs and 72 runs batted in at Omaha last season.

The 12 established American League teams protected 15 players each from the new teams in the first round of the draft. After each of the first three rounds, the established clubs were to withdraw three more names from the list of draft eligibles. Before the fifth and final round, they were to add two names to their protected lists.

Seattle and Toronto were to be stocked with 30 players apiece, each carrying a price tag of $175,000. The established teams each stood to lose five players, one in each of the draft's five rounds.

Seattle's second choice was right-handed pitcher Gary Wheelock from the California Angels' system. Wheelock appeared in two games with the Angels last season, pitching just two innings. At Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League he wss 15-8 with a 3.81 earned run average.

Toronto's second selection was left-handed pitcher Ted Garvin from the Minnesota Twins' organization as the trend toward younger players continued.

Garvin, 20, had an 11-9 record with a 3.30 ERA at Orlando of the Florida State League.

Seattle's third choice was infieler Bill Stein from the Chicago White Sox. Stein batted .268 with four homers and 36 RBI in 117 games with the White Sox. He was the first recognizable name selected by either team in the draft.

Toronto followed by selecting right-handed pitcher James Clancy, a 20-year-old out of the Texas Rangers' organization, then Seattle went for Boston pitcher Dick Pole, who was 6-5 with a 4.31 ERA for the Red Sox in 31 games in 1976.

Clancy was 6-8 with a 6.41 ERA at San Antonio of the Texas League last year.

Toronto next selected outfielder Gary Lee Woods from the Oakland A's system. Last season, his fourth as a professional, Woods appeared in six games for the A's, batting .125. He spent the season at Tucson of the PCL, batting .308 with eight homers and 57 RBI.

Seattle's next selection was first baseman-outfielder Dan Meyer of the Detroit Tigers. Meyer hit .252 with two homers and 16 RBI in 105 games for the Tigers last season.

Toronto then selected 37-year-old designated hitter Rico Carty of the Cleveland Indians, the first veteran and major name to be called out in the draft. It was the 10th selection of the first round.

Carty was one of the AL's leading DH batters last season wuth a .310 average, including 13 homers and 83 RBI. He broke into the majors in 1963 with the old Milwaukee Braves and won the National League batting championship with Atlanta when he hit .366.

Seattle then chose left-handed pitcher Grant Jackson from the New York Yankees. Jackson, a relief specialist, was 7-1 with a 2.54 ERA in 34 games for the Yankees and Baltimore Orioles last season. He was acquired by New York in a 0-player trade on June 15.

Jackson, 34, broke into the majors in 1965 with the Philadelphia Phillies and was traded to the Orioles in 1971.

Toronto completed the first round by choosing right-handed pitcher Claude L. Edge from the Milwaukee Brewers' system. Edge, 0-1 with a 1.80 ERA at Burlington of the Midwest League, was the third 20-year-old pitcher chosen by the Blue Jays in the first round.

USC, UCLA on collision course

By The Associated Press

Barring upsets—which appear unlikely—the Nov. 20 game between UCLA and Southern California will decide which team goes to the Rose Bowl to face the champions of the Big Ten Conference.

However, USC Coach John Robinson feels this weekend's Trojan game against Stanford in Palo Alto could be critical to his team's chances of going to Pasadena on New Year's Day, and he says a loss to the Cardinals this weekend would be worse than disturbing.

His reasoning goes something like this:

If Stanford can beat his USC team this week and then beat Oregon and Cal, if UCLA beats Oregon and Oregon State but loses to the Trojans, there will be a three-way tie in the Pacific—8 Conference. UCLA, USC and Stanford will all be 6-1.

If that should occur, Robinson reasons, Pac—8 rules say the Bruins would return to the Rose Bowl because they would have the best nonconference record.

If that situation occurs, the Nov. 20 game essentially would be meaningless: by then the Bruins would already have won the right to go the the Rose Bowl and could lose to the Trojans and still be the Pac—8 representative.

If the Bruins and Trojans have the same Pac—8 records when they meet here Nov. 20 and a two-way tie exists, UCLA can play for a tie; USC must win.

UCLA, meanwhile, gets a sort of breather when it plays at home Saturday against an Oregon team that has yet to win in the conference. While UCLA is 7-0-1 for the season, ranked third in the nation and working on a 12-game unbeaten streak, Oregon is 0-4 in the Pac—8 and 3-5 in all games.

Cal is out of the Rose Bowl running after last week's 20-6 loss to Southern Cal, but the high-powered Bear offense remains potent and will test Washington at Seattle in the Huskies' last home game of the year.

In the only other conference game of 1976, Washington State, 2-6, goes after its second straight victory when hapless Oregon State, 1-7, invades Pullman, Wash., for WSU's homecoming game.

Southern Cal has won six consecutive games since it's opening loss to Missouri, and the Trojans have won the last two weeks with Ricky Bell playing only briefly because of a hip pointer injury.

Tigers devour competition

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Chaffey High "prepared" for next week's big Citrus Belt League football encounter with Fontana by walking over Pacific, 56-0, Thursday night at Graber Stadium.

Though it might seem impossible that one team could beat another so badly without pouring it on, Tiger coach Ray Stark was by no means guilty of running up the score.

"We didn't run it up," he said after the game. "We used jayvees all through the second half. But when jayvees get into the game, they want to score — and they did."

Stark used virtually every player at his disposal during the one-sided contest. Three different quarterbacks called signals for the Tigers and 10 different players carried the ball.

They all looked like all-stars against the hapless Pirates. Chaffey accumulated 364 yards rushing on 45 carries — an average of 8.1 yards per run.

The win was Chaffey's fifth in a row and improved its CBL record to 4-0. The Tigers' final league game will take place next Friday at Fontana High, whose Steelers are 2-1 and figure to beat San Gorgonio tonight.

If the Tigers beat Fontana next week, they will win the CBL championship outright. If they lose to the Steelers, there will probably be a three-way tie for the title, since Eisenhower (2-1) will most likely win its final two contests against Redlands and Pacific.

At any rate, the Tigers clinched a playoff berth Thursday night.

Just how completely Chaffey dominated Pacific (1-3, 2-6) can be measured in any of several game statistics: The Tigers amassed 463 total yards to the Pirates' 142 and earned 27 first downs to the visitors' 10; Chaffey never punted; in fact, the Tigers faced only nine third-down situations, scoring touchdowns on two of them and converting five to first downs; Chaffey scored on eight of its 11 possessions; Pacific did not cross the midfield stripe until the second half, and then only twice.

In fact, only once did the Pirates pass Chaffey's 40-yard line — Pacific's deepest penetration was a second-down-and-nine situation on the Tiger 27, but the Pirates turned over the ball on downs three plays later at the Chaffey 44.

Actually, it could have been worse for the Pirates — they might have had to play another 14 seconds. After Chaffey scored its final touchdown with 14 seconds on the clock, the Pirates were assessed 60 yards in penalties for their blatant misbehavior. Rather than have the Tigers kick off from the Pacific goal line, the officials elected to send the frustrated Pirates, who were by that time becoming rather unruly, to the showers.

The Tigers' statistics were as impressive individually as they were collectively. Frank Fernandez led all rushers with 91 yards on seven carries and caught three passes, one of them a two-yard TD. Steve Lehor gained 79 yards on 10 carries — including scoring runs of 25 and 31 yards — and caught a pass for a two-point conversion. Frank Cohn gained 61 yards on five carries, one of them a 31-yard score. Eddie Saunders, seeing his first action after a season-long injury, rushed for 36 yards and a TD on just four carries. In all, six Tigers had 20 yards or more rushing.

Quarterback John Gable completed only five of 13 passes for 87 yards, but he threw three touchdowns in the first half and completed a pair of two-point conversions. Randy Johnston caught a 19-yard touchdown pass — with no Pirate within 15 yards of him — and one of the two-pointers and played a marvelous game as usual at his safety position. And sophomore Scott Bennett caught two aerials, one a 59-yard TD.

Coach Stark was unhappy with just one thing: his players, by that time mostly third and fourth-stringers, called a timeout with 19 seconds left and a 49-0 lead and scored on the next play.

"They should never have called that timeout," Stark said. "That was bad."

Sports in brief

Duo tied in Nat'l Team golf

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. — Jerry McGee and Allen Miller combined for a better-ball nine-under-par 63 and a tie for the lead with Bill Kratzert and Woody Blackburn after the first round of the $200,000 National Team Golf Championship.

MELBOURNE, Australia — Australian Stewart Ginn's five-under-par 66 gave him a three-stroke lead over Britain's Guy Wolstenholme after the first round of an international golf tournament.

PINE MOUNTAIN, Ga. — Jim Ferriell Jr. of Milford, Ohio, fired a one-under-par 71 to take a one-stroke lead after the third round of the ninth annual PGA Club Professional Golf Championship.

TOKYO — Top-seeded Roscoe Tanner of Lookout Mountain, Tenn., breezed past Australian Kim Warwick 6-0, 6-1 and moved into the quarter-finals of the Japan Open of the Asian-Pacific tennis circuit.

LONDON — Spain's Manuel Orantes, the tournament's top-seed, advanced to the semifinals of the $100,000 Dewar Cup Tennis Tournament with a 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 victory over Bernie Mitton of South Africa.

COLOGNE, West Germany — Top-seeded Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., overcame Colin Dibley of Australia 7-5, 4-6, 6-4 to reach the quarter-finals of the $50,000 Cologne Grand Prix tennis tournament.

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — Jeff Borowiak of Berkeley, Calif., survived 17 aces to beat Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico 5-7, 6-3, 6-4 in the first round of the $20,500 Bakersfield Tennis Classic.

HAMPTON, Ga. — Buddy Baker, driving a Ford, averaged 161.652 miles per hour and won the pole position for Sunday's $160,000 Dixie 500 Grand National stock car race at Atlanta International Raceway.

Cub shakeup threatened

CHICAGO (AP) — P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, is threatening a shakeup of the entire organization.

In a story appearing in the Chicago Daily News, Wrigley is quoted as saying the club lost $900,000 last year, "And we can't keep that up or we'll go bankrupt. I'm going to bring in people with business sense to run the club. The baseball people don't seem to know how to do it."

"We won't put a baseball man in charge. They don't seem to know how to do things in a business-like way. They're too involved in the games.

The Cubs drew 1,026,217 last season but still ended with a $900,000 loss.

College unbeatens scarce

By The Associated Press

There are plenty of big college football games remaining, but the only Game of the Century left this year seems to be ... would you believe ... Rutgers vs. Colgate.

That one takes place Nov. 20 in New Brunswick, N.J., and it's the only regular-season contest left between teams with unblemished records—as of now. In fact, it's the only one left at all barring a Cotton Bowl match-up between fifth-ranked Texas Tech and either second-ranked Pitt or No. 6 Maryland.

Besides Pitt, Texas Tech, Maryland, Rutgers and Colgate, the only other unbeaten-untied clubs are top-rated Michigan and—asterisk, asterisk—Southwestern Louisiana. The Ragin' Cajuns whipped everyone on the field but had to forfeit victories over Fresno State and Cincinnati for using ineligible players.

A notch below the select seven—or six—is unbeaten-but-tied UCLA while 10 teams have only one loss to mar their seasons. And in that group, the schedule lists Saturday's meeting between seventh-ranked Georgia and No. 10 Florida in Jacksonville while fourth-ranked Southern California meets both UCLA and Notre Dame and Long Beach State takes on San Diego State.

The Georgia-Florida clash will play a large part in settling the Southeastern Conference scramble—Florida leads by one game—and most other conference also have key contests coming up this weekend.

While Michigan visits Purdue in Big Ten action, co-leader Ohio State, ranked No. 8, entertains Illinois. In the Pacific-8, UCLA is at home against Oregon while co-leader Southern Cal visits Stanford.

Texas Tech, tied with No. 12 Arkansas atop the Southwest Conference, should have a cakewalk at winless Texas Christian while the Razorbacks visit rugged Baylor.

This man is King Richard | This man wants his crown

Richard Petty has won NASCAR's coveted Winston Cup six times. It's symbolic of the best Grand National stock car driver in the world. They call him King Richard with very good reason, for only two other men have won as many as three national titles—Richard's father, Lee Petty, and David Pearson.

The young whippersnapper who wants King Richard's crown is Cale Yarborough who, at 37, is two years younger than Petty and has been trying to win the Winston Cup for 19 years. This year Cale believes he has the car, the Holly Farms Chevy, and the points to win the cup. He's leading the standings now, but it's close. It could be settled at the last Winston Cup race of the season.

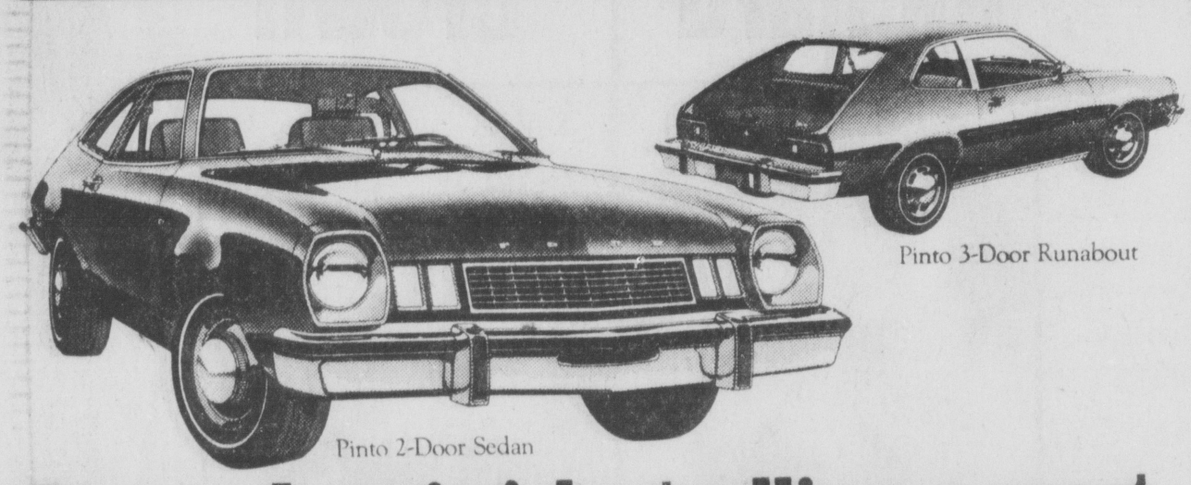
Leaner, cleaner and 10 inches trimmer in size—the '77 Thunderbird still has the special luxury features and appointments that make Thunderbird famous. Even with optional vinyl roof, bodyside moldings, whitewall tires and more, it's much less than you'd expect. And if you order a "plain" T-Bird you get power front disc brakes, power steering, automatic transmission, 302 cubic-inch V-8, full wheel covers, AM radio, electric clock and steel-belted radials at no extra charge. Now more than ever Thunderbird luxury is within reach.

Granada Ghia 4-Door Sedan

Ford Granada. The best selling car in California.

The 1977 Ford Granada, at your Ford Dealer, looks like cars costing many times more, yet it's designed to be functional and practical. No wonder it's California's favorite car. Now refined for 1977 with improvements like standard steel-belted radial tires. And it's one of the few U.S. cars to offer 4-wheel disc brakes (optional). Look into an elegant interior with room for five adults, and a vacation-size trunk that holds eight assorted pieces of luggage. Look into the Ford Granada, America's success car, now in a brilliant 1977 edition.

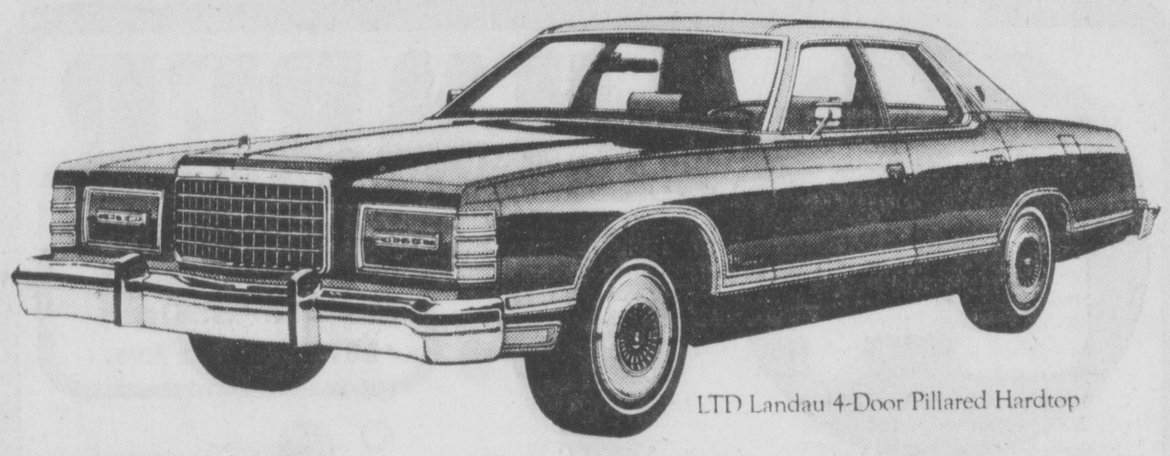


Pinto 3-Door Runabout

Pinto 2-Door Sedan

Pinto...America's best selling compact car, now with sportier handling.

California has a new Pinto for 1977. With a fresh new look front and rear. And spirited new performance to match. A special California package adds front stabilizer bar for sportier handling, steel-belted radials, rear window defroster and deluxe wheel covers as standard equipment. With a long list of options for you to enjoy: all glass rear door, flip up removable open air roof, 4-way manual driver's seat and Sports Rallye Package for the best handling Pinto ever. This new Pinto has spirit you can feel. It comes from a strong and proven 2.3 liter 4-cylinder engine and responsive four-on-the-floor manual transmission (automatic is optional). For more spirit, choose an optional 2.8 liter v-6 with automatic transmission. And the '77 Pinto brings you built-in durability with the electro-dip prime coating on the entire unit-body construction.



LTD Landau 4-Door Pillared Hardtop

The full-size car that stayed full-size. FORD LTD.

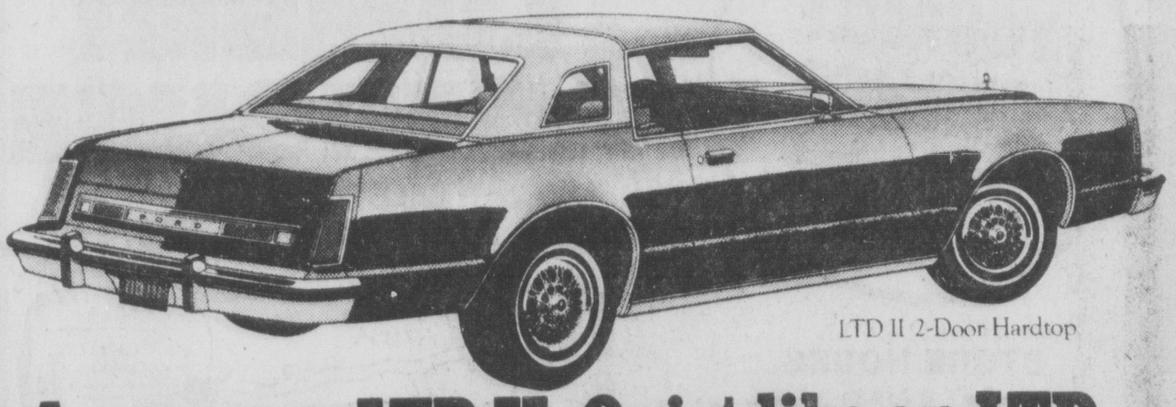
This year, some car makers are making their full-size cars shorter and narrower. Ford believes that people who want a full-size car should have that choice. So the '77 Ford LTD hasn't been reduced by a single inch! Ford LTD has a longer wheelbase than the down-sized Olds 98, Buick Electra, and Chevrolet Caprice and Impala (which have shrunk to the length of the mid-size Chevelle). And LTD still gives you its traditionally smooth, quiet ride, interior spaciousness, deep-well trunk, and 3½ ton towing capacity (with optional Trailer Towing Package). See the new Ford LTD at your Ford Dealer.

Ford kicks off a great new season with a great new game. FORD'S FIRST & TEN GAME.

- A football game the whole family will enjoy... fun for kids, challenging for adults.
- Authentic football strategy, with runs, passes, punts, field goals, fumbles, time outs and safeties.
- Nothing to break, nothing to wear out, and no electricity. It's portable, too. You can play it on the beach.
- More football fun than heavily advertised games costing $10 to $15...and it's yours for just $1.00.
- Great Christmas gift idea.

Stop into your Ford Dealers today and get yourself some football fun with Ford's First and Ten Game.

Only $1.00...a $4.95 value



LTD II 2-Door Hardtop

A new car: LTD II. Quiet like an LTD. With a trim new price.

For a 6-passenger car that's trimmer in size and price than LTD, look at Ford's LTD II. It combines LTD's high level of workmanship with a unique sporty spirit all its own. And LTD II, like Ford LTD, comes with V-8, automatic transmission, power steering, power front disc brakes, steel-belted radials, DuraSpark Ignition system, and more...standard. At your Ford Dealer now.

Test-drive one of Ford's better ideas for '77...and compare.

We're confident that when you measure Ford's better ideas for 1977 against the best that competition offers, you'll put Ford out front for value. And there's no better yardstick for comparison than to see the cars and take a revealing test drive. Come in today.

"WE'VE SPENT EIGHT YEARS on the back streets and eight years uptown, and I don't think there's any reason to keep on touring other than money." With that declaration, ROBBIE ROBERTSON announced that the BAND will quit the road after a farewell concert they're calling "The Last Waltz" Thanksgiving night in San Francisco.

And what a show it promises to be. To be held at either Winterland (the site of the Band's first concert under that name, in 1969) or The Cow Palace, it will feature, in manager LARRY SAMUELS' words, "Some friends who've been part of our music." Neither Robertson nor Samuels would name names, but the "friends" reportedly include BOB DYLAN, VAN MORRISON, NEIL YOUNG, ERIC CLAPTON, NEIL DIAMOND, MUDDY WATERS, PAUL BUTTERFIELD and RONNIE HAWKINS.

Robertson said there were plans to either record or film the event.

BRIAN WILSON CONTINUES to ride the wave of recovery. He's already written a half-dozen tunes for the BEACH BOYS' next album, and has been hitting the studio at 9 a.m. daily to tinker with the tracks. Also, he's set to appear on stage with the Beach Boys at their Nov. 24, 25, and 26 dates at Madison Square Garden and their New Year's Eve show at L.A.'s Forum.

ONE OF THE PRESSING questions unattached male rock stars seem to have on their minds these days is, "Who is STEVIE NICKS seeing?" FLEETWOOD MAC'S Stevie happens to be one of the more beautiful and potentially available (now that she and LINDSEY BUCKINGHAM are just friends) female rock and rollers around. Such figures as the EAGLES' DON HENLEY have been falling all over themselves to court her.

Last we heard, JEFFERSON STARSHIP'S PAUL KANTNER had the inside track. The two met at a Starship party in L.A. following their Forum date. Stevie arrived in a white limousine with, as one observer put it, "12 women that looked exactly like her." Happily nestled in the limo at party's end was Kantner.

The next morning, GRACE SLICK, who couldn't stand the suspense any longer, tried to peek inside Kantner's room at the Continental Hyatt House by hanging outside a neighboring window. Then she tried to stir him with a raspy rendition of "Rhiannon." Finally, Kantner opened his door to find the rest of Jefferson Starship standing in the hallway, smiling. Kantner shut the door. "He's not talking," a friend said. "He's very discreet."

PAUL SIMON COLEBRATED his 35th birthday with a corned beef and cabbage repast at Elaine's in New York, Oct. 13. Simon got the side room for himself and 50 friends, including brother EDDIE, ART GARFUNKEL, MICK JAGGER, producer RICHARD PERRY, DAVID GEFFIN and CHEVY CHASE . . . PETER FRAMPTON's girlfriend, PENNY McCALL, hid behind Jackie O-sized sunglasses at Peter's Madison Square Garden concerts. Penny got her eyes blackened in a car accident a couple of days earlier . . . LINDA RONSTADT had an eventful drive home to Malibu recently. "I got on the freeway and I forgot to change gears," she said. In a while, through the din of her car radio, she began hearing a "horrible banging noise" and "there was water spurting out from under the hood. I coasted to a gas station where it stopped. There I was at 4 a.m. in the low rider section of the valley." The engine is a complete wreck.

MONTI ROCK III, disco star and egoist supreme, is moving to London Dec. 1. He wanted to tell us all about it:

"I'm going with my costumes and my ego. I can't work in America forever as an opening act to every ding-a-ling that's happening.

"They love me in London. I'm an alive happening. I'm comedy rock. I ain't ELTON JOHN. Elton is paranoid now because he thinks everybody wants him for his money. There's no other reason you'd want Elton. I'm high-class and good-looking."

'GONE' BACK AGAIN

One of the most acclaimed movies of all time, "Gone with the Wind" will be shown on NBC-TV in two parts Sunday and Monday nights. The film, starring Vivien Leigh and Clark Gable, was adapted from the epic Civil War novel by Margaret Mitchell. NBC paid $10 million for the TV rights, the highest price ever paid for a movie. It is the first time it has been on TV.

Auditions called at Playhouse

The Claremont Playhouse will hold auditions for Neil Simon's comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn," in the Pavilion of Griswold's Old School House at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

There are parts for three males — one about 21, another in his early 30s, and a third 55 to 60. Four women are needed — one in her early 20s, another about 25 and two about 50.

Call-back readings will be held Thursday and next Friday, and rehearsals will start at the theater at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14.

"Come Blow Your Horn" will open Dec. 10 and play to Jan. 29.

Currently being offered at the Playhouse is the Anthony Newley musical, "Stop the World, I Want To Get Off." It plays at 8 o'clock Thursday through Saturday nights. Reservations can be made by calling 621-5005.

Pomona programs chamber concert

Members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic will present a concert of chamber music in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday. Admission is free.

The featured performer will be Kalman Bloch, longtime instructor of clarinet in the college. Other artists in the group are Tze-Koong Wang, violin; David Speltz, cello, and Zita Carno, piano.

The program will include ensemble music with clarinet composed in the past 35 years. The opening work will be "Dialogues" for clarinet and piano by George Rochberg, written in 1958. Following will be the late Ingolf Dahl's "Concerto a tre," composed in 1952, for clarinet, violin and cello; "Reflections" for clarinet and piano by Karl Kohn, Pomona College composer-in-residence, and "Echoes," a piece for clarinet and two-channel electronic tape, composed in 1974 by Olly Wilson. The concert will close with the popular "Contrasts," for violin, clarinet and piano, written by Bela Bartok in 1942 for himself, Joseph Szigeti and Benny Goodman.

Counter-culture

Poster art gets class

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rock poster art, a reflection of the counter-culture movement that swept the nation in the late Sixties, has abandoned its street-post beginnings for the world of museums.

The well-attended exhibit of 250 posters at the San Francisco Museum of Art comes nearly a decade after the height of a cultural wave that challenged the Old Way, according to exhibit organizer Walter Madeiros.

Poster art was the movement's face to the public, growing out of the success of San Francisco rock bands and exploding with the success of large rock concerts and dancehalls.

"It all sort of came together around the music and the dope," Madeiros explained. "It made a group out of people who were culturally disenfranchised."

Like other periods of renaissance, the movement had its patrons. The owners of two local dancehalls, the Avalon and the Fillmore, kept the artists pumping out new posters weekly, with press runs as large as 5,000. The going rate for poster designs was about $150 a piece.

Many of the posters were also reduced for handbills, and some were miniaturized into rock concert tickets. The designs included fantastic creatures and complex designs that on closer examination formed the name of the featured band at the next concert.

The posters were "a triumph of art over function," according to Madeiros. Advertising the Grateful Dead, Jefferson Airplane and Moby Grape freed the artists to make innovations in the use of color, printing techniques, design of type faces.

It was an event when each new poster hit the streets. Artists would check out what new limits had been reached and street "collectors" would grab up copies for their own.

Once free for the taking, the posters are worth more now, according to Ben Friedman, owner of the Hostermat, a retail outlet here. Friedman says most of the posters now sell for about five dollars, with some rare editions going for as much as $50 each.

"I'm just blown away that I was in the right place in the right time," said Alton Kelley, one of the 12 poster artists in the exhibit. "It was really a scene. It was before the word hippie existed — nobody had a word for it."

Kelley now operates a studio in San Rafael, and with Stanley Mouse — his poster collaborator — owns Monster Corp. of America, a firm that specializes in T-shirt art.

The flower power cultural burst officially ended on July 4, 1971, the last performance at the Fillmore. But Madeiros says its spirit lives.

"The straight world was ready for these things," he said, citing back-to-nature fads in urban areas, housewives learning macrame, and marijuana smoking in the suburbs.

"People didn't realize how spoiled we were at the time," said David Spieth, a 25-year-old carpenter who visited the exhibit. "Back then nobody looked at it as a piece of art — it was a happening.

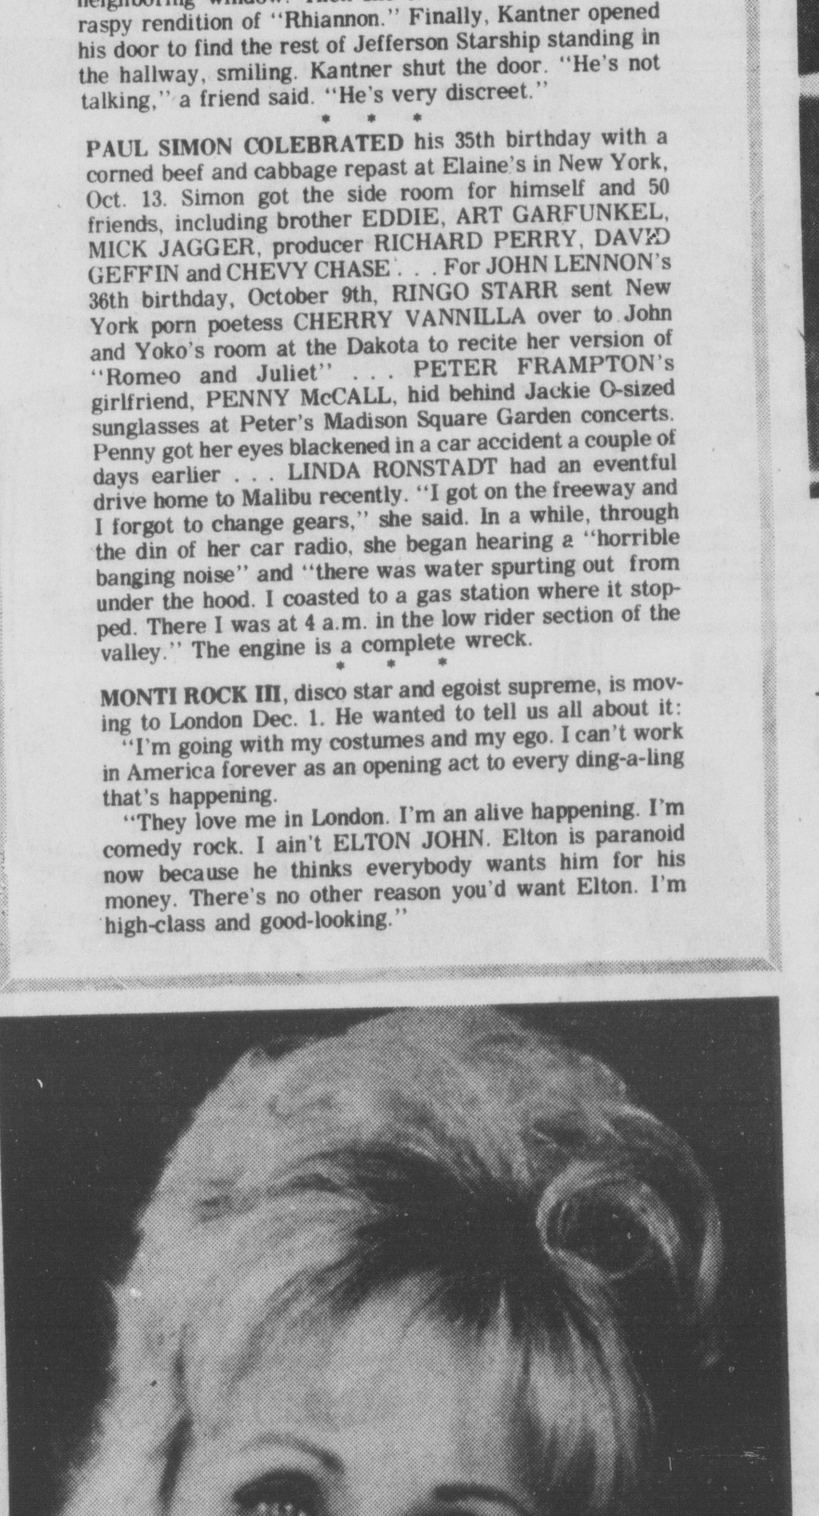
"But I guess that's art," he added.

Church to stage 'Fludde'

"Noye's Fludde," a one-act opera based on the Chester miracle play of the 14th and 15th centuries, will be presented in the sanctuary of the Claremont United Church of Christ, Congregational, at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Hollis Williams designed the set, costumes and masks. Steven Hiet constructed the ark.

The performance is open to the public without charge.



PERKY POWELL

Jane Powell, film and musical comedy star, will play the title role in the San Bernardino Civic Light Opera production of "Irene." The musical hit of 1919, revived on Broadway in 1973, will be staged next Friday through Nov. 20 at the California Theater of Performing Arts with an 8:15 p.m. curtain. Also starring are Ron Husmann and Patsy Kelly. Tickets are now on sale at all agencies.

Quinn set for 'Children'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Anthony Quinn will star in the movie version of the classic Oscar Lewis novel "The Children of Sanchez."

PUBLIC AND PRIVATE

David A. Glasa, left, Steve Adams and Debbie Kniesley star in "The Public Eye" and "The Private Ear," to be presented in Dailey Theater, La Verne College, at 6:30 Saturday night. The Peter Shaffer plays are directed by John Woodruff, visiting professor of drama at LVC.

SWEET SINGER — Dionne Warwick will be featured on "In Performance at Wolf Trap on KCET, Los Angeles, at 9 p.m. Nov. 29. The program was taped at the Wolf Trap Farm Park for the Performing Arts near Washington, D.C.

Hoaxes cause CB problems

By INK DIPPER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ink Dipper, KYZ-3916, is the handle of the editor of The CB Times-Journal.)

Someone is going to die because of a CB hoax.

Maybe it will be an ambulance driver rushing to the scene of an auto wreck that doesn't really exist. Maybe it will be the victim of a real auto wreck who can't get help because the ambulance is racing in the other direction.

Or maybe, if we're lucky, it will be the hoaxer himself, beaten to death by someone enraged over the black eye that hoaxes are giving CBers.

Unfortunately, it will probably be one of the first two people. The hoaxer is practically untouchable.

The hoax problem is nationwide. Local, state and federal agencies spend thousands of dollars a year to hunt emergencies which exist only in sick minds.

A few hoaxes have drawn national attention, though hundreds of others occur each month. One estimate is that out of every 100 emergency CB calls, eight are fake.

Sometimes a hoax can be discovered early. A CBer at the scene of an alleged accident, for instance, can alert police that someone is putting out a false report.

But authorities have to follow through on others because they have no idea that the report is anything but authentic.

One of the most widely reported hoaxes was in 1973 when a California CB operator heard a call from an hysterical little boy who said that his father had been killed and that he was calling from their overturned pickup truck in New Mexico.

Searchers spent five days and $150,000 in manhours, equipment use and fuel before the incident was marked up as a prank.

In June, U.S. Coast Guard and law enforcement officers in Marathon, Florida, spent four frantic hours searching for two boats. According to the urgent distress calls, one of the boats was sinking with several people aboard, and the second boat then took the survivors. Next time calls from the second boat that it was overloaded and taking on water.

Four hours after the first call, a woman contacted police and said she heard three men in a pickup truck putting out a distress call similar to the ones transmitted by the two "boats."

By the time the rescue operation was called off, taxpayers had lost $20,000.

Putting out a false distress call carries a maximum fine of $10,000, up to a year in jail or the fine and jail term. But authorities have little luck catching hoaxers.

A hoax usually doesn't last long enough for the Federal Communications Commission to bring in sophisticated direction - finding antennas.

Most hoaxes are quick calls to police or emergency monitoring stations. It's like pulling the handle on a fire box and then running into the night.

If the hoax problem is going to be brought under control, it will have to be done by CBers and not by outside agencies. Groups that set up emergency monitoring systems — such as REACT and ALERT — have been successful in organizing CBers and cutting down the number of false calls. The groups work with law enforcement agencies, and the police and sheriff's departments rely on the CBers for accurate information.

But most law enforcement agencies aren't that well organized for dealing with CBers, and even the best organization can't help in all cases. The New Mexico and Florida incidents are examples of having to assume that the call is legitimate.

Which leads us back to where this began — someone is going to die. Let's hope for the best.

'Oklahoma!'

Gallery doing musical comedy

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Gallery Theater's teenage "Oklahoma!" is a lively and exuberant romp along the nostalgia trail for the audience, but hardly for the performers. Rodgers and Hammerstein created the classic musical before most of the young actors were born.

Still, there's plenty of bounce and excitement, as the young singers and dancers throw themselves into the action with as much zeal as if the show were in its opening run on Broadway.

Like "Showboat," "Oklahoma!" has become part of the warp and woof of the American culture, and "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" is as familiar as the "Star-Spangled Banner." Add to that such mini-classics as "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning!" "Many a New Day" and "People Will Say We're in Love," and half the audience is humming as they leave the theater.

Andrea Miller and Bradford Kahn are beguiling and attractive as Laurey and Curly, creating interesting figures of the young lovers.

Dee-Dee Jernigan offers a superbly comic Ado Annie, the girl who "cain't say no," and she adds to her talent for clowning and outstanding voice. Her suitors, Will Parker, deftly played by Scott Grossberg (great in "Everything's up-to-date in Kansas City") and Tyler Learned as the consistently hilarious Ali Hakim, are a delight.

Paul Audelo's Jud Fry is a suitably repugnant villain, done in a nice blend of pathos, evil and buffoonery, and Dorothy Copin provides a humorous and understanding Aunt Eller. Chipping in with gusto in smaller roles are Frank Kohel, Chris Biggs, Lisa Wright, Stan Chapin, Robert Greenig and Stephen Skrob.

A charming feature of the production is the performance of Elizabeth Biggs, Michelle Facer, Terri Slocum and Renee Sparks, a piquant quartet of young dancers.

"Oklahoma!" will be presented at 8 o'clock Friday and Saturday nights for several weekends. The theater is at C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario. Reservations can be made at 982-5357.

'Billy' renders unto Caesar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sid Caesar will star in a new comedy to be filmed in Australia, "Billy."

Caesar, finishing up "Fire Sale," is currently in "Silent Movie."

"Billy," described as family entertainment, is being made by Trans-Atlantic Enterprises in association with the Australian Broadcasting Co.

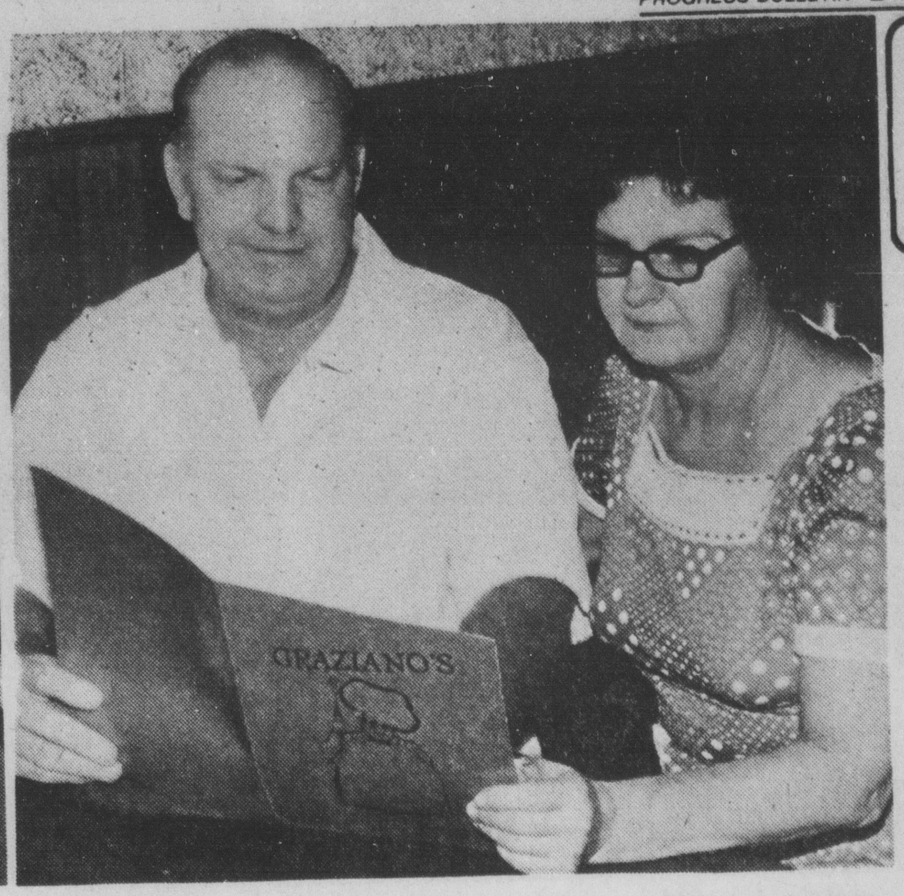
RONALD McDonald and The Hamburglar will visit McDonald's at Ganesha exit of San Bernardino Freeway this Sunday at 2:00 p.m.



NEW owners of Graziano's Pizza, 3290 No. Garey, Pomona, are Peggy and Al Vaughan. Peggy has managed restaurant for past year.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

With this issue Weekend! begins its second year, and right now I'm looking at my first column in that initial entertainment offering November 7, 1975. Not particularly impressive or noteworthy except, perhaps, the part in which I state the purpose of my wanderings. And so, as a refresher (and in case there's anyone out there besides my boss who wonders just what it is I do), I offer the following. In that first column I said:

"I want to state at the outset that I like a well-prepared meal and good music as well as the next person. But, while I thoroughly enjoy both, I have no desire in this column to give a critical appraisal of either. But I am interested in the dining out experience, and each week I have a choice to make, just as you do, about what to do, where to go.

"It is your weekend, and you will make that choice on the basis of what's available to you. It's our Weekend! And we hope to be able to help you expand your choices."

If we have helped you "expand your choices" in this past year, we're happy. If we haven't, we'll try harder!

It's rather an errie experience to be "read" by a psychic, to have your thoughts and plans described, defined and analyzed as William Rainen did mine last Sunday night at Dock of the Bay. He was pretty right on, too, in his summation of where I am and what I'm thinking about at this moment in my life. (I only hope my future unfolds as excitingly as he "sees" it!)

Rainen's Halloween show centered on his use of psychometry, the art of reading (experiencing?) a person's life force by touching or holding one of their personal possessions, a ring, necklace, watch, etc. The contention is that each of us radiates a life force, or aura, which those with psychic powers can pick up on to identify and explain. I guess. I admit I'm into rather a hazy area here. I'm struggling with terminology. Each occult technique has its own, and for centuries many people, like Alfie, have been having themselves "read" in an effort to find out what's it all about.

Someone asked me Sunday night if I'm a believer. A flippant yes or no answer is totally inadequate. I feel that I've been around long enough to be a tad skeptical of easy answers, but that I haven't lived long enough to be cynical. There's a boyish hope there somewhere that just maybe...

Anyway, I can say that William Rainen's show was entertaining. There were many people there in costume Sunday night, and they kept him doing his thing for more than an hour. I was impressed with Rainen's style. He doesn't care if you believe or not. Just enjoy! I did and maybe you will, too. He'll be at Dock of the Bay, 1504 Foothill, La Verne, for a couple more weeks on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Showtime is 9:45 p.m.

Ronald McDonald is coming to Pomona this Sunday for an appearance that has to spell some fun and excitement for Pomona Valley youngsters. He and his scheming sidekick, the Hamburglar, will make personal appearances at the McDonald's on Murchison at 2:00 p.m. (San Bernardino Freeway at Ganesha.)

A long-time hamburger ambassador for McDonald's and, by now, a famous TV personality, Ronald will perform a delightful magic show from his animated McDonaldland stage. The stage is actually a miniature reproduction of the McDonaldland set used for filming McDonald's TV commercials, and features all the McDonaldland characters. In addition to the show, Ronald has prizes for both parents and children. Owner Tom Spiel has requested that parents and children arrive at least 30 minutes before showtime to assure themselves of getting a good seat. That's this Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

AROUND AND ABOUT

...During the month of November, Bob's Big Boy restaurants are offering the famous Big Boy double-deck hamberuger, french fries and a coke for only 99 cents, a considerable savings when you consider the escalating cost of food.

...A packed house at Claremont's Beef 'N Barrel watched as Linda Powers (above, right) won $25 for best costume during the Barrel's Halloween party last Saturday night. "Cartune" leader, Wayne Moore (in drag) presents dinner-for-two certificate to Barbara Eifler (center) for runner-up prize.

...Manager Steve Frazier of Ice House Canyon Lodge reports that a big weekend turnout is expected for their "Tribute to Elvis" special. The program, a presentation of KSOM, features Bobby Greer in a happening which has stirred quite a bit of excitement. Tomorrow is the last night in a four evening run. I plan to get up there this evening.

INDOOR SLIDE

Do-It-Yourself

Indoor slide easily built

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Imagine the hours of fun your children or grandchildren will have playing on this clever, sturdy indoor slide! While waiting their turn, they can have countless adventures crawling through the large holes cut into the sides. unlike so many modern toys, this slide prompts physical activity that is so necessary to a child's well-being. When painted with bright, durable enamel, it will make a unique addition to any child's room. Of course, it's designed with safety in mind.

Built from one 24" by 24" sheet of exterior plywood, one 48" by 48" sheet of hardboard, and a few 2' by 2", this project is a snap for the amateur do-it-yourselfer. It measures 20" wide, 36" high and 61" long. Our plan is loaded with drawings and photographs to guide you every step of the way. And no special tools are needed with this simple-to-follow plan.

To obtain Plan No. 580, Indoor Slide, send $2.00 (includes 1st class postage and handling) by cash, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pomona Progress-Bulletin Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, California 91409.

Gardeners check list

—When Dahlias bloom themselves out, let the tops yellow off, then cut the stalk within a few inches of the ground. Let this dry out, lift a clump of tubers, wash them and let them dry before storing in a dry place for the winter. Wait until next spring before trying to separate the tubers in a clump.

—Dormant spraying is especially effective now that pests are inactive and more easy to eliminate.

—Pruning time is here. Get detailed instructions from your local nursery. Following your pruning, give your whole garden a thorough clean up spray.

—Azaleas and Rhododendrons will soon be available in local nurseries. They make lovely Christmas gift plants!

—Winter vegetable gardening is one of the special favors nature has bestowed on the California gardener. Drop by a C.A.N. member nursery this month and see what's available in the way of seedling vegetables in flats.

—Berried shrubs to plant now include Hollies, Pyracanthas, Heavenly Bamboo and miniature berried shrubs — Dwarf Burford Holly and Tiny Tim Pyracantha.

—Clean up leaves and fallen fruit. Cut back browned perennials and prune evergreens lightly.

—This is a good time for transplanting. If you are remodeling your garden, see the fine hardy evergreens that are arriving daily at your C.A.N. nursery. You'll find excellent hedge material, foundation plants and accents.

—Feed annuals set out last month. Keep them well watered.

—Keep an eye to your planting of Ranunculus. Cover them if you can to keep the birds at bill's length when the bulbs start to sprout.

—Hurry with all gardening activities such as soil preparation, bulb and shrub planting. The winter rains will soon interfere with most garden chores.

—Cool weather bedding plants such as Fairy Primrose, Pansies, Violas, Calendulas, Stock and Snapdragons can be planted now.

Where mowing is hard

Ground cover aids

Groundcovers offer a natural alternative to grass for landscaping certain areas where mowing is difficult, or where shade inhibits grass growth or simply where a change in pace is desired They are easy to maintain, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, and come in a variety of shapes, sizes, textures and colors that offer the homeowner a wide choice to fit any landscape plan.

Whether they are shrubs, vines, annuals, perennials, evergreens or deciduous, or whether they have flowers or broad variegated leaves, groundcovers are always low growing. They offer the advantage of being able to grow in places where other plants often will not, such as on slopes, banks, in heavily shaded areas or in trouble spots on a lawn. In any case, they can be a real asset to the landscape and add a delightful contrast to lawns or other landscape plants.

It is essential to plan the area where groundcover is to be planned so they will grow fully over the desired area. Consider the conditions such as shade or sunlight available, the amount of traffic the area will get, the moisture and drainage of the soil. A local nursery garden center can give good advice on the best groundcovers for each situation.

While varieties will differ in some of their requirements for care and planting, the homeowner should follow certain steps in planting and maintenance that almost all groundcovers have in common.

Generally, they will not accept much walking on, even though they are fairly hardy. While they do reduce or eliminate erosion after they are established, they are susceptible to damage from erosion on slopes or banks when first planted before their roots take hold. Therefore, it is always wise to place wood or metal strips in the soil across the bed at intervals of about 18 inches on steeper slopes and farther apart on less steep slopes until the plants have become firmly established.

Prepare the soil sufficiently in advance of planting to give it a chance to settle. Compacted or hard soil, or clay, should be dug or loosened with peat moss or other organic material mixed in. The soil can be fertilized, if necessary, and a nursery garden center expert can give the best advice on the proper one to use.

Individual plants should be placed into the ground at no more than the depth which they were in the nursery or other planting area. Some types of groundcover propagate more rapidly than others and therefore may be spaced at greater intervals. Check with your nursery garden center.

Be sure to pack soil firmly around the plants and water thoroughly. Most popular groundcovers need about an inch of rainfall a week during the growing season. Proper mulching with peat moss or other organic material will also help keep the ground moist. Water whenever the ground appears to be dry.

Keep the beds weeded.

Ivy and vines

Ivy and vines are nature's insulators. Planted on masonry walls, or on trellises or arbors adjacent to wooden walls, they help block out hot summer sun and keep buildings cooler on the inside. A convection current also develops behind the cool green leaves that draws warm air away from the wall. In winter, ivies and vines planted on the windward sides of a building help block out chilling winds and serve as insulation to keep heat in and cold air out. The wide variety of ivies and vines not only keeps surroundings refreshingly green but, the American Association of Nurserymen says, they help save money on utility bills.

Winter gardening

Winter vegetable gardening is one of the special favors nature has bestowed on the California gardener. If you would harvest delectable greens for your dining table during the coolest months, drop by a C.A.N. nursery this month and see what's available in the way of seedling vegetables in flats.

House plants

House plants, like other household items, will gather dust in time. With plants, though, you can't just take a dust cloth and have at them. Use a damp cloth and wipe the leaves off. Or set the pot in a sink and gently syringe the leaves with water. Some gardeners actually put larger house plants right in the bath tub and turn on the shower.

Joyce Brothers

Resigning as mother

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: MY mother is giving me a hard time because I'm not fighting for custody of my sons, who are 8 and 10. I can't convince my family that it would be wrong to slug it out in court. I love my sons but I think I'm an inadequate mother. My husband was always both mother and father to the boys and desperately wants them. It may sound selfish but I'd like to find myself. Will I regret this and am I being unfair to my sons? — V.N.

Dear V.N.: Under the circumstances, I think it might be more unfair to your sons if you submit to pressures just because others expect you to behave in a more conventional way. If you do, you will probably resent your children and those who pressured you.

Some fathers are better suited tempermentally and better able to relate to and guide their children.

It is extremely important that you keep in close contact with your sons and reassure them of your love. They need to be able to love both parents and the more you and your husband help each other maintain respect for both of you, the easier it will be for your sons to adjust. Many children get embroiled in loyalty conflicts and are unable to disentangle themselves.

Explain to your sons in simple, unemotional terms what is going to happen. Make sure they realize thay are in no way responsible for your problems. Try to present a picture that makes them feel that they can expect a sense of continuity in their relationship with you. They will suffer less if they have some clue as to what's going on and what to expect in their future.

You may be a better mother in the future if you find yourself now and decide what you wish to do with your life. Ideally, this should be done before marriage, and certainly before children are brought into the world. Since this didn't happen in that order, it must be done now, otherwise, you might well destroy your children's chances for happiness because of your resentment and confusion.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Since my father-in-law's wife died several months ago, he complains about being unable to sleep and of having nightmares when he does. He never complained before. Our doctor finds him in good physical health. We love Dad and hate to see him suffer. — R.P.

Dear R.P.: As long as he's seen a doctor, I suggest you try not to worry too much unless this continues for months. His sleeplessness may be part of his natural mourning period! He also may be so preoccupied with death that he resists going to sleep for fear of what might happen — a heart attack or a nightmare.

Those who suffer from nightmares often find relief by sleeping during the day because it sometimes helps break the pattern of troubling dreams. Daytime sleepers almost never have nightmares, but are likely to have pleasant dreams.

It might help if your father-in-law talked about his dreams. Telling them to a sympathetic listener may make them clear and then perhaps he can face and overcome the fears they dramatize.

I assume he lives with you so you might be interested in knowing that a study showed that widowed persons who lived alone adjusted better to widowhood than those who lived with grown children.

Loneliness is a major problem for the person who has lost a loved one. You can help by encouraging your father-in-law to make new friends.

MRS. JAMES WISE

The Church of the Nazarene in Upland was the setting for the marriage of Miss Suzanne Roberta Prest, daughter of the Robert Prests of Upland, and James Daniel Wise, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wise of Upland.

The Rev. Edwin McDonald read the evening ceremony which was followed by a reception in Upland at The Arbor.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Annie Prest and bridesmaids were Misses Sue Griffith, Judy Varela, Cindy Pembrock and Barbara Prest. Kathy McFarland was the flower girl and ring bearer was Steve McFarland.

Mike Varela was best man and ushers were Norm Hopkins, Dave Quandt, Bob Prest and Rick Phillips.

The couple honeymooned in San Francisco and are now at home in Ontario.

Bazzar scheduled Saturday

Theme for the pre-Christmas bazaar to be sponsored by the San Dimas United Methodist Women on Saturday is "Christmas Carousel." The event will open at 1 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. Muriel Moore is coordinator for the bazaar and will be assisted by Mmes. Ruth Hager, Pearl Way, Myrtle Swank, Clara Thomas and Myrtle Thomas.

The event is open to the public. Homemade pies and cakes with coffee will be served from 1 to 5 p.m. The church is located at 114 W. 2nd St., San Dimas.

Industrial nurses will meet

The Inland Center Association of Industrial Nurses (ICIAN) will hold its dinner meeting Nov. 17 at Skinner's Restaurant, San Bernardino.

The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour, followed by dinner at 7. The speaker will be Scotty Wallace, safety director, City of San Bernardino. His topic will be "Workmen's Compensation."

Persons wishing more information or reservation may contact Peggy Brudnick, 383-5397, or Majorie Lambeth, 829-3531.

DEBORAH KEATING

December wedding planned

Miss Deborah J. Keating of Montclair and William F. Britt Jr. of Pomona are engaged.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Keating of Montclair, graduated from Montclair High School. She is employed by Montgomery Ward in Montclair.

The future bridegroom, son of Mrs. Joseph Castellano of Pomona, attended Wilmington, Mass. schools. He is employed in Los Angeles.

A Dec. 11 wedding is planned.

Nutrition Society announces speaker

"Live Longer Now" — report on the program used at the Longevity Rehabilitation Center at Santa Barbara — will be presented by Cecyl Bruner at the Tuesday meeting of the American Nutrition Society in the Claremont Library at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Miss Bruner will tell of her five-day visit at the Center where a diet and exercise program is used to reverse angina to the extent that imminent coronary bypass surgery is avoided, and bypass closures are arrested. The speaker interviewed patients, attended lectures and food preparation sessions, and ate the prescribed diet.

Achiever luncheon charted

The Progress Bulletin Woman Achievers for 1976 will be honored at a luncheon at Orlando's Nov. 10 at noon.

The honorees, Mrs. Jan Ellison, Mrs. Mary Montes, Miss Estelle Nesbit and Mrs. Carol Smith, will be joined by their many friends at the luncheon.

Luncheon reservations may be made by calling the Family News department at the PB after 10 a.m. throughout this week.

Trophies will be presented to the winners, and guests will have an opportunity to meet the judges, Mrs. JoAnn Fitzgibbons, Mrs. Barbara De Voss, H. Gordan Wells, Dr. Armen Sarafian and Richard Gorow.

Tuesday meeting planned

The United Methodist Women of Claremont United Methodist Church will honor new members at a meeting at 10 a.m., Tuesday, in the Round Building of the church.

Special memberships will be presented during the meeting and a memorial service will be held for members who have died during the past year. The presentation of the budget will precede the worship service. Luncheon will be served after the meeting. Reservations may be made by calling the church office, 624-2342. For child care call 621-2103.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHAT IS A CHINCHILLA?"

STACEY HEGNA
CRANFORD, NJ

A. THE CHINCHILLA IS A SMALL SOUTH AMERICAN RODENT PRIZED FOR ITS VALUABLE FUR.

The chinchilla is a small rodent closely related to the squirrel. It looks somewhat like a long-tailed rabbit, but with smaller ears.

When it is full grown, the chinchilla is only about half the size of a rabbit. Its native home is in the high, cold mountains of South America.

Chinchillas are shy little animals. At the least alarm they scamper to the safety of their burrows among the rocks. But they soon stick their heads out to see what is going on.

They sleep during the day, and come out of their burrows at dusk to feed on roots and grasses. They hold foood in their front paws and nibble it just as squirrels do.

Chinchillas are very valuable because of their thick, bluish-gray fur that makes beautiful fur coats. For this reason there are not many wild chinchillas left. Most of them have been trapped for their soft, warm fur.

Chinchillas are now raised on farms for their fur, just as mink and foxes are.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Cluckers' trucker

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Truckers never mistake Hugh Fletcher's truck-weighing station for any other. It's the only one that clucks.

"I didn't get the chickens on purpose," says Fletcher, 59, who has nine in a fenced area behind the scales. "The chickens fly off poultry trucks as the trucks pull away from the scales. I holler at the drivers, but they never hear me. Sometimes the chickens are injured falling from the trucks. I nurse them back to health."

Fletcher weighs trucks carrying not only chickens but crushed automobiles, watermelons and tires among other things.

$250 INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Your local authorized Renault 5 dealer has a special factory introductory offer to make you. Come in and test drive our sporty Renault 5. If you like it go ahead and make the best deal possible with your dealer. Buy the car. He'll then give you a cash dividend certificate worth $250. Mail to Renault USA, Inc. within 10 days of your R-5's delivery date and Renault USA, Inc. will send you a check for $250

Final deadline for receipt of certificate at Renault USA, Inc. is January 14, 1977, however, physical delivery of the car must be made on or before December 31, 1976.

RENAULT 5

Model shown is the Renault 5 TL, sticker priced at only $3,369.

P.O.E. West coast. Price excludes transportation, dealer preparation, taxes, or optional equipment. Stripe and mag wheels are optional at extra cost.

Stripe & Sun-roof optional . . . at extra cost!

Renault 5 is the "in" car in Europe. This offer is an incentive to find out why.

Renault is now the number one automotive manufacturer in all of Europe, ahead of even Volkswagen and Fiat. And our sporty Renault 5 is the big reason why. The Renault 5 is now being sold in the U.S. with a special introductory offer. Because we know that once you've driven this international best-seller you'll think twice before you consider a Rabbit, Honda, or Chevette.

The powerful front-wheel drive R-5 starts with a low sticker price and then goes on to deliver outstanding gas economy. You can get 41 MPG highway/27 city. These are California EPA estimates. Your actual mileage may vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and optional equipment.

People magazine has noted that the Renault 5 is now the "in" car in Europe. They pointed out that a certain glamorous young Princess recently gave up her Fiat for a Renault! And now this remarkable car is available in America.

Come in for a test drive, because the sporty Renault 5 pays off in a lot of ways besides the $250 offer.

Test drive the Renault 5 at:

'Thou Shalt Not Steal'

Priest gives The Lord a hand, foils robbery

GRANADA HILLS (AP) — A knife-wielding would-be bandit has learned the biblical lesson "Thou Shalt Not Steal" the hard way after a Catholic priest wrestled him into submission at a church.

Father Peter O'Sullivan, 66-year-old parish priest at St. John the Baptist LaSalle Church, told police he was awakened at the church Thursday by a man holding a knife to his throat and demanding money.

Father O'Sullivan said he gave the man $47 from his pocket, but the robber ordered him to open the rectory safe. The priest did, and handed over another $647.

Police said Father O'Sullivan caught the assailant off guard, jumped him and wrestled him until police arrived.

"We're really proud of Father O'Sullivan," a police spokesman said. "He really showed some spunk. He's great."

Police booked 20-year-old Jeffery Welch, of Sepulveda, for investigation of suspicion of robbery.

Liner turns back, rescues woman who had fallen overboard two hours before

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Margaret Fuller, a 64-year-old woman who fell overboard while on a cruise, survived for two hours in the open ocean by floating on her back and occasionally swimming, the captain of the liner Windsor Castle reported today.

Mrs. Fuller was reported in satisfactory condition today after being pulled from the chilly South Atlantic about 250 miles off the coast of Angola. She was wearing a light blue dressing gown, and crewmen said they thought they saw a shark circling in the waters near where she was found.

Capt. Patrick St. Quentin Beadon said she fell from the rolling deck of the Windsor Castle about 8:15 a.m. Monday as the ship was steaming at 21 knots in moderate seas. It was headed for Cape Town, where it docked Thursday.

Mrs. Fuller's husband, Leslie, noticed she was missing, and the ship turned back about an hour after she went overboard.

"When we finally decided to turn back to look for her, it took us 10 minutes to turn and we sailed back about 25 nautical miles before we spotted her," said the captain. "It is hard to expect anybody to stay afloat in a sea of that temperature — it was about 65 degrees."

Passengers streamed to the sides of the ship and officers on the bridge scanned the sea with binoculars.

About 10:30 a.m., a ship's officer spotted Mrs. Fuller waving and shouting to attract attention. Passengers shouted that they also saw her. She was floating on her back and occasionally swimming the breast stroke, they said.

A lifeboat was lowered and Mrs. Fuller was thrown a lifejacket and line, which she grabbed. Crewmen hauled her onto the motor launch and took her back to the ship where, bruised and cold, she was wrapped in a blanket and rushed to sick bay.

Her husband, who watched from the deck as his wife was brought to safety, said: "It is a miracle she is alive — this is a human tragedy. Pray God she will be all right."

The Fullers live in Port Elizabeth, on the southeast coast of South Africa. They had been to England to visit Mrs. Fuller's sister.

The sister said Mrs. Fuller was a strong swimmer and was in good physical condition, although Fuller indicated his wife had suffered a nervous breakdown recently.

"It is not really unusual for a ship to find someone who has fallen overboard," said Capt. Beadon. "It is not a complicated calculation to retrace your course. If you do it accurately you will arrive back on the same course."

Two die in accident

Two Montclair men tell of surviving air collision above L.B.

Two Montclair men, sight-seeing over Long Beach Harbor Thursday night, were about to make a pass over the Queen Mary and come on home when their light plane collided in mid-air with another plane.

"I was scared to death," said pilot Dale Ratts, 39, 9605 Fremont Ave., speaking from his home this morning. "I knew we had been hit, but I didn't know by what or how badly we had been damaged."

Ratts, a glass company foreman, and his neighbor-passenger, David M. Leighty, 29, 9613 Fremont Ave., a Pomona postman, survived the 6:15 p.m. collision over Long Beach Harbor which killed two and injured a motorist.

Ratts landed in the ocean. The second plane fell to the ground, losing a wing and hitting three parked cars near the Naval Base.

Both men aboard that plane, J. Donald Wilkerson, 42, of Seal Beach, and Edward Shaw, 39, of Lakewood, were killed. Each was a licensed pilot. It was not known which man was at the controls.

Debris falling from the second plane injured Navy man Tom Steffey, 28, who was driving his sports car on Ocean Boulevard when he "saw a flash and heard a noise."

He was hit on the back of the head by a part of the tail assembly.

The crash occured less than an hour after Ratts and Leighty had taken off from Cable Airport in Upland in the rented single-engine Cessna.

"The windshield was smashed out and the sound was terrific," said Ratts. "I tried the controls and discovered they worked.

"It's impossible to fly a small plane very far with the drag caused by a smashed windshield. I contacted the Long Beach control tower, but with the rushing wind, I couldn't hear them or know if they heard me.

"I knew I was in a populated area. So, for the safety of the people on the ground and ourselves I headed out to sea. When I knew I was going to ditch in the water, I turned and asked Dave, 'Can you swim?"

Leighty said he heard Ratts' question and nodded.

"I yelled to him then that the plane would go upside down because of our wheels.

"I landed in the water as slowly as I could, but I knew it would nose over and it did.

"There we both were, hanging upside-down by our seatbelts. The plane was under the water. I couldn't find the buckle on my belt. Finally I did.

"We both got out and crawled up on a wing. I signaled we were alright and by this time the tower had notified all possible rescue units.

"Thank God the tide was coming in and we were able to save the plane. We started towing it with a rope and soon had rescue people and newsmen helping. We beached the plane."

Both Ratts and Leighty said they "felt terrible" about the two men killed in the other plane. They have flown together frequently, they said, and will continue to fly.

Ratts has 230 hours behind the controls and holds a commercial pilot's license.

Neither Ratts or Leighty consider flying "all that dangerous."

Driving back home last night they saw two bad freeway accidents, they said. "I'll bet neither of those made the news today," said Ratts.

Ratts told officials at the crash scene that he never saw the other Cessna and did not know how the collision occurred.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the FAA had no idea what caused the crash.

Sailor Roger Grant, 20, said he was sitting in the barracks at the Naval Base when he heard a bang that "sounded like dynamite going off."

He said he ran to the window and "saw this plane spinning away from another one."

The craft in which the two men died crashed on the median strip of Ocean Boulevard on Terminal Island. The fuselage and one wing landed in a nearby parking lot damaging three parked cars.

The men inside were pulled from the wreckage by motorists and pedestrians at the scene. One was immediately pronounced dead and the second died enroute to the naval base dispensary, authorities said.

Longest, hottest fall heat wave to linger

Santa Ana conditions minus the winds continued to bake the valley today in what is being reported as the longest and hottest fall heat wave in the recorded history of the Pomona area.

It was 96 degrees in Pomona Thursday after a 97 degree Wednesday — both record highs in the books of the National Weather Service.

According to the weatherman, the highest level the mercury climbed on a November day before this year was 94.1 on Nov. 3, 1949.

The heat wave is expected to continue for at least the next five days. A high reading of 93 degrees is predicted both for today and Saturday. By contrast, cool nights with temperatures in the low 50s are forecast for the weekend.

What is making the heat more bearable is that it is dry with relatively little humidity, and that the usual smog which accompanies temperatures above 80 degrees here has been absent. The weatherman expects those conditions to continue at least until Tuesday.

Jobless rate up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate rose from 7.8 per cent to 7.9 per cent in October, the government reported today, providing fresh evidence that the economic slowdown is continuing.

The unemployment rate is one of the economic indicators President-elect Jimmy Carter is watching as he considers whether to propose a tax cut after taking office in January. He told a news conference Thursday night that a tax cut for average wage earners "could be a strong possibility if there is no change in the rate of growth of the economy and if economic indicators should show a negative aspect."

Police Chief Davis eyes governor post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Chief Edward Davis says he is thinking about running for governor after he retires next year.

Politics is one of several options along with teaching, writing, or working in private industry, Davis said in a written statement.

In a talk he gave to a women's group on Wednesday, Davis said he is "seriously considering" running for governor in 1978.

Displays boldness, dignity, humor

Carter impressive at parley

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — There he was, the next president of the United States.

But there were none of the trappings. No trumpet flourishes, no dazzling chandeliers, no flags, no seal of office, no honor guards.

Yet, standing there before that weather-worn old depot in this little Southern town at his first post-election news conference, telecast across the land to countrymen still wondering much about the person they had chosen as their 39th chief executive, Jimmy Carter looked and talked more like a president than ever before.

He was forthcoming in his answers. He was gracious to his defeated opponent. He flashed spontaneity. He showed boldness, dignity, humor.

Maybe it was the emancipating effect of victory. Certainly the man answering questions Thursday was not the intense candidate whose steely mien, many thought, betrayed an inordinate hunger for the job.

The Jimmy Carter outside the depot was serenely confident. The president-elect doing the job. He seemed in control of himself, in control of the situation.

The hard edges of the campaigner were smooth, fuzzy edges sharpened.

He even managed to back off adroitly from one of the stands he stumbled into in the heat of electioneering, the business about keeping U.S. hands off Yugoslavia.

Somehow, he rounded his position off into acceptable perspectives without seeming, in that old haunting phrase, to have flip-flopped.

Those who knew him best said his wit was always there, just wait.

So, asked how he could unify the nation after losing practically all the Western half, Jimmy Carter smiled. Not a push-button smile. And asked, hadn't he won Hawaii, the Westernmost of all?

He spoke of taxes and of foreign affairs and of his notion of what a mandate meant and he spoke with unaccustomed authority and sureness.

He was at ease.

Could the rustic setting for his first major appearance as president-to-be have had something to do with Jimmy Carter's performance?

The only other times the nation had a sustained look at Carter were in three televised presidential debates. Sterile affairs they were, held in antiseptic arenas, stage-managed to the last centimeter.

This time, by contrast, the president-elect stood not at a plastic lectern but at an antique hand-hewn pine pulpit salvaged from a long-forgotten country church in Douglasville, Ga.

His spectators were not strangers in theater seats but neighbors and some curious tourists, about 400 in all, who stood in the night air to watch from behind hemp ropes strung between green oil drums.

This time his questioners sat on folding chairs borrowed from an undertaker. And his vice president-elect and both their wives and some of their children sat off to one side.

The TV lights glared, a melancholy hint that quiet little Plains would never be the same, not at least for the next four years.

But overhead, a full moon turned surrounding Georgia pines into spearpoints, piercing the crisp November sky. One could indeed sense much that was genuine in Plains, Ga.

Weather

Continued hot and dry throughout the weekend with cool nights. High today 94, low tonight 53, high Saturday 93. The high Thursday was 96 and the overnight low was 54. Saturday's sunrise 6:15, sunset 4:54.

"I was scared to death," said pilot Dale Ratts, 39, 9605 Fremont Ave., speaking from his home this morning. "I knew we had been hit, but I didn't know by what or how badly we had been damaged."

Ratts, a glass company foreman, and his neighbor-passenger, David M. Leighty, 29, 9613 Fremont Ave., a Pomona postman, survived the 6:15 p.m. collision over Long Beach Harbor which killed two and injured a motorist.

Ratts landed in the ocean. The second plane fell to the ground, losing a wing and hitting three parked cars near the Naval Base.

Both men aboard that plane, J. Donald Wilkerson, 42, of Seal Beach, and Edward Shaw, 39, of Lakewood, were killed. Each was a licensed pilot. It was not known which man was at the controls.

Debris falling from the second plane injured Navy man Tom Steffey, 28, who was driving his sports car on Ocean Boulevard when he "saw a flash and heard a noise."

He was hit on the back of the head by a part of the tail assembly.

The crash occured less than an hour after Ratts and Leighty had taken off from Cable Airport in Upland in the rented single-engine Cessna.

"The windshield was smashed out and the sound was terrific," said Ratts. "I tried the controls and discovered they worked.

"It's impossible to fly a small plane very far with the drag caused by a smashed windshield. I contacted the Long Beach control tower, but with the rushing wind, I couldn't hear them or know if they heard me.

"I knew I was in a populated area. So, for the safety of the people on the ground and ourselves I headed out to sea. When I knew I was going to ditch in the water, I turned and asked Dave, 'Can you swim?'"

Leighty said he heard Ratts' question and nodded.

"I yelled to him then that the plane would go upside down because of our wheels.

"I landed in the water as slowly as I could, but I knew it would nose over and it did.

"There we both were, hanging upside-down by our seatbelts. The plane was under the water. I couldn't find the buckle on my belt. Finally I did.

"We both got out and crawled up on a wing. I signaled we were alright and by this time the tower had notified all possible rescue units.

"Thank God the tide was coming in and we were able to save the plane. We started towing it with a rope and soon had rescue people and newsmen helping. We beached the plane."

Both Ratts and Leighty said they "felt terrible" about the two men killed in the other plane. They have flown together frequently, they said, and will continue to fly.

Ratts has 230 hours behind the controls and holds a commercial pilot's license.

Neither Ratts or Leighty consider flying "all that dangerous."

Driving back home last night they saw two bad freeway accidents, they said. "I'll bet neither of those made the news today," said Ratts.

Ratts told officials at the crash scene that he never saw the other Cessna and did not know how the collision occurred.

A spokesman for the Federal Aviation Administration said the FAA had no idea what caused the crash.

Sailor Roger Grant, 20, said he was sitting in the barracks at the Naval Base when he heard a bang that "sounded like dynamite going off."

He said he ran to the window and "saw this plane spinning away from another one."

The craft in which the two men died crashed on the median strip of Ocean Boulevard on Terminal Island. The fuselage and one wing landed in a nearby parking lot damaging three parked cars.

The men inside were pulled from the wreckage by motorists and pedestrians at the scene. One was immediately pronounced dead and the second died enroute to the naval base dispensary, authorities said.

Longest, hottest fall heat wave to linger

Santa Ana conditions minus the winds continued to bake the valley today in what is being reported as the longest and hottest fall heat wave in the recorded history of the Pomona area.

It was 96 degrees in Pomona Thursday after a 97 degree Wednesday — both record highs in the books of the National Weather Service.

According to the weatherman, the highest level the mercury climbed on a November day before this year was 94.1 on Nov. 3, 1949.

The heat wave is expected to continue for at least the next five days. A high reading of 93 degrees is predicted both for today and Saturday. By contrast, cool nights with temperatures in the low 50s are forecast for the weekend.

What is making the heat more bearable is that it is dry with relatively little humidity, and that the usual smog which accompanies temperatures above 80 degrees here has been absent. The weatherman expects those conditions to continue at least until Tuesday.

Jobless rate up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate rose from 7.8 per cent to 7.9 per cent in October, the government reported today, providing fresh evidence that the economic slowdown is continuing.

The unemployment rate is one of the economic indicators President-elect Jimmy Carter is watching as he considers whether to propose a tax cut after taking office in January. He told a news conference Thursday night that a tax cut for average wage earners "could be a strong possibility if there is no change in the rate of growth of the economy and if economic indicators should show a negative aspect."

Police Chief Davis eyes governor post

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police Chief Edward Davis says he is thinking about running for governor after he retires next year.

Politics is one of several options along with teaching, writing, or working in private industry, Davis said in a written statement.

In a talk he gave to a women's group on Wednesday, Davis said he is "seriously considering" running for governor in 1978.

Displays boldness, dignity, humor

Carter impressive at parley

PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — There he was, the next president of the United States.

But there were none of the trappings. No trumpet flourishes, no dazzling chandeliers, no flags, no seal of office, no honor guards.

Yet, standing there before that weather-worn old depot in this little Southern town at his first post-election news conference, telecast across the land to countrymen still wondering much about the person they had chosen as their 39th chief executive, Jimmy Carter looked and talked more like a president than ever before.

He was forthcoming in his answers. He was gracious to his defeated opponent. He flashed spontaneity. He showed boldness, dignity, humor.

Maybe it was the emancipating effect of victory. Certainly the man answering questions Thursday was not the intense candidate whose steely mien, many thought, betrayed an inordinate hunger for the job.

The Jimmy Carter outside the depot was serenely confident. The president-elect doing the job. He seemed in control of himself, in control of the situation.

The hard edges of the campaigner were smooth, fuzzy edges sharpened.

He even managed to back off adroitly from one of the stands he stumbled into in the heat of electioneering, the business about keeping U.S. hands off Yugoslavia.

Somehow, he rounded his position off into acceptable perspectives without seeming, in that old haunting phrase, to have flip-flopped.

Those who knew him best said his wit was always there, just wait.

So, asked how he could unify the nation after losing practically all the Western half, Jimmy Carter smiled. Not a push-button smile. And asked, hadn't he won Hawaii, the Westernmost of all?

He spoke of taxes and of foreign affairs and of his notion of what a mandate meant and he spoke with unaccustomed authority and sureness.

He was at ease.

Could the rustic setting for his first major appearance as president-to-be have had something to do with Jimmy Carter's performance?

The only other times the nation had a sustained look at Carter were in three televised presidential debates. Sterile affairs they were, held in antiseptic arenas, stage-managed to the last centimeter.

This time, by contrast, the president-elect stood not at a plastic lectern but at an antique hand-hewn pine pulpit salvaged from a long-forgotten country church in Douglasville, Ga.

His spectators were not strangers in theater seats but neighbors and some curious tourists, about 400 in all, who stood in the night air to watch from behind hemp ropes strung between green oil drums.

This time his questioners sat on folding chairs borrowed from an undertaker. And his vice president-elect and both their wives and some of their children sat off to one side.

The TV lights glared, a melancholy hint that quiet little Plains would never be the same, not at least for the next four years.

But overhead, a full moon turned surrounding Georgia pines into spearpoints, piercing the crisp November sky. One could indeed sense much that was genuine in Plains, Ga.

Weather

Continued hot and dry throughout the weekend with cool nights. High today 94, low tonight 53, high Saturday 93. The high Thursday was 96 and the overnight low was 54. Saturday's sunrise 6:15, sunset 4:54.

'Family hour' ruled unconstitutional

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The major television networks violated freedom of speech rights guaranteed by the constitution when they adopted an industry group's "family hour" viewing policy for early evening programs, a federal judge has ruled.

But Thursday's decision by U. S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson involving NBC, CBS and ABC didn't abolish the controversial "family hour" on TV.

He just said the networks couldn't delegate authority in family viewing policy to the National Association of Broadcasters, which adopted such a policy to which the networks and 462 TV stations now subscribe.

In a 223-page opinion that included stinging criticism of the networks, the judge also held that the Federal Communications Commission violated the First Amendment "by issuing threats of government action" through FCC chairman Richard E. Wiley "should (the) industry not adopt the family viewing policy or the equivalent thereof."

"This court has no authority to declare an end to the family hour," Ferguson said. But he warned that "censorship by government or privately created review boards cannot be tolerated."

The ruling came in a lawsuit filed in October 1975 by three entertainment guilds, two production companies and nine situation-comedy-makers. They named as defendants the networks, the NAB and the FCC.

The decision wasn't expected to produce any immediate network program changes, although the plaintiffs hailed it as a victory for the constitutional right of free speech.

"Americans everywhere won a victory today," said one of them, producer Norman Lear, creator of CBS' hit "All in the Family." He told a news conference, "The First Amendment was upheld."

CBS and ABC said they would appeal. And CBS, which led the fight for adoption of a "family viewing" program policy by the industry, added: "In the meantime and until further notice, CBS will voluntarily continue to adhere to the family viewing concept."

NBC and the NAB said they still were reviewing the decision and had no immediate comment on whether an appeal would be made.

The "family hour" policy was adopted in September 1975 after network officials and Wiley held a closed meeting earlier that year.

The NAB's family policy says entertainment programs "in appropriate for viewing by a general family audience," shouldn't be aired at night during the first hour of network programming or the immediately preceding hour.

BEACH WEATHER

Record high temperatures drove these people to enjoy the waves at a relatively uncrowded Hermosa Beach Thursday. Santa Ana winds have driven temperatures into the 90s all week though a cooling trend is forecast for the weekend.

For property improvement

Montclair to join loan program

By MAE TATE
PB Staff Writer

Montclair will soon become the sixth city in San Bernardino County to participate with the county in a property improvement loan program.

The Montclair City Council authorized $20,000 of its Community Development Act funds for participation in the program for the remainder of this fiscal year only. Lee McDougal, coordinator of the CDA programs for the city, assured councilmen that the city was not to be listed on any loan provisions and would not be involved in any contingent liability.

McDougal pointed out that the objective of the federal CDA funds is "to cause the improvement of the housing stock within a given area." In considering the options for a proposed property improvement loan program, the staff examined five possibilities before concluding that one offered by Security Pacific National Bank was best.

The housing coordinator described the Security Pacific program as "simple and most effective for this community." It also can be quickly established within two weeks.

Any single-family occupant is eligible to apply for a loan if that individual meets federal and Security Pacific criteria. That establishes that an applicant must be from a low to moderate income family with annual income not exceeding $11,000; of legal age; a property owner; show a steady income for repayment; demonstrate a past payment record; and be an acceptable credit risk.

An individual can borrow a maximum of $10,000 for repairs and rehabilitation of a single-family dwelling and have up to 12 years to repay the loan. The loan can be applied to alterations and extensions, interior and exterior work, and repairs and restoration of important parts of the structure.

Five other cities have established grant and loan programs under the general division of Community Development Act projects. Chino allocated $45,000 for a program that is directed toward the senior citizens. A team of workers goes to individual senior citizen's homes and make necessary repairs up to $500.

Ontario has taken $50,000 for a grant program for the elderly and one phase of the Upland program allows $30,000 for home repairs for the elderly. The second phase of the Upland program allocates $76,800 for a home improvement loan program that is identical to the Montclair program. Fontana allocates $15,000 and Rialto $119,041 for similar programs.

McDougal told the council that it would not be necessary to seek additional employes to coordinate the program.

"This enables us to divert personnel savings into the program to make more loans," he said.

He said that $2,000 would be set aside as a contingency for administrative costs for special advertising if necessary.

Hahn continues his attack against County Fair Board

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The Los Angeles County Fair Board came under attack again this week for not returning to the county any of the revenue it realizes from the operation of the county-owned grounds in Pomona.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn who castigated a five-year contract last week that allows the fairgrounds to operate through 1981 without any county charges continued his barrage.

He asked County Assessor Philip E. Watson to find out how much the county is losing by keeping the 421-acre parcel off the tax rolls.

First estimates supplied by an aide showed that if the land was under private ownership, the county could collect at least $100,000 a year in property taxes, based on a current market valuation of about $10,000 an acre. "They have a million dollars in the treasury," Hahn pounded away in his attack. "Those who make such big profits should return some of it to the county."

Hahn was following through on a report he had asked Harry Hufford, the county's chief administrative officer, to prepare last summer. The report recommended that the county charge some kind of a revenue for the use of the fairgrounds.

Hufford found that the fair association pays about $100,000 to the city of Pomona for permits, and nearly $1 million to the state in betting fees, but the county is getting only $28,000 in property taxes from a piece of land which the fair board owns privately.

Phil Shepherd, executive director of the fair, says his association has been plowing most of its revenue into the improvement and maintenance of the county fairgrounds.

The supervisors have agreed to hold up any action on Hahn's motion to break the contract and write a new one until Supervisor Pete Schabarum returns from his vacation Tuesday. Schabarum, who as First District supervisor has jurisdiction over the fairgrounds, is an ex-officio member of the fair board.

2 men rob store, bind woman clerk

A female employe was left bound at noon Thursday following the robbery of Ron D Enterprises in Pomona in which two men fled with almost $4,000 in loot.

The victim, Sharann Roberts, 33, said the men entered the store at 662 E. Holt Ave., browsed for a while and then each drew revolvers. She was bound with a necktie by the pair who then carried off leather coats, trousers, jewelry and a .22-caliber rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

The leader was described as black, 20 years old, 5 feet 9 weighing 160 pounds. He had long sideburns and wore a long-sleeved blue shirt and and black trousers.

Woman hit, purse taken

A Fontana woman was hit on her head by one of three youths who grabbed her purse and ran Thursday afternoon in Pomona.

The victim, Darlene Harris, 32, told police that she had left the rear of a store in the 1200 block of N. White Avenue when one of the group approached and asked for a cigarette. She told him she had none and turned to walk away when she was hit from behind. Her attacker then grabbed her purse containing a small amount of money and all three youths fled. The victim did not require medical attention.

Her attacker was described as black, 17 years old, 5 feet 6 weighing 135 pounds. He wore a blue nylon jacket with a fur collar and blue denim trousers.

Two women held up

The owner and an employe were robbed late Thursday afternoon in a holdup at DAB Originals, a decorator shop at 165 S. East End Ave. in Pomona.

The owner, Dorothy Ann Bender, 41, said the man waited until customers left before pulling a pistol and demanding money. He looted the cash drawer and took money from her purse and that of employe Lisa M. Hetland, 20, before fleeing.

The man was described as black, 25 years old, six feet tall and thin. He wore army-style fatigues with an insignia on the jacket stating, "Hell On Wheels," and a cap.

Thieves cut phone lines

Burglars cut telephone lines to four Upland businesses Wednesday night before stealing $5,000 in office equipment.

Police said the thieves may have been trying to cut the burglar alarm systems. The businesses are located near Benson Avenue and Foothill Boulevard. They are Horticultural Enterprises, General Engineering, Cirlab, Inc., and Buckle Up.

Good that Kissinger leaving?

LONDON (AP) — The influential weekly magazine Economist says that while many of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's purposes are accepted by President-elect Jimmy Carter, it is a good thing Kissinger is leaving government.

The magazine said: "The Kissinger method was needed to achieve break-through. A return to more usual ways will do no damage now."

Pointing out that Kissinger's style can never be imitated, the Economist added "only the testing of Mr. Carter, whether by the Russians or by America's friends in Europe, will now tell whether the strategy laid down over eight years by Mr. Kissinger under two presidents is to be departed from."

It added many are ready for a less personal approach and that fences need to be mended between Congress and the secretary of state in a way Kissinger probably could not have managed.

Plan for $1.5 million R.H. library unveiled

By BOB NAGEY
PB Staff Writer

The community of Rowland Heights is about to get a $1½ million public library.

Plans for a 15,000 square-foot structure at the southeast corner of Nogales Street and Colima Road were revealed Thursday before the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors by Robert H. Disterick, head of the facilities management division of the county library system.

He was one of two persons who testified before the board at a public hearing required by state law before condemnation proceedings are begun to acquire the site.

Disterick told the board that the library is interested in acquiring about 60,000 square feet, mostly along Colima Avenue. He said a county appraiser has estimated the current value of that parcel at $44,500.

But J.C. Sackett, who said he represented the owners of the property, claimed the parcel was worth a lot more. He charged that leaving the six-acre parcel without any frontage would be "quite damaging financially" to the rest of the land. He said the assessed valuation of the property was $45,000 an acre, but the county was willing to pay only $44,500 for 1½ acres.

The hearing was continued for two weeks because Supervisor Peter F. Schabarum, who represents the district, was still on vacation.

Disterick told the board the county wants to build a new library for the community in place of the present one at 18412 Colima Rd., which is now being leased. He said the community has grown from 11,000 persons when the library space was leased eight years ago to about 32,000 persons last year.

As a result, the 22,000 volumes the present library stocks is no longer sufficient. Disterick said the current formula is to provide two books for every resident. He said on a basis of 32,000 persons, the library would house about 64,000 books.

He estimated the cost of construction at $957,000. The contents were estimated at another $550,000.

Supervisor Kenneth Han, in calling for the two-week continuance, suggested that Sackett, Disterick and the county's real estate department get together and try to iron out their differences.

UAW, Chrysler may beat today's strike deadline

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp., already in accord on money issues, need only to settle a few disputes over job security to agree on a new contract.

Negotiators for the two sides were to resume bargaining this morning in hopes of beating a 6 p.m. EST deadline for a strike by 118,000 U.S. and Canadian employes.

UAW officials were confident that agreement on a three-year contract could be reached in time to prevent an unprecedented second national auto strike in the same year.

UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser said Thursday that the remaining unresolved issues were not complex and could be settled in relatively short order.

"There are some tough issues but it doesn't take a complicated formula to arrive at a decision," he said. "All they have to do is say 'yes,' and we have an agreement."

Fraser said the remaining unresolved issues concerning job security, such as seniority and contracting out work, stem from the recession.

Fraser said the two sides had agreed on all major economic issues based on the industry pattern settlement forged at Ford Motor Co. after a month-long strike. Among the items resolved, he said, was a dispute over Chrysler's supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) fund for laid-off workers.

The UAW had demanded that Chrysler add $4 million in "front-end" money to SUB, charging that the firm mismanaged the fund during the 1974-75 recession by allowing it to go broke while tens of thousands of workers were on layoff.

The UAW has not waged two national strikes in the same year since it first won recognition from the industry after a series of sit-down strikes 40 years ago.

Meanwhile, officials at Ford's Canadian subsidiary said a tentative agreement had been reached Thursday to end a strike by 14,000 UAW workers at plants in Ontario. Officials said they could be back on the job Monday following ratification votes this weekend.

Union President Leonard Woodcock also said recent bargaining in Moline, Ill., with Deere & Co. have been productive."

Mikesell retirement dinner tonight

A retirement dinner for former San Bernardino County Supervisor Daniel Mikesell will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Hall of Fame Restaurant at Ontario Motor Speedway. Mikesell of Ontario resigned recently from his Second District post after more than 18 years on the county board. He cited ill health as the reason.

Reservations may be made by calling 987-1732.

Chino teachers get OK for bargaining election

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Chino teachers received tentative approval from the state to hold an election Dec. 7 to determine which of two certificated groups will represent them as sole bargaining agent with the school board.

The state's Educational Employment Relations Board(EERB) has granted the approval for an election pitting the Chino Federation of Teachers(CFT) against the Associated Chino Teachers(ACT). Teachers, however, also will have the option of choosing "no representative" as allowed under the state's new collective bargaining law.

An election must be held if two teachers groups are claiming to be sole representative. This came about through the state's new collective bargaining law.

The EERB also has approved the use of absentee ballots for teachers gone from the district on election day.

The election date was changed from Nov. 24 which had earlier been agreed on by the teachers and the school district. Personnel Director Lee Doughty explained various dates were discussed, and the EERB decided on Dec. 7.

Teachers will vote at five campuses from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. throughout the school district.

Club for tall people plans party and barbecue

The New Higherups, a club for tall people, has planned a barbecue and party Saturday evening as one of its first events in the valley.

The 5 p.m. party will be at the home of Dan O'Reilly, 702½ W. Holt Ave., Pomona.

The club is open to men who are 6 feet, 2 inches tall or taller and women who are at least 5 feet, 10 inches tall. Members must be between the ages of 18 and 40 at the time of joining.

The club is affiliated with the California Council of Tall Clubs and will be represented at a Sunday executive meeting of the state organization.

O'Reilly said membership in the local club allows for participation in a number of Southland events.

The club was organized in June and is seeking membership from the Pomona Valley. Persons interested in more information about the club or in attending the Saturday party may call O'Reilly at 629-0943.

RTD subsidy OK'd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The board of supervisors has agreed to pay a subsidy to the Southern California Rapid Transit District, assuring that bus fares will remain at their current rate.

The two bodies reached the compromise Thursday for the $4.5 million subsidy for the current fiscal year.

RTD president Byron Cook said last week that unless the subsidy was approved bus fares could increase a nickel to 40 cents a ride.

The fares were boosted a dime in July to their present rates.

The subsidy includes $684,000 for a special fund which RTD can use in 90 days if it can show it needs the funds.

Charges of abuse in mental hospitals go on

VENTURA (AP) — "They strapped my hands behind my back and strapped me on my stomach. I had to lay that way all night.

"They gave me a shot which hurt the back of my skull...I banged my head on the wall because it hurt so bad. The doctor came next morning and said I was imagining the pain."

This statement from a patient at one of California's 11 state mental hospitals was recorded by one of several citizens groups looking into alleged abuses at the hospitals.

Scores of similar cases have been reported — and a few successfully prosecuted.

Last month a Camarillo State Hospital psychiatric technician was arrested after a witness allegedly saw her beat a female patient with a fly swatter and an ice tray, then loop a towel around her neck and begin choking her.

A registered nurse who works at Camarillo told the Associated Press that "choking out" — using a strangle hold to render a patient unconscious — has been often used to quiet rebellious patients.

Beatings, verbal abuse, tying patients to beds with painfully tight restraints, sexual advances to and rapes of mentally disturbed patients — all these have been reported by various sources.

Next week, the Ventura County Grand Jury will be presented with cases of questionable deaths of patients at Camarillo, and finally allegations of brutal treatment may be substantiated or found groundless.

In any case, the public sessions will likely throw a harsh spotlight on staffing problems and the uncertain future facing California's mental hospital system and its 15,000 patients.

The probe is to determine if criminal negligence — or worse — was involved in deaths from strangulation, drug overdoses, drownings and other causes over the past four years.

If indictments are returned, says Assemblyman Ken McDonald of Ojai, "it will be an indictment not so much of individuals but of the system and the Legislature for not doing something about this situation." McDonald said he has heard about poor conditions at the hospital for 16 years.

The hearings, which authorities say may deal with "as many as 75 deaths," will be held in open court under a seldom-used provision in law.

"We hope that the proceedings will be therapeutic" in improving conditions at state hospitals, said Asst. Dist. Atty. Michael Bradbury of Ventura County.

Carried out over the past year, the district attorney's probe was revealed last month at a time when a series of four unexplained deaths at Metropolitan State Hospital in Norwalk led to the scheduling of coroners' inquests.

Prompted by news stories laet month about the Ventura County death probe, the Health Department recently sent investigators of its own to various hospitals.

They have already reported that about one in every 12 deaths studied involved some irregularity.

Raymond Procunier, installed recently as a Health Department troubleshooter by Gov. Brown, said the investigators were also finding "gross problems" including a drug ring and alteration of records, perhaps to cover up patient abuse.

All of these groups began issuing statements of concern or condemnation after the first questionable death this year at Metropolitan. Mark Holcomb, a 19-year-old Garden Grove resident, was found dead in his hospital bed June 19.

The apparent cause of death was said to be choking on his own vomit, but an autopsy examination showed Holcomb had suffered bruises and cuts on his face and neck. His case is still under investigation by the district attorney's office.

In the Camarillo deaths, authorities have not given details of specific cases. But the Oxnard Press-Courier reported that a check through coroners' records beginning in 1973 turned up at least three victims who died of strangulation — two of them reportedly while being restrained by staff members.

Obituaries

Laurentina Dorman

Laurentina Ann Dorman, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dorman, of 12727 Ninth St., Chino, died Thursday shortly after birth, in Kaiser Foundation Hospital, Fontana.

She is also survived by her grandparents, Annie Aguiar of Ontario, Frank Aguiar of Chino, Thelma Amaro of Hawaiian Gardens, and Lyle Dorman of Pomona.

Graveside services will be held Monday at Crestlawn Memorial Park in Riverside, at 10 a.m. The Rev. Robert J. Erickson of St. Margaret Mary Catholic Church in Chino, will officiate.

Griffith Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

David S. Castro

David S. Castro of Livermore died Tuesday at the Livermore Veterans Hospital following a two-month illness.

Mr. Castro was born Jan. 30, 1913, in Frederick, Colo. He lived in Oakland before moving to Pomona in 1947. He worked for the Pomona Post Office before going on active duty with the Navy and serving two years in Korea.

After he came home from Korea, he worked as a bus driver for the Pomona Unified School District. Mr. Castro, as a volunteer, coached track and football at St. Joseph Elementary School.

He was a member of St. Joseph Catholic Church.

Surviving are his widow, Grace M.; three daughters, Doreen Brunswick of Pomona, Dolores Tucker of Poulsbo, Wash., and Kathleen Castro of Spokane, Wash.; 11 grandchildren; his mother, Marion S. of Albany; three sisters, Emily and Sister Marion of Albany and Esther Donner of Berkeley; and a brother, Henry of Pinole.

Rosary will be recited tonight at 8 at St. Michael Catholic Church in Livermore. An American Legion rite will be conducted at 7:30 p.m., preceding the Rosary.

Mass will be celebrated Saturday at 9 a.m. at St. Michaels.

Burial will be in the San Pablo cemetery.

Calahan Mortuary in Livermore is in charge of arrangements.

GLENN STEWART

Poly SLO honors alumnus

Glenn R. Stewart of Pomona will be honored as the distinguished alumnus from the School of Science and Mathematics during 1976 Homecoming festivities at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo on today and Saturday.

Stewart, an instructor at Cal Poly Pomona, was selected by the Cal Poly Alumni Association's Distinguished Alumni Committee.

A 1958 graduate of Cal Poly San Luis Obispo with a bachelor's degree in biological sciences, he received his master's degree in zoology with a concentration in ecology and natural history from Oregon State in 1963.

Stewart began his career at Cal Poly Pomona in 1963 as an assistant professor. In 1968, he became an associate professor and in 1973, was promoted to professor and then named coordinator of the zoology section in 1974.

Dr. Stewart has published 11 papers on reptiles, amphibians, and mammals. His current research deals with the distribution, ecology, and systematics of Pacific Coast garter snakes and rubber boas; microornamentation of reptile scales; and the biology of black bears in Southern California.

Bear fact

The Himalayan black bear is usually a vegetarian and likes honey above all food.

Montclair sponsors 4th band festival

The fourth annual Festival of Bands, sponsored by the City of Montclair and the Montclair High School Cavalaids Booster Club, is scheduled for Saturday.

Leonard Soper is once again parade chairman, coordinating the efforts of 200 volunteers in the final stages of planning. Arnie and Debbie Leis, co-chairmen with Soper, will serve as host and hostess.

The high school band event is expected to pull participants from throughout the Southland. Step-off time is 10:30 a.m. from Montclair High School, the host school. The Cavaliers Band and the Cavalettes Drill Team will lead the parade north on Ramona Avenue to San Bernardino Avenue, east to Monte Vista Avenue, south to Orchard Street and West again to the high school.

The reviewing stand will be located at the corner of Monte Vista and San Bernardino.

Any high school band interested in participating may pick up applications from the Montclair Chamber of Commerce, 10250 Central Ave.

Chaffey Adult School taking registration

Registration is now being taken for second quarter classes, Nov. 15 to Jan. 28, at the Chaffey Adult School.

Persons may stop by the mobile office at fifth street and Euclid Avenue behind the district office or call 983-2010 for further information.

These classes are available:

—Color photography. Ed Teal will be conducting a class in the art of color photography, involving the processing of color transparencies and color print making. The class will meet on Thursdays 7 to 10 p.m. at Montclair High School. Some photography experience is recommended for this class.

—Career and vocational planning. Counseling and individual and group testing will help select jobs or change careers. Bob Brown, a career education specialist, will counsel. Class meets on Mondays 7 to 10 p.m. at Valley View High School.

—Adult basic education. This class is designed for student needing basic work in math, English, reading and social studies. Mrs. Lydia Miner is the teacher and the class meets at The Salvation Army Building, Mondays and Wednesdays, 9 a.m. to noon.

—Business education. Typing and office practice are available in the evening from 7 to 10 p.m. for persons wanting to improve their office skills. These classes are held on the Chaffey High School campus. Morning classes in office job skills and ABC Shorthand are available each morning from 8 to 10 a.m. at Montclair High School. Mrs. Thelma Kramar is the teacher for the morning classes.

—Crafts. This class will emphasize leather, lapidary, plastics and wood carvings. It will meet on Thursdays 7 to 10 p.m. at Upland High School. Herb Christian is the instructor.

—Sewing. Sally Campbell's class on knit sewing has several openings on Thursdays, 7 to 10 p.m. at Upland High School.

"Linear tactics" evolved in the 18th century European army with the development of firearms. The line of battle consisted of two or three ranks, or lines of men, drawn up shoulder to shoulder. Casualties in the line were replaced by reserve ranks. With fixed bayonets the attackers moved forward, keeping their alignment, relatively safe from enemy musketry up to 100 years away.

The World Almanac notes that this was the drill for British troops in combat and that it was ineffective against guerrilla or Indian tactics.

Judge limits steel picket

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge has issued a temporary restraining order to limit picketing by the United Steel Workers' Union at a safe manufacturers' office.

Judge Norman Dowds issued the order Tuesday limiting picketing by the United Steel Workers Union Local 1981 at the Major Safe Co. office in Los Angeles. Dowds scheduled a hearing for a preliminary injunction for Nov. 16.

The court order prevents picketers from coming within certain distances from the company office and limits the number of picketers who may assemble there.

The company's suit seeking the restraining order alleges that several nonstriking employes were assaulted by picketers at the firm late last week.

Woman senator 'proud'

DINUBA (AP) — Being elected California's first female state senator "does make me feel proud," says Rose Ann Vuich, who hopes the unique status will help make her an effective legislator.

Miss Vuich, a Democrat, claimed the 15th District Senate seat with a 2,700-vote margin Tuesday over Republican Assemblyman Ernest Mobley. They battled for the post vacated by the retirement of Republican Howard Way.

The accountant, who helps her brother run several San Joaquin Valley farms, was intrigued by the likelihood that she will obtain more news coverage than normal for a new legislator because she will be the first woman in the upper house.

"I hope they will pay attention to my views," she said in an interview this week. "I'll be a better asset to my district if I get more attention from the press. It will be a help to our agricultural area."

Miss Vuich, 49, the unmarried daughter of Yugoslav immigrants, already benefited once from unusual publicity when her narrow primary victory remained in doubt for several days. That generated extensive news coverage in the area, helping her overcome Mobley's name identification in the district which includes Fresno, Tulare and Kings counties plus part of Kern.

Although never previously elected to a public post, Miss Vuich says she was confident of her chances.

"I felt that I have the qualities and the experience for the job and if I could project this to the voters, I could win."

She has served on the Democratic Central Committee in Tulare County for 12 years, is a Tulare County fair director and past president of Dinuba Chamber of Commerce.

Mobley was surprised that he lost after a decade in the Assembly.

"I really expected to win," he said. "I played it straight. I never attacked her during the campaign.

"It's tough to fight a woman."

Engineers

A national effort is underway to increase minority employment in engineering by 1987, according to The Conference Board. Currently, minorities are scantly represented in the country's second largest professional occupation. Less than 3 per cent of all engineers are blacks, Chicanos, Puerto Ricans or American Indians.

Monthly 'bonus' payment to welfare mothers halted

Federal law has brought an end to the monthly "bonus" payment to California welfare mothers for helping district attorneys locate and collect child support from absent fathers.

State benefit payments director Marion Woods said the bonus phaseout was in the original federal child support enforcement plan and does not signify that the federal government or the state is reducing efforts to collect child support.

"We have made considerable progress in California over a year's time and we are going to continue to be vigilant in locating parents and collecting from them the support they must legally provide their children," he said.

Woods, who administers child support enforcement at the state level, said most welfare families will receive their final bonus check in November, although in some counties the final checks will not be sent out until after the end of the year.

Since October 1975, under a one-year provision of the federal Social Security Act, parents receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) have been able to get incentive payments of up to $20 a month for helping county officials collect from their absent spouses who owe child support.

The bonus came out of the child support payment made directly to the county by the absent parent. It was paid to the mother in a separate check in addition to the regular welfare payment.

Woods said 80,000 of the state's 450,000 welfare families were receiving a total of $1.5 million a month in incentive payments.

He said that in most cases, the elimination of the monthly bonus will have no effect on basic welfare checks. If the change in income level does affect a family's payment, a separate notice will be sent by the county welfare department, Woods said.

The incentive provision was part of 1975 federal legislation establishing uniform procedures for child support enforcement in all states. The legislation established temporary federal cost sharing for the monthly bonus payment to cooperating families in order to encourage participation in the support enforcement program.

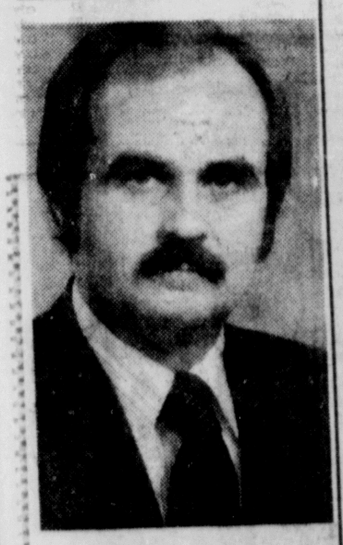
University Club hosts two Swedes

Sture Lindmark, editor-in-chief of Kopmannen, a Swedish economic weekly and Anders Harold Pers, public relations director of the Swedish Association of Industry, will be the guest speakers at the University Club of Claremont Tuesday luncheon at Griswold's.

These two Swedish economists from the area of trade and industry in their native country are on a visit to the United States during the month of November to speak about recent political and economic trends in Sweden.

Moderator for the program will be Franklin D. Scott, Curator of the Nordic Collection, Honnold Library, who once attended the University of Stockholm and while teaching at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., became aquainted with Lindmark who was attending Northwestern.



STEPHEN McINTIRE

B of A branch names loans asst. manager

Stephen "Steve" McIntire has been appointed assistant manager for loans at Bank of America's North Pomona branch, it was announced today by Eber Copeland, manager of the branch.

McIntire, with the bank since 1973, had been a loan officer at the Seventh and Olive branch since 1975. Prior to that, he served as a loan officer at the Lake-Green branch in Pasadena following graduation from a loan officer training program.

He replaces Al Alexander who has been named manager of the Sterling-Highland branch in San Bernardino.

He and his wife, Mary, live in South Pasadena.

Suit against medical assn. dismissed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — U.S. Dist. Court Judge Robert J. Kelleher has dismissed a 1975 antitrust suit lodged against the Los Angeles County Medical Association.

Kelleher on Wednesday dismissed Dr. Morton H. Pastor's suit alleging that physicians could not purchase malpractice insurance unless they paid dues to the association.

Red Cross training

Members of Pomona V.F.W. Post and Auxiliary 2018 and Walnut Post and Auxiliary 9940 and their families have arranged with the American National Red Cross to be instructed in an all day class of multi first aid, Saturday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Pomona Red Cross building.

This is a new form of teaching by a filmed segment, then by practice until 19 such segments are finished in an eight hour period.

The veteran's and their families are seeking to be better prepared to aid their community in the event of a major disaster.

AYSO dinner

A fund raising dinner dance will be held Saturday from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Stanley Plummer Community Building, San Dimas City Hall, sponsored by the San Dimas-La Verne American Youth Soccer Organization.

The spaghetti dinner will feature a salad bar. A four piece band will provide music for dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Ticket reservations may be made by calling 599-2080 or 599-5004. A limited number of tickets will be sold at the door, said the dance chairman Warren Roberts.

Hatha yoga class

The Claremont Parks and Recreation Department will begin a hatha yoga class Monday at 9:30 a.m.

The class will meet at the Baseline Recreation Center, 431 West Base Line Road for six weeks for a fee of $6.50 for city residents and $8 for non-city residents.

Registration is being taken at the recreation division office, 840 North Indian Hill Blvd. Persons wanting more information may call 624-4531. Mats are provided, but students should bring a large towel or blanket.

Trout season starts

The Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park in Ontario will start its third annual trout season Saturday at 7:30 a.m.

Fees for the trout season will be $2 for adults 16 and over and $1 for juniors.

A California State Fishing License is required for adults 16 and over. There is a limit of five trout perperson.

The park is sponsoring a trout derby with trophies and fishing passes to be awarded. The derby will begin at 7:30 a.m. Saturday and continue until 3 p.m. Nov. 14. Categories will be largest single trout and heaviest total limit of five trout. Prizes will be awarded for the top three places in each category.

Parking fees are $1 per automobile on weekends and 50 cents during the week; 10 cents for pedestrians and bicyclists.

Dolls on display

An exhibit of dolls designed and executed by members of the creative doll making class, sponsored by the Upland Recreation Department and Chaffey College, is on view at the Upland library, during November.

"These are originally designed rag dolls," said June Alexis, instructor, "reflecting the individuality of their creators. The dolls range from the saucy and impudent to the fragile and delicate."

Students whose work is on display are Jacqueline Davis, Maria Brower, Irene Gwozdz, Mary Wensorski, Mary Godby and Mary Wegener.

This exhibit will remain in the library until Nov. 30.

Christmas seal kickoff

Highlights of the Christmas Seal Campaign kickoff event on Wednesday, at the Greater Los Angeles Press Club, will be the honoring of two volunteers of the year and selection of the Christmas Seal queen, said Earl B. Smith, president of the Lung Association of Los Angeles County.

Judges of the queen contest will include Will Geer, California Christmas Seal chairman; Ron Cey, sports chairman for the Los Angeles County campaign; Margo Leonetti, beauty and fashion consultant; Ida Mae McKenzie, guest coordinator for the Hollywood Squares TV program; lung association president Smith and TV personality Johnny Grant, who will also serve as master of ceremonies.

Funds raised by the Christmas Seal drive, which has a $1.5 million goal for Los Angeles County, will support the pioneer voluntary health agency's patient services, including free breathing machines and asthmatic children's camperships, public and professional health education and research in all forms of lung disease as well as anti-smoking and air conservation programs.

Medical assistants

The San Antonio Chapter of the American Association of Medical Assistants will be holding its annual recognition night on Tuesday at 7 p.m. at Orlando's Restaurant in Pomona.

Medical assistants will honor their employers with a special dinner. Reservations are required. Persons may call 629-7926.

The cost is $10 per person. Entertainment will be provided by "The Singing Magician."

College speakers

Representatives from four colleges will attend a St. Monica's Guild meeting at Damien High School Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Discussions will involve entrance examinations, scholarships and curriculum.

The speakers will be Stacy Kenney, UC Riverside; Richard York, Cal Poly Pomona; Mitch L'Heurex, Loyola Marymount University; and Howard Theurer, Chaffey College.

County to take over La Verne's criminal matters

The district attorney's office will prosecute all criminal matters for the City of La Verne from now on.

La Verne becomes the 58th city in Los Angeles County to turn its criminal court business over to the county.

The request of the city for the county service was approved Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

City Manager George Caswell says use of the district attorney's office does not wipe out the work of the city attorney who is on an annual contract to advise the city on legal and municipal matters.

Until now, whenever the city had to go to court to prosecute violators of its ordinances it has had to pay extra money either to its legal counsel or to an outside attorney.

Under the proposed agreement the city will reimburse the county for all legal services of the district attorney at a rate determined by the office of the auditor-controller.

Cucamonga girl hurt

A loaded cement truck crashed into the side of a car coming off the San Bernardino Freeway offramp at Euclid Avenue in Ontario Wednesday morning injuring a 17-year-old Cucamonga girl.

According to Ontario police, the cement truck driven by William Francis Jarboe Jr., 31, Glendora, was southbound on Euclid Avenue when it struck the car driven by Sherri Lynn Hansen of 8378 Via Airosa, Cucamonga.

Miss Hansen managed to get out of the car moments before it caught fire. She was taken to San Antonio Community Hospital for treatment of her injuries, and later released.

Chapman wins scholarship contest

Ronald D. Chapman has won the Century III Leaders' scholarship competition at Claremont High School, according to John Mann, principal.

The contest is part of the nationwide competition for $116,500 in scholarships at the state and national level. The program is administered by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and funded by Shell Oil Co.

Runners-up in the competition are Ann Benjamin, Seth Chandler, Bob Cooke, Luis Rocha and Kathy Vignoli.

Members of the local selection committee were Dr. James Martin, associate principal; Lawrence Ganzell; scholarship counselor; James Hill, social science department chairman; Mrs. Carrie Steele, PFA representative; and Brian Williamson, a senior at Claremont High School.

Graduating seniors' entries were judged on the basis of their leadership potential with emphasis on community and extracurricular activities, high scores on a current events exam, and on their writing viewpoints about America's needs and challenges for the future.

Chapman now competes with other high school winners from around the state for two $1,000 scholarships and an opportunity for the $10,000 top national scholarship.

The two California winners will receive an all-expense-paid trip to the second annual national Century III Leaders Meeting in Colonial Williamsburg, Va., in March 1977, to participate in seminars on current issues.

Hand nails

Until a Frenchman invented a wire nail-making machine in 1834, all nails were made by hand. These cut nails, fashioned from strips of iron, were so valuable old barns and houses were once burned down to salvage them from the ashes. Nails are still sold in pennyweight sizes. For instance, a three-inch nail was called a 10 penny because that's what it cost for 100 of them.

16-year agreement with clearinghouse ends

Red Cross pact cancelation affects valley

By VONNE ROBERTSON
PB Staff Writer

The American Red Cross has canceled a 16-year agreement with a national clearinghouse set up to exchange blood credits and the division will affect the blood donor program in the valley.

The Red Cross conducts the blood donor program in most of Los Angeles and Orange counties and all of the centers in the eastern part of Los Angeles County.

San Bernardino and Riverside counties, on the other hand, are a part of the American Association of Blood Banks and will remain a part of the clearing house program.

This means that it will no longer be possible to donate blood in Los Angeles County and have the blood credit transfetred to a friend or relative in the other counties, according to Dr. Loren Spencer, chairman of the Pomona Red Cross.

Dr. Spencer explained that it was the credit, in most cases, which was transferred, not the actual pint of blood.

Both Red Cross and AABB leaders admit that a fundamental difference in philosophy is the basis for the disagreement.

"The AABB believes that the person who receives the blood should be responsible for replacing it, either by securing donors or by paying for it," Dr. Spencer said.

"The Red Cross, however, believes that the entire community should be responsible for maintaining an adequate supply for its people."

"The exchange program has not generated any additional blood to meet the community demand. Instead, it has been an expensive paper program in which the Red Cross has ended up supplying much of the blood used by AABB," added the Pomona physician.

Last year AABB collected and distributed about 3.8 million units of blood in the United States. Its members transfused about 8 million units.

The Red Cross collected and distributed about 4.2 million units mostly to AABB members. Unlike the AABB, Red Cross is not involved in actually giving transfusions.

The credits for all this blood were recorded by a clearing house organized by AABB and Red Cross in 1960. Red Cross withdrew its participation as of Oct. 19.

"We expect an outcry from some people who have built up credits with the Red Cross and now, in possible situations, will be asked to pay for blood," Dr. Spencer said.

In the past, individuals have received one credit for each pint of blood they donate, and the credits could be used for their own future needs or for those needs of a friend or relative.

By leaving the clearing house, the Red Cross will no longer be able to transfer to persons needing blood credits those earned by friends or relatives who donated blood elsewhere in the country.

However, the program within Los Angeles and Orange counties will remain essentially the same.

Red Cross officials say they are working on an alternative system to rectify the problems nationally. But they admit that an effective program has not yet been worked out in California.

The Red Cross system of community responsibility for blood supply would eliminate a nonreplacement fee charged a blood user without blood credits. The AABB officials feel that if the incentive of this nonreplacement fee is eliminated, people will be less motivated to donate blood and that this will result in a blood shortage.

Dr. Spencer added that the problem in Los Angeles County is complicated by the fact the county donors have not been able to meet the needs of its citizens in the past year and have had to be supplied with blood from outside of the county.

He feels that the confusion over the split from the clearing house may complicate the problem even more.

Wage talks between Pomona and municipal employes

Budget cuts or strike possible

By ED PRATHER
PB Staff Writer

Major budget cuts or a strike by municipal employes looms in Pomona as the stalemated wage talks between the city and miscellaneous workers moves into a new round.

Recommendations for a settlement of the six-month long debate were received this week from independent arbitrator Ben Nathanson, but appear unpopular with city management and, perhaps, employes as well.

In a letter to employes, John Adams, director of Local 660 of the Service Employes International Union, AFL-CIO, asked the 340 employes represented by the union to accept the arbitrator's findings or authorize strike sanctions against the city.

On the other side, City Administrator Jerrold Gonce has calculated that acceptance of the recommendations would cost the city an additional $350,000 — roughly 20 cents on the city tax rate, although taxes could not be raised this year.

Highlights of the recommendations include a one-time $350 bonus for all miscellaneous employes, which does not include policemen or firemen, and continuation of the city's health-dental insurance coverage for both the employe and dependents.

Other recommendations included denial of the union's request for overtime pay instead of compensatory time off, and denial of the union's request for additional night pay for employes working late hours.

Gonce said that the City Council will discuss the arbitrator's findings during an executive session following Monday's 8 p.m. council meeting.

The recommendations are not binding upon the council, which can choose to implement or reject all or part of the arbitrator's award.

Adams said the union's poll of the membership would be tabulated today by representatives of the state conciliation service, but that the results would not be announced until next week.

It is expected that city and union spokesmen will meet to discuss the recommendations by late next week.

Although neither side in the dispute has announced its position in relation to the recommendations, it does not appear that settlement is near at hand.

For the City Council to authorize full acceptance of the recommendations, budget cuts, perhaps in the form of layoffs, would probably be required.

Because the council is not likely to take that course — full acceptance — Gonce was critical of the union's "all or nothing" poll of the membership.

"The union seems to be attempting to provoke some type of job action," wrote Gonce in a memorandum to city department chiefs today.

He said the council will be considering "alternative positions."

During the arbitrator's hearings with city and union representatives on August 6 and 12, the union had asked for a $70 per month raise for employes, while the city had offered a one-time bonus of $200.

The city had also sought to eliminate city-paid coverage of dependents under the health and dental plan, claiming that the dramatic rise in health care costs was out of hand.

According to city calculations, it costs $35.25 per month for health insurance for the employe, $78.54 per month for an employe with one dependent, and $97.40 per month for an employe with two or more dependents.

The union had counter-argued that the dependent coverage benefit had been agreed to by the city previously and that the city should continue to bear the cost despite the increases.

Health coverage for dependents may prove to be the key consideration for council members since it locks the city into a fringe benefit that escalates in cost without any control by the city.

Mobile home destroyed by blaze

A fire, possibly caused by a faulty water heater, destroyed the structure and contents Thursday afternoon of a mobile home unit at 1096 E. Mission Blvd. Pomona.

Pomona firemen were called to the scene by the mobile park manager Ernest Britton at 2:11 p.m. Britton and another resident of the park, Arthur Lucas, had attempted to enter the trailer, but the fire and smoke was too extensive.

The trailer, owned by Chelsy Smedley of Claremont and rented by Anna Ayala, was totally involved when firemen arrived and it took 17 minutes to control the flames.

Miss Ayala said she left the trailer about 10:10 a.m. The fire started in the restroom where there was a hot water heater and a small, portable heater.

She told firemen that there had been a minor fire caused by the hot water heater a week earlier and that Smedley was to have had the heater repaired, but didn't.

The estimated loss to the trailer and contents was $12,000. A second trailer in space 22 suffered heat damage to the front, broken windows and scorched curtains, awnings and paint. The damage at this trailer, also owned by Smedley and rented to Harry Hopkins, was estimated at $2,000.

Fireman Michael May punctured his right foot on a nail while extinquishing the fire and later received a tetanus shot.

Battalion Chief Don Skews was in charge of the two engine companies, a truck and rescue units.

Uplander found dead in his auto

An Upland man was found dead in the back of his stationwagon Thursday, the victim of apparent glue poisoning, said West End sheriff's deputies.

The victim, Kenneth Everett Adams, 47, of 590 W. Arrow Highway, was declared dead at the scene. His vehicle was parked near a Chino cornfield.

Officers believed Adams lost consciousness after sniffing the glue, tipping over a 32-ounce can. The glue, they said, contained deadly poisons.

Property tax bills will come earlier in '77

Los Angeles County residents next year will get their property tax bills two weeks earlier than they did this year.

For years the bills went out on Nov. 1, but the county was criticized this year for giving the taxpayers so short a notice before the Nov. 2 general elections. Subsequently, the bills went out Oct. 28.

The motion to send the bills out earlier was made by Supervisor James Hays after County Tax Collector H. B. Alvord said his office could get the statements out by Oct. 15.

The move prompted Supervisor Kenneth Hahn to urge the rest of the board to "take a new approach" to reducing or eliminating taxing agencies which have been "collecting taxes for decades but are no longer necessary."

He singled out the county's mosquito abatement districts contending that their work was appropriate years ago when the county was overrun with mosquitoes.

"But now, we have been paying millions of dollars for closed storm drains, and the mosquitoes have just about all left the county," Hahn said. "Do we still need any services from these taxing agencies?"

Hahn also went after the office of the county superintendent of schools, contending that some of the services offered by that agency were duplications.

"On one hand, they levy taxes to aid the handicapped, on the other hand they have another tax levy for special training," he said. "There has to be some duplication in that."

Alvord said there were 600 separate taxing agencies throughout the county."

$12,000 fire in Ontario kills pet dog

A fire, possibly caused by a smoldering cigarette, gutted a duplex apartment in Ontario Thursday night causing the death of a pet dog and $12,000 damage.

When Ontario firemen arrived at the home of vacationing Virginia Marshall, 212 E. Granada Court, at 6:18 p.m. the kitchen and attic were engulfed in flames.

Firemen entering the blazing home found Mrs. Marshall's pet dog dead of smoke inhalation and burns.

Fire inspectors said a woman friend of Mrs. Marshall, left in charge of the home and feeding the dog, left the duplex about 18 minutes before the fire was reported.

Inspectors said the fire appeared to have started on a desk in the kitchen and spread rapidly into the wall paneling and attic. Two filled ashtrays were found in the rubble next to the burned desk.

Firemen prevented the flames from spreading into the living room of Mrs. Marshall's home and the adjoining residence.

Chino CHP officer may have been a target

A California Highway Patrol officer believes he was shot at Thursday while on patrol duty near Chino.

Officer Doyle Williams reported he was driving on Euclid Avenue south of Riverside Drive when he heard three reports which sounded like gunfire and then a small object struck his car.

He called for assistance, and sheriff's deputies and other highway patrolmen who responded later found a a bullet hole in the window of a market at the northeast corner of Euclid and Riverside.

Officers said a spent bullet slug and fragments of glass were inside the building. They believe the shots were fired from a Eucalyptus grove. But a search of the area revealed no sniper.

Take a plane ride for 3 cents a pound

The San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the Ninety-Niners, an international organization of licensed women pilots, will offer plane rides for three cents per pound at Cable Airport, Upland, on Saturday.

A minimum charge will be $3 for the benefit event.

In addition to the plane flights, the event will include sailplane, gyrocopter, hang glider and helicopter displays as well as displays of experimental and antique aircraft. Airport will provide movies and literature and the General Aviation District Office will have its vertigo chair and films on hand.

The Ninety-Niners will apply part of the proceeds toward such projects as the chapter scholarship, the Amelia Earhart Scholarship fund, and Air Space Education funds.

In addition, a portion of the proceeds will go to ACE (Alta Loma, Cucamonga and Etiwanda) and Upland youth soccer organizations.

A snack trailer operated by the Alta Loma Little League will sell refreshments.

Children under 18 need a signature of a parent to ride.

The Cable Airport is located at 13th Street and Benson Avenue in Upland.

Chino council takes no stand on Expo

Chino city councilmen have declined to take an official position on the controversial Expo 81 proposed in Ontario.

The council this week opted for no action after a request from the Claremont City Council for support of that council's resolution opposing the world's fair.

Councilwoman Eileen Carter, who was critical of Expo at a previous joint meeting of the Chino and Montclair city councils, said she wanted to wait for an environmental impact report before recommending a positive or negative vote on Expo.

"Claremont's resolution is a good one, but there are other considerations such as sewage, transportation and buildings that should be included in it," said Mrs. Carter.

Mayor Bob McLeod said he did not have enough information on Expo yet to make a decision. "What I've heard is far from encouraging but I'm not opposing it."

McLeod asked the council if it desired to take a position on Expo 81, but the other members declined.

Pedestrian safety program canceled by O-M trustees

At the request of the cities of Ontario and Montclair, the Ontario-Montclair School District board of trustees agreed Thursday to cancelation of Safetytown, a pedestrian safety program started in the district schools last spring.

After much discussion, the trustees reluctantly agreed to release both cities from the contract, but asked that the school district and the two cities get together to set up an equivalent program.

Lauren Wasserman, Montclair city manager, told the board the program costs too much in repairs, insurance, moving expenses, and employe time to justify the educational advantages. The district had a three-year contract under which it paid the cities $1,500 for the program. The main element of Safetytown is two huge mobile units equipped with traffic safety simulators.

The board of trustees also voted varying salary increases to some 30 administrative and confidential employes to bring their salaries, based on responsibility, into line with those of other school districts of similar size. Increases, retroactive to July 1, ranged from $61.64 for the secretary to the superintendent to $136.57 for elementary school principals.

Three measures affecting school board candidates received the approval of the trustees. It was agreed to hold an election March 8 for posts of members whose terms expire March 31 — Rose Kelber, Reta Spencer and Clifford Donaldson.

The board voted that in case of a tie, the winner will be decided by a flip of the coin.

A matter of mutual trust

Negotiations between Pomona's public school teachers and the school board have degenerated to a raw struggle for power.

This situation is damaging to the entire community and most particularly to the children in our schools.

Exploiting children for economic or political gain is deplorable.

Public education is a tax supported business. It must be run as a business, fairly, efficiently and dependably with integrity and with honesty.

And, most importantly, its sole purpose must not be forgotten. Public education exists to educate minor children.

We strongly feel that as a business, public education in Pomona must be managed by management, not by the employes.

Management must retain control with the support and cooperation of employes if the purpose of public education is to continue in Pomona.

To achieve this state, there must be mutual trust, achieved through compromise, and a willingness on the part of both board members and employes to work towards one common goal — the education of children.

Each child in the public schools deserves that pledge.

We commend members of the school board and those representing the teachers for the many long hours they have devoted to attempting to negotiate a 1976-77 contract under the Rodda Act.

It is new and for the first time gives public employes the right to collective bargaining under the law.

Now we urge representatives of both sides to bargain in good faith, make the compromises needed to settle the negotiations and get back to the job of teaching children to function in a difficult world.

Government's too liberal

Dear Editor:

The media regularly feeds us statistics purporting to show the level of unemployment. These figures are somewhat questionable. They are based upon registration, usually requesting benefits. Many claiming benefits are not all that interested in working. Others have exhausted their benefits and therefore do not get registered as unemployed.

Take Dolly for example; after 30 odd years of work an illness provided a much more profitable solution than work. She has since received salary continuation, state disability, compensation insurance, possibly social security and of course, unemployment insurance. She just couldn't afford to go back to work at this stage.

Sure, some of the claims were ripoffs, but our government is very liberal. Many of our so-called unemployed will not work as long as the benefits last.

The question is, are benefits high because of unemployment or unemployment high because of benefits? The error? Perhaps two to one per cent if the unemployable not registered are considered. Thus a reported unemployment rate of 7½ per cent becomes 5½ per cent. Not good, but not as bad as reported.

Retain the canal

Dear Editor:

As a voting citizen of the United States of America, I feel we should all, as Americans, support our continuing control of the Panama Canal.

Why give away something we have worked so hard to build up for so many years?

If every concerned citizen would just stop and consider the time and work gone into this project to let it go so easily without a fight. And who will be the ones to gain? It scares me.

Or how much more we will have to pay for everything that passes through the Panama Canal. I cannot believe we Americans are not more concerned. I urge everyone to support America's retention of the Panama Canal.

Just in jest

The statisticians recently announced that the use of paper in the United States will amount to 615 pounds per person this year. It must be remembered, however, that this was an unusual year. That astounding total includes sample ballots printed in both English and Spanish, the campaign literature of thousands of candidates, and also their bumper stickers and telephone pole posters.

Then too, had this not been a political year, the newspapers throughout the land would not have had to add on millions of extra pages in order to give their readers the complete texts of the three great Presidential debates as well as the Vice Presidential between-the-acts non-title bout. — -So, thanks to our politicians, whole forests were wiped out in order to supply the wood pulp necessary to manufacture that extra newsprint.

But, as any politician will tell you, the increased paper production provided employment and helped speed up economic recovery. — Also, regardless of who is elected, the winners will be able to point with pride in 1977 to how well their paper conservation efforts are working.

Who knows? With a catchy slogan like, "Was that last square of toilet tissue necessary?" they may even be able to cut this year's 615 pounds of paper per person statistic down to 600 pounds and still be able to send out monthly news letters to their constituents.

Reform in checking needed

By EARL G. WATERS

The revelation by the Department of Motor Vehicles that upwards of $2 million in checks proferred in payment of over 27,000 individual registration and license fees are annually dishonored postulates the problem which exists in business transactions in today's world of finance. Almost everyone, including the government, operates on credit or in something other than cash.

Not too many years ago government agencies refused to accept checks. But their use has become so widespread that even such holdouts as the Post Office have bowed to modern methods. There are of course numerous good reasons for people to avoid carrying cash not the least of which is the fear brought on by an uncontrollable criminal element. The government imposed necessity of keeping good records to satisfy the tax collectors also has led to the universal use of checks and credit cards.

Other than the extra work bum checks cause the Motor Vehicle officials their problem isn't too serious. In the handling of more than 9 million checks with a total value of over $770 million it isn't a large one. And although the average cost of collection for the bad paper is $19 the department recovers part of that in a $5 charge. Since most are for vehicle registrations the delay usually makes the payment delinquent which adds a 50 per cent penalty. And since the department has the power to seize and sell a vehicle whose owner has paid the registration with a worthless check the state experiences small loss and escapes any net loss.

A good percentage of the checks dishonored are for insufficient funds. Those kind are known in the trade as NSF checks and the penalty for passing such is a felony. That fact and the 50 per cent penalty assessment and $5 charge plus ability to take away a vehicle tends to the belief that most dishonored checks result from inadvertence.

That NSF checks are usually unintentional is apparently the experience also of most others in the world of trade. Certainly prosecution for NSF checks has become so rare that police departments are reluctant to spend time investigating complaints of such. They have found that people are quick to offer restitution and judges are reluctant to impose any penalties.

There was a time when NSF check passers were being sent to prison by the droves. Concerned legislators bucked at the felony penalty and reduced it to mere county jail time if the amount was under $100. Some also suggested that stores should handle check cashing in the same manner they extend credit with non-payment being simply a civil matter. The suggestion was also made that the banks should establish lines of credit behind all personal checking accounts.

It took a while for the idea to crystalize but most of the major banks today have established credit behind the accounts of their checking patrons. This however has been limited to carefully screened bank customers.

Perhaps it is time for the banks to review their programs. If checks, which have become very much the way of life, are to be given the instant honor which appears demanded, no bank should open a checking account without establishing a line of credit for the customer. If that were done the possibility of bad checks being something other than deliberate would practically be eliminated.

It would then become pretty much a matter of intentional fraud and the police and the courts might treat offenders far more seriously.

The banks not only have nothing to lose but much to gain since they collect a high rate of interest for credit extended on overdrafted accounts. Furthermore, it would seem they have a responsibility for making the system work in the best possible manner for they created it.

Shortage of gas ahead?

The Environmental Protection Agency's demand that the petroleum industry "get the lead out" could lead to a gasoline shortage next summer as bad as that during the 1974 oil embargo, three separate studies have warned.

The reason is that the mandated cutback in the amount of octane-boosting lead in gasoline will reduce the industry's total gasoline-making capability at the same time as gasoline consumption is soaring.

The EPA's schedule calls for gasoline lead content to fall from a current 2.0 grams per gallon to 1.0 in January 1977, 0.8 in January 1978 and 0.5 in 1979.

According to John O'Hara, president of the National Petroleum Refiners Association, which sponsored two of the studies, the EPA doesn't need a lead phaseout schedule at all since 20 per cent of the gasoline now sold is unleaded, primarily purchased by owners of 1975 and 1976 vehicles. He estimates that the 1977 car fleet will boost unleaded gasoline's share of the market to 30 per cent by this time next year, 40 per cent in 1978 and so on.

This natural phase-out of lead would bring total lead content down to under 1.0 grams per gallon by 1979 and 0.5 by 1981, he says.

Whether or not a gasoline shortage develops, another question is what is going to happen to the millions of older cars that were not designed to operate on low-lead or no lead gasoline. Many owners of these cars have had to turn to premium gasoline to get decent performance, and indications are that some refiners may drop their premium grades because they require more lead.

Think on these things

A team is a group with specific parts to play. In all wisdom, they know a lot about every part, but they play their own position with precision and efficiency.

Every player cannot be captain and every person cannot play quarterback. The part may be small, but if it is played with fairness and dignity — giving all — then it will be as important to the successful outcome as the biggest job in the organization.

The practical view of cooperation is vivid in John Dickinson's thought: "By uniting we stand; by dividing we fall." We are only as strong as the weakest, only as cooperative as the spirit in which we work.

Making a decision is difficult enough without losing one's determination to follow through on it. How long has it been since any of us proved to ourselves that we can take a definite stand and mean business in carrying out a plan?

Refusing the responsibility of decision making is like warning a child to behave and then ignoring his misbehavior. We betray ourselves by not having the spunk to support our own beliefs — our own good intentions. If we do not trust ourselves and show it, who else can we depend on to whip us into shape? It is a lot less painful to do it ourselves.

The Capitol-Korea connection

WASHINGTON — The South Korean effort to seduce members of Congress has been two-tiered. Rev. Sun Myung Moon, the Korean holy man, took the high, ecclesiastical road, and Tongsun Park, a Korean entrepreneur, followed the low, wayward road.

Both men have been tied to the South Korean lobbying campaign by the Washington Post, which cited "electronic evidence." According to the Post, a tape recording apparently exists of a discussion between South Korea's President park Chung Hee, Moon aide Park Bo Hi and the shadowy Tongsun Park.

At the meeting, the three men worked out "a plan to influence U.S. congressmen," the Washington Post reported.

The South Korean government has denied any connection between President Park and entrepreneur Park. Moon's man has denied the meeting ever took place and has challenged his accusers to produce the alleged recording. There have also been over-the-shoulder denials from Tongsun Park at airports from Tokyo to Paris.

Both the ecclesiastic and the entrepreneur, nevertheless, suddenly became active on Capitol Hill in the early 1970s. By the beginning of this year, we were able to count 19 Moon missionaries operating on Capitol Hill. We reported on Jan. 12, 1976: "They stroll the hallways daily, buttonholing senators and congressmen, offering free trips and other inducements."

Moon himself made two evangelical appearances on Capitol Hill before our calls made it impossible for him to find a sponsor who would arrange a room for him. At no time did we question his right to deliver a religious message; we were troubled only by the political overtones. Congressmen reported to us, for example, that Moon missionaries had offered them free trips to Korea.

Those who heard Moon preach on Capitol Hill say he delivered a strong anti-Communist message, laced with Christian philosophy. They recall that he linked the United States, Israel and South Korea as the three great bulwarks against communism. He also defended Richard Nixon during the Watergate crisis.

He spoke in Korean, with Park Bo Hi delivering the translations. Koreans told us that Moon's remarks were often rambling and ambiguous, but the translations invariably were precise and pointed. Our sources have the impression that Park, indeed, is the Rasputin behind the benevolent, smiling Moon.

Each of the evangelist's appearances on Capitol Hill was attended by about 100 people. Perhaps 15 to 20 were members of Congress, the remainder aides and secretaries. Rep. Bill Chappel Jr., D.-Fla., introduced Moon at the first rally; Rep. Richard Ichord, D.-Mo., made the second introduction.

The Moon movement's biggest catch in Congress was House Speaker Carl Albert. We reported on Dec. 9, 1975, that Susan Bergman, a young, hazel-eyed disciple of the Korean religious-political cultist, had developed a curious relationship with the powerful speaker.

In the mornings, she would greet him in the hallway and present him with flowers. Then she would brew Ginseng tea for him in the small kitchen down the hall from his office. She would serve it to him in the speaker's ornate chambers, where she stayed for an hour or two each morning.

When the speaker left to preside over the House, sweet Susan would often appear in the House gallery in the special section reserved for congressmen's families. She would watch the speaker in action hour upon hour.

Albert described the Moon missionary to us as "just a nice girl, a very nice girl, a Jewish girl from New York. She got all hepped up on the Lord Jesus and she just wants to share it. I think that's a nice thing. She's trying to convert me." As he talked, we noticed a black-covered, gold-trimmed copy of Moon's catechism, "Divine Principle," on the speaker's shelf.

While the Rev. Moon quoted the Bible to religious congressmen, Tongsun Park allegedly passed out cash and gifts to the irreligious. The Washington Post, quoting federal investigators, has charged that he distributed between $500,000 and $1 million each year to congressmen and other Washington officials.

We first got wind of Park's activities in early 1974 when we caught him on a strange trip with Rep. Richard Hanna, D.-Calif. We told the story on April 1, 1974.

A classified cable from the U.S. embassy in Sana, Yemen, reported that the congressman "was joined here by a Mr. Park, a former South Korean national engaged in shipping, elaboration of foreign investment opportunities and apparently political lobbying in Washington."

The curious pair also visited Saudi Arabia and Egypt. Indeed, an obliging State Dept. arranged accommodations for the Korean operator.

We asked Park why he happened to be touring the Middle East with a congressman. They traveled together, said Park, because Hanna "is like my brother."

Nice girls are interesting

The wages of sin look pretty tempting.

Elizabeth Ray, the kiss-and-tell girl whose telling destroyed the career of Rep. Wayne Hays, is now in the pay of magazines, her book has sold 1 1/2 million copies, she has been offered an acting role in a movie — and she's miserable.

Both the prosperity and the misery are genuine.

Before long, you'll see.

Meanwhile, a British authoress, Barbara Cartland, has written 19 novels in the past year — all of them are best sellers — her heroines are all highly moral, chaste; her books are about old-fashioned romantic love . . . And she'll sell 10 million of her books this year!

Britain's Barbara Cartland has written 200 books. At the age of 75 she still turns out about 20 books a year.

This year's titles include: "The Elusive Earl," "An Angel in Hell," "The Wild Cry of Love."

If those titles sound lurid, the contents are not. The heroines of Cartland books are all entirely proper ladies.

Some more titles: "The Incredible Honeymoon," "Conquered by Love," "Hungry for Love."

Twenty such novels a year she averages — with a now-and-then cookbook thrown in. Book dealers report that her books need no promotion. People come in asking for "the latest Cartland book." And there are sometimes two new ones every month.

Her books head all of Britain's best-seller lists.

It took a lot to convince American book dealers that Cartland innocence would sell but now there's an increasing American appetite for her books.

How come?

Miss Cartland's heroes are handsome, wholesome and nice; her heroines are beautiful, bashful, virginal.

She has been writing since she was 5 — 70 years ago — but only in recent years has she come back into style.

She hasn't changed; we have.

And in the literary bazaar crammed with pornography, as The Wall Street Journal explains it, "Miss Cartland has cornered the market on virgins."

Despite the titillating titles of her books, their settings are more likely to be a moonlit garden than a darkened bedroom. All of the fictional characters in her novels keep their clothes all the way on.

"I'm always a little in love with the heroes of my books," she says. "I would not want them to be crude, rude or vulgar." The most racy resolution to any romance in a Cartland book is a final fadeout on a fiery kiss.

Her son helps with research. She dictates three chapters a week — every week. She insists she neither knows nor cares about money. She finds her 350-acre estate "comfortable" and her white Rolls Royce a "convenience."

But she's happiest when she is working, most fulfilled when she is falling in love with her own fictional heroes — and it pleases her to know that the world loves them too.

Ann Landers

Sharing an experience

Dear Ann Landers: God bless you for your reply to the young man who was despondent over his homosexuality. I spent 14 years of my life (I'm 30 now) trying to accept my homosexuality. I was the son of a small-town businessman and scared to death to admit to myself or anyone else that I was gay.

Finally I met a man I wanted to settle down with. Although we hid our relationship from all but a small circle of friends, we had a wonderful life and were very happy together.

When he left me I felt as if my whole world had fallen apart. I was brought up in a Christian home and heard so much about the sinfulness of homosexuality that I stopped going to church.

Fortunately, I met a kind and understanding clergyman who spent many hours helping me see that God loves all his children — gay, straight, whatever.

Since all else failed, I took his advice and gave God a chance. Ann, it was the best decision I ever made. I prayed, "Lord, I am gay and I don't think I can change. Please take control of my life. Thy will be done."

Soon after I prayed I felt serene and at peace. A month later I met another man with whom I plan to spend the rest of my life. I also found the courage to tell my parents. They accepted it beautifully.

I don't recommend to all gays that they tell their parents, but I do urge them to go directly to God, as I did. I have never felt so fulfilled and contented. Life is beautiful. — Your Friend

Dear Friend: Thank you for sharing your experience. And now a word to all who read the Bible faithfully: Please don't tell me to look up Genesis 19, Romans, chapter 1, Leviticus 18:22 or 1 Corinthians 6:9-10, etc.

Help is where you find it.

Dear Ann Landers: This letter is for "Skinny Winner," the woman who dieted for her husband's sake, went into therapy after regaining her weight the second time, ditched Mr. Turn-Off and lost her 55 pounds again.

I'm a 16-year-old girl who weighs about 30 pounds more than she should. I recently decided I am NOT going to be fat the rest of my life. I can and will get myself down to a size 8 dress and stay there.

So far I've lost ten pounds. Both my father and boyfriend are anti-fat. Daddy fought the weight battle last year and lost 50 pounds. A few years ago I dieted and lost 30 pounds but I gained it back because I had done it for the men in my life. This time it's for ME.

I have accepted full responsibility for my fatness. No one puts food into my mouth. And no excuse is good enough to be fat. It's not only unattractive but a health hazard.

Listen, men with fat wives or girlfriends, mothers with fat daughters. Get off their backs. Leave them alone. I know from experience if you lay off they'll do something about it eventually. Let it be for themselves, not for you. It's the only way they will keep the weight off forever. — Thinner Now Than A Month Ago

Dear Thinner: Beautiful! What an upper for those fatties out there who need emotional support. Let me know when you hit size 8.

Don't flunk your chemistry test. Love is more than one set of glands calling to another. If you have trouble making a distinction you need Ann's booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request and 50 cents in coin to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Imagination on marquees

What's needed around here on theater marquees is a little imagination. Why not show "Earthquake" and "The Poseiden Adventure" and bill the double feature as "Rock and Roll?" Or show "Car Wash" along with "Jesus Christ, Superstar" and bill the program as "Cleanliness Next to Godliness?" That's all I can think of right now. Any others?

All know that history records it was once a crime for a medical student to dissect human cadavers. A client asks why. That fierce prohibition dated all the way back to the Middle Ages when the curious cutters discovered that man did not lack a rib as everyone had been led to believe by the biblical story of the creation of Eve.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q. "I know the world's longest gorge is the 217-mile stretch of the Grand Canyon down the Colorado River in Arizona. But where is the world's deepest gorge?"

A. Hell's Canyon, Snake River, Idaho, at 7,900 feet deep.

Q. "How long has it been since a Russian husband or wife could get a divorce simply by mailing a postcard announcing that intention to the partner?"

A. Just 59 years. After that, the divorce laws over there started to tighten up.

Q. "If I spend 10 hours on the road driving at the 55 m.p.h. speed limit, how far would I travel with my eyes closed because of blinking?"

A. Figure about 44 miles.

PLATFORM SOLES

Those shoes with the ridged platform soles may look dandy, but they put an unnatural strain on ankles, legs and hips. Or so say the medicoes. Contention is girls who wear same long enough may wind up strolling in a slightly awkward manner, stiffly, as though they'd learned first how to walk on frozen cattle crossings.

New Guinea tribesmen for years believed the world to be no more than five generations old. That's because they had no written histories. All stories of bygone times were word-of-mouth. As the elders died and memories faded, the five-generation timespan notion remained constant.

Next time you walk past a glassed-in monkey at a zoo, please note the glass isn't there to protect you, but rather the monkey from whatever germs you happen to be carting about with you.

Would you say a woman who tapemeasures 37-25-35 has the ideal figure? Harold Minsky, the burlesque expert, thought so. At least, those were his preferred measurements for the young ladies he decorated to go on stage.

Pooch likes to lick pennies

DEAR DR. MILLER: Had we known about Jack's peculiar fondness for pennies earlier, we'd have named him "Small Change." He loves to chew on or just lick them. Might this mean he lacks copper? Is it necessary in a dog's diet? — T.D.

DEAR T.D.: Pure copper's hard to find in small change these days. Whether your pooch's penny penchant is related to deficiency or idiosyncrasy would be up to Jack's doctor to determine. Copper, but not in penny-sized doses, is required for blood, bone and skin. But Jack could do better than consume coins to collect that required copper. Commercial dog food contains an adequate supply of copper, without the hazard of coin-caused complications.

DEAR DR. MILLER: I'm happy to report that Iggy, my iguana, isn't going to hibernate — I don't think. I'm keeping her warm and interested to keep her awake. I'd also like to feed her something besides lettuce, which she seems to be stuck on. What other food can you suggest for an iguana? — L.K.

DEAR L.K.: Including other foods in Iggy's diet would be simple enough, but getting her to eat them may be considerably more difficult. However, the following foods have been favored by some iguanas and are all desirable: Thawed frozen mixed vegetables, flower petals (carnations, dandelions, roses), dog food, young mice, fresh fruits, crickets and mealworms.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Two years ago I lost my male cat with cancer of the lymph glands. Last week, my sister's cat, also an older male, had to be put to sleep because of the same thing. She's going to get another cat soon and is wondering, well, we both are, whether males are more apt to get this cancer than females or was this just coincidence? Is there any cause known for lymph gland cancer? — D.R.

DEAR D.R.: Lymph gland tumors usually lymphosarcoma, are, as with most tumors, more common in older animals and they are, indeed, more common in males. Males are a greater risk with this disease primarily because they're more likely to be exposed to the feline leukemia virus which causes it. Male cats tend to come in contact with more other cats during their adult life, so their odds of being exposed to, and infected by, another cat with feline leukemia virus are greater.

Strangers in Paradise

Although I am not what you would call an ardent scholar of the Bible, I did wade through Genesis one time — a thousand laughs. A lusty young male and a nubile female romping about the Garden of Eden in the nude, and all they're interested in is an apple on a tree? Wonder there's a human race today!

The story of Adam and Eve — factually accurate as we fundamentalists know — is one of the most enchanting and most ignored legends in the literature of science fiction. The innocent fable is more convincing than Noah and the whale, more dramatic than David in the lion's den, more exciting than Salome and the Dance of the Seven Veils. It has all the makings of a smashing good disaster film. I wonder if the copyright has expired?

Suppose you were Adam, okay? One day you wake up a fullgrown man in a jungle where flowers and fruits abound. Nothing before you but the life of the lotus eater, ease and luxury, peace, calm and fulfillment. Then one morning, after a long sleep, you wake up to find a voluptuous female lying beside you. But you are more interested in oranges and limes than in, er, women. That's not too smart. You're both in the buff and all you can think about is the citrus crop. Mighty queer.

The Garden of Eden is a jewel as housing tracts go, rose plot, fringed pool, fern'd grot, but here's this chick munching apples all the time. When you recover from your major surgery, you long to be out again among the peaches and plumbs, carefree and gay, but she has other things on her mind.

You think that the Garden of Eden is paradise enow, but there were certain shortcomings. For one, Eve is the only dollybird in your little black book. After the "E's" it's Endsville. What if Eve is busy that night? Or has a headache. The Playboy of the Middle Eastern World would find his activities severely restricted with only one filly in the stall.

Modern man's customary retreats from the trials and tribulations of domestic life were denied to our proud progenitor. Could he go down to Bill & Sally's Bar and Grill and drink beer and shoot pool with the boys? What boys? What beer? Could he go to Espiau's and watch the game-of-the-week on the telly? (If it were really Paradise, he'd never have to listen to Howard Cosell.) Poor Adam — no bowling, no frolicking at go-go joints, no backyard barbecues or drive-in movies. How do you suppose he spent his time?

Finally, of course, if you have followed the scenario through Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers and Deuteronomy, you know that Adam and Eve's lease expired and The Landlord kicked them out into the outer darkness where there was wailing and gnashing of teeth. And not a moment too soon for the future of the human race.

And did Adam, sitting with his cronies over a flagon of mulled wine in a mud hut on the banks of the Euphrates, look back with wistful longing on his lost youth, the innocence of those days in the garden? Eve by then would have grown fat and querulous, demanding that Adam stay home more, grind corn, not drink it, tend the garden. "Pay a little attention to your children, it wouldn't hurt you!"

Standing in the kitchen in a faded wrapper and hair-curlers, Eve would snarl at Adam that Cain is flunking out of school and what's this she heard about Adam and Lot's wife?

It is recorded that Adam lived to the age of 930, but you have to wonder why.

Dr. Lamb

Trim weight to help heart

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have been diagnosed as having "chronic ischemic heart disease with hypertension." I would appreciate your definition of the word "ischemia" and I would like to have any suggestions in regard to the treatment and diet for this disease.

I am 75 years old, a retired lady with a weight of 150 pounds. I am sure this is too much weight for a person who is 5 feet 1.

Presently I am taking hydrodiuril and Aldomet. Are these two medicines adequate for this heart disease?

DEAR READER — Ischemia is a word for inadequate blood flow. The term is now used frequently to indicate there is an obstruction in the coronary arteries to your heart muscle. The obstruction is from the buildup of fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

This condition leads to inadequate amounts of oxygen being delivered to the heart muscle and at the same time permits the accumulation of carbon dioxide in the heart cells. It is the common form of heart disease these days.

The Hydrodiuril is to help you eliminate salt and with it excess water from the body. It helps to lower blood pressure in many cases. The Aldomet is a more specific treatment for elevated blood pressure.

These medicines help your heart indirectly by controlling your blood pressure. The high blood pressure increases the deposits of fatty-cholesterol substances in the arteries and also works the heart harder.

You are absolutely right about your weight. If you can get rid of every last pound of extra fat you will decrease your blood pressure and the work on your heart.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 1-3, Diet, Preventing Atherosclerosis. If you will follow these diet principles and also cut your calories down until you can lose your excess weight you can do a lot for yourself. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Just send your letter to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Some health articles recommend eating liver, kidneys, hearts and tongue. My friend tries to tell me they are too toxic. What do you think?

DEAR READER — The organ meats available in the grocery stores are not poisonous. Almost all of them are fairly high in cholesterol. A three-and-a-half ounce (100 grams) serving of liver, raw weight, contains 300 milligrams of cholesterol, more than you find in an egg yolk. However, it is very low in fat.

Lean heart muscle is low in fat and is much lower in cholesterol. Tongue is both fat and contains a moderate amount of cholesterol. So, I think you can eat these organ meats in moderation. However, I would like to say that the vitamin content of these organ meats can also be obtained by taking almost any of the all purpose daily vitamin pills without increasing your intake of cholesterol.

What people say

"There are so many talented writers, directors and actors, I just can't help thinking what a pity it is that we don't have a medium that calls out for the best, but calls out for the worst in them."

— Abby Mann, creator and writer of the short-lived but critically acclaimed series Medical Story.

About this, that

Bungalow comes from the Hindustani "bungla" meaning "of our belonging to Bengal." Bungalows were the types of houses occupied by Europeans in Malaysia, resembling the homes common to the natives of Bengal.

Astrographs

By Bernice Bede Osol

For Saturday, Nov. 6, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could find yourself brooding because you just can't seem to make ends meet today. A frivolous outlet later in the evening won't help.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may feel outmaneuvered when dealing with others today. Trying to take it out on the family will only add to your problems.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You're a careless thinker today and won't pay enough attention to essentials. It's best to avoid working with tools or machinery.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't speculate while socializing today. You might end up feeling victimized and blame your "pals."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone will stand in the way today, and hamper your chance of obtaining a long-sought goal. A fresh start will be necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't be talked into putting anything on paper or making verbal commitments today. You're not getting all the facts, and could make a big mistake.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone you thought you could depend on will not be able to help you today. Personal obligations will take precedence over everything for them.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't try to match wits with sharpies today. Wait for another time when you're thinking more shrewdly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's not a good day to try to get complicated chores out of the way. Unforeseen hazards could cause additional problems.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your plans for a good time might be rained out today. Those you want to get together with could be tied down with other commitments.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Bringing dead weights into the picture could be your downfall where important goals are concerned. They'll create opposition in all directions.

PISCES (Feb. 21-March 20) You could find yourself skidding around corners today in your efforts to get your work done. Organize first. Then proceed.

Your birthday Nov. 6, 1976

Be persistent this year where important goals are concerned. If unable to proceed it the pace you'd like, remember: The rewards are worth the efforts you expend.

Time is the greatest power

The greatest power in the world can literally shake the top of a mountain, carve it and crumble it to bits. This same power that can churn a granite mountain into dust also has the power to come into a human heart, heal a wound and change a soul. It is a power that you need to tap to make your dreams come true and change your destiny.

What is this power? It is TIME. Time changes everything. Today face your problem with patience. "Wait on the Lord: be of good courage, and He shall strengthen your heart." (Ps. 27:14)

Patience puts power in your heart and dreams. You can become the person you want to be and you can succeed in a most phenomenal goalsetting plan, if you're willing to pay the price in terms of time. Almost anything can be accomplished by the patient person.

Different than Ford

Economist says Carter to be active president

NEW YORK (AP) — The major difference between the Ford and Carter administrations will be the difference between a passive and an active president, said Walter Heller, the economist.

"Out of that activity we can look for both a bolder attack on the jobless problem and a more broad gauge, broad spectrum anti-inflationary program, said Heller, one of the Demcoratic party's most influential advisers.

Heller said that despite a more active role, Carter's respect for and understanding of the market mechanism makes it highly unlikely that wage-price controls will be imposed, as businessmen and others have feared.

"There's been a lot of misunderstanding on that issue," said Heller, adding: "He doen't want legal sanctions but instead a sense of responsibility from big business and big labor." Carter's wage-price program will be voluntary, he said.

"I've discussed this with Mondale and with Carter and I see real respect for the working of the market system. But where it doesn't work and where antitrust cannot handle the problem there will be guidelines," Heller said.

Because of his close association with Carter and Vice Presidet-elect Walter F. Mondale as an adviser, and because he served as chief economic adviser in the most recent Democratic administrations, Heller was asked his opinions Wednesday on changes to be expected.

On the issue of jobs, which appeared to play a large role in Carter's victory, Heller said he found the president-elect listening to a variety of programs but that no final choice has been made.

"I find that Carter understands you cannot get down below 5 per cent unemployment with fiscal and monetary measures without getting into inflation," said Heller. "He knows you have to go the last mile with structural measures."

Heller said "It is very important that he understands that, and "very important that the country knows Carter doesn't fit the big spending image." He realizes, said Heller, "you can't just open the spigots."

Carter, he said, will not "try to flood the economy with fiscal and monetary stimulus," but instead will seek to focus his efforts on the specific employment problems, on the "structure" of unemployment.

The thrust of Carter's effort therefore, he said, would be to have government provide "meaningful incentives to private business to give jobs and training to the hard-core unemployed."

Carter, he said, will also seek deregulation of industry in cases where it leads to "price propping" and the stifling of competition.

The president-elect, he said, is also sympathetic to the concept of government acquiring buffer stocks of commodities that could be released in order to control speculative demand that leads to higher prices for basic goods.

Similar stocks have been maintained before but solely for national defense purposes. The idea of using such stocks to control prices results from a staff study of the 1974 commodities price explosion that, said Heller, indicated 40 per cent of the spiral could have been averted.

Speaking again of Carter's feelings on wage-price restraints, Heller commented: "He wants to retain and unchain the Council on Wage-Price Stability to focus just on the concentrated industries and really big business and big labor and get them to sit down together."

He said Carter has expressed himself very specifically on this approach. The president-elect, he said, wants large units "we think of as non-competitive" to report major wage-price decisions in advance to the council.

Heller said he thinks a good objective analysis then can be made, and that when it is determined that increases are unjustified, "the President will use jawboning."

Heller said Carter believes presidential leadership might work where other methods have failed. An example of this, he said would be in convincing labor that "it is just as well off with 5 per cent wage increases and 2.5 per cent inflation as it would be with 8 per cent increases and 5.5 per cent inflation."

A prerequisite of such leadership, he said, is responsible fiscal and monetary policy. "While Carter is an activist, he'll have a well modulated fiscal and monetary program," said Heller.

"He really understands that no longer can you handle inflation by the demand side only, but that you have to move to supply," he observed.

Concluding, he commented that one thing you can expect, "and everyone who worked with him agrees," is that merit will be a very major consideration in appointments. "It will be an administration of merit and competence, of really cracking good appointments."

Would he serve again? Said Heller, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers under both Kennedy and Johnson: "I've done my stint in Washington."

Sea clams and mussels now eatable

SACRAMENTO (AP) — It's time again to eat sea clams and mussels, reports California Health Director Jerome Lackner.

Lackner said Wednesday the seasonal quarantine on the shellfish was lifted Oct. 31.

Barring abnormal conditions, sea clams and mussels taken along the Californa coast should be safe to eat until May 1.

The quarantine is imposed each spring when the shellfish develop toxic levels high enough to harm humans. Lackner said it was imposed in late March this year because of an increase in the poison-producing micro-organism that clams and mussels eat.

Bridge by Jacobys

By OSWALD & JAMES JACOBY

The late Sonny Moyse, longtime editor of the Bridge World magazine, was one of the most exciting players. He would have been one of the greatest, if it were not for his penchant for taking some action on every hand. Here is one of his triumphs.

It was a pair tournament. Moyse sat West and decided that he just could not let North play at two diamonds. After all Sonny was looking at 13 high-card points and a five-card suit. However he had to go to the three level to bid clubs. He could bid hearts at the two level and did just that. East might well have raised to three, but East knew something about Sonny's bidding and passed.

South looked at his two aces and decided to try two no-trump. Sonny doubled! He didn't want East trying three hearts. Everyone passed and Sonny opened the king of clubs. Since the doubleton queen-10 appeared in dummy and no one held four clubs, Sonny collected five club tricks.

Meanwhile, South discarded down to two queens and six diamonds in dummy. He was going to make his contract if diamonds broke.

Diamonds failed to break for him and he was held to four tricks so East and West scored 1100 points.

Ask the Jacobys

A Pennsylvania reader wants to know the meaning of a four-spade opening bid.

The answer is that it means whatever the partnership wants it to, but practically all experts, including the Jacoby's use it to show a hand such as

or

♠ K Q J 10 x x x x ♥ x x ♦ x ♣ A x

In other words, eight playing tricks and not too much in high cards.

MONTGOMERY WARD CHARG-ALL SECURITY PLAN

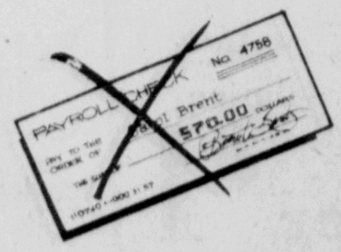
For Wards credit customers only: 5-way protection with Wards CSP!

Here's how Wards Charg-all Security Plan* can help you:

*An insurance program provided by Montgomery Ward Life Insurance Co. of Chicago and the Central National Insurance Co. of Omaha. Marketed by the Signature Agency Inc., a licensed insurance agency.

CSP is credit life insurance!

If you or your spouse suffers death or dismemberment before age 66, your Charg-all account will be paid in full up to $5000. And after age 66, you both are covered for accidental death and dismemberment.



CSP helps if you lose your job!

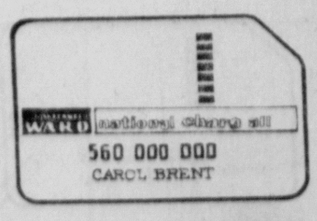
If you involuntarily lose income through job loss, strike or layoff, your monthly payments to Wards stop, too. CSP makes the payments for you up to 9 months. Loss of income due to illness or disability is not covered.

CSP is property protection!

Should your Wards-bought possessions be damaged or destroyed by fire, flood, windstorm, vandalism or 15 other perils they will be repaired or replaced, up to 3 years from date of purchase for an amount up to the highest balance upon which a premium has been assessed.

CSP is burglary insurance!

If anything purchased and charged to your Wards account is burglarized from your home—or anywhere in the world—CSP will replace that merchandise up to 3 years as stated above.



CSP is credit card protection!

If your Montgomery Ward Charg-all card is lost or stolen and misused, any unauthorized purchases charged to your account are paid by CSP! Under Federal law this liability can be up to $50.

The cost of peace of mind.

CSP costs ½ of one percent of the previous month's Charg-all balance. So if your balance was $90 one month, CSP costs you 45¢. Or if your balance was $160, the premium is 80¢.

Apply for a Charg-all account at any Wards store, or call toll free 800-241-8444. Ask for operator 185.

DEAR CHARG-ALL CUSTOMER:

At Montgomery Ward, our interests go beyond selling merchandise. We are concerned with the general good and welfare of the people who buy our merchandise. In today's unstable economic conditions, we want our customers to feel secure not only about the quality of what they buy at Wards, but secure as well that an unforeseen calamity will not deprive them of the full use of the merchandise they buy. Secure that involuntary loss of job income will not impose unbearably heavy burdens in paying for purchases already made. Secure that loss or theft of their Charg-all card will not subject them to any penalty whatsoever. Secure that their families are not faced with indebtedness in the event of personal tragedy. These are the problems that Wards CSP can help to solve. Wards Charg-all Security Plan is innovative in the field of consumer credit. If, ten or twenty years from now, most major retailers are offering their customers similar protection, I think Wards can be justifiably proud to have pointed the way.

Richard Cremer

Richard E. Cremer
President—Signature Agency, Inc.
The Wards subsidiary that developed and administers CSP.

IMPORTANT: This is an announcement of Wards CSP program. This month's mailing of statements to active uninsured Wards Charg-all credit customers will include a brochure giving full details of CSP and a CSP Enrollment Form. Please read the brochure fully and take advantage of this limited enrollment period to sign up for CSP. If you do not have a credit account at Wards, CSP is one more good reason to open a Charg-all account. You are invited to apply for an account at your nearby Montgomery Ward retail or catalog store, or call toll free 800-241-8444. Ask for operator 185.

CSP is backed by the resources and steadfast integrity of its underwriters, the Montgomery Ward Life Insurance Company of Chicago under certificate 150-038, and the Central National Insurance Company of Omaha under form CN 7221 (revised 9/75). Available only to Charg-all customers residing in the state of California. CSP-1

Rumsfeld promises orderly transition of dept. to Carter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld promised on Thursday to give representatives of the incoming Carter administration "every opportunity" to present their views on the next defense budget, the B1 bomber and other issues.

But Rumsfeld made no commitment to let those views guide defense decisions by the outgoing Ford administration in its final two months.

"We have the responsibility until noon of Jan. 20 and we intend to fulfill that responsibility," Rumsfeld said.

The Ford administration faces the task of completing a budget to be sent to Congress before the new Carter administration takes office.

Earlier than that, the Defense Department is expected to make key decisions this month on whether to approve production of the controversial B1 bomber and to choose a contractor to fully develop the advanced XM1 tank.

President-elect Jimmy Carter is on record as opposing production of the costly B1 at this time, while the Ford administration has given every sign that it is ready to order the bomber into production even though its cost has once again risen, to a new level of $22.9 billion. The $1.3 billion increase is attributed to inflation.

Rumsfeld appeared without advance announcement at a Pentagon briefing to report on plans for an orderly transition in control of the giant Defense Department to the new administration.

He said he intends to remain in office until Jan. 20 and that he is considering asking other key officials to do the same.

Rumsfeld said he had talked with President Ford about the transition and that Ford told him he wants the changeover in power to proceed "in a manner that serves the nation well."

"We recognize that we have the obligation through Jan. 20, and our goal is to see that the transition is handled smoothly," Rumsfeld said.

He told reporters that we will attempt to see that we develop a base budget that is well scrubbed and tight."

Normally the new administration makes adjustments in such a final budget proposal of the administration it succeeds.

Rumsfeld indicated, as he has before, that the Ford budget proposal for fiscal 1978 will be bigger than $121 billion, a record figure forecast by Ford last January. Carter has said repeatedly during the recent election campaign that the budget could be trimmed between $5 billion and $7 billion without harming U.S. military strength.

"We are at a very early stage of the transition," he said, and the Pentagon has not yet been contacted by Carter administration representatives.

"We want to be as cooperative as possible in making it go well," Rumsfeld said.

At the same time, he said, "You don't want to have 18 hands on the steering wheel."

Reality of her son's victory hasn't hit Miss Lillian yet

NEW YORK (AP) — Lillian Carter, mother of the president-elect, said Thursday that the reality of Jimmy Carter's victory hasn't hit her yet and that she has "gone through so much in the last 22 months, that it's just kind of anticlimax."

"Last night I was so tired I just hit the hay," she told interviewer David Hartman on the ABC "Good Morning America" program.

As she spoke from Plains, Ga., the 78-year-old Mrs. Carter said the town was not back to normal, nor did she think it ever would be.

"I'm kinda glad," she added. "This is the first excitement we've ever had. I believe if we'd had this kind of excitement when Jimmy was a little boy, he'd have been a little bit badder ... when he was little there was nothing to tempt him into town."

She answered negatively when asked if she'd ever been inclined to go into politics, adding that she had a chance once to take her husband's place in the state legislature when he died.

"But I didn't take it. I had more interesting things to do," she said.

She said she'd always let Jimmy know when she disagreed with him, but she doesn't plan to do anything like making suggestions about who he should name to the Cabinet.

"Jimmy doesn't pay a bit of attention to me about things like that," she said.

To a suggestion that she now may be known by the title "first-grandmother-elect," she responded with pleasure, only amending the title to Grandmomma, as the children call her.

"It feels wonderful," she said, to be able to answer the telephone with the words "This is the President's mother."

She said, "I've been saying, 'This is Miss Lillian' for years and years and years. I have a new title."

Carmaker reduces prices

DETROIT (AP) — In a move to bolster lagging sales, American Motors has cut the sticker price of its 1977 Gremlin by $253, or 8 per cent, making it the lowest-priced domestic car for the new model year.

AMC President William Luneburg announced Thursday the subcompact will carry a base price of $2,995. He added the reduction takes affect immediately for all cars in dealer stock and for orders placed beginning today.

The new price compares with the $3,248 set at the start of the new model year several weeks ago, and even undercuts the price for a comparable 1976-model, which sold for $3,082.

The sticker is the manufacturer's suggested retail price and does not include options or taxes. A company spokesman said the price for options, which often add 20 per cent to the cost of a car, have not been changed.

Judge drops his plan to sniff drug

BOSTON (AP) — A Massachusetts judge who said he wanted to sniff cocaine before deciding a case involving the drug has dropped his plans because the proposal "has taken on the dimensions of a circus act."

Judge Elwood McKenney issued a statement today in Roxbury District Court saying, "I feel that it will be impossible for the result to be meaningful, and I am, therefore, canceling the experiment."

He added his decision in the cocaine possession case against Richard Miller would be handed down in the near future.

McKenney said last week he would not rule on the case until he had tried the drug. Lawyers for the defendant argued the charges be dismissed on the grounds cocaine is a "harmless, nonaddictive recreational drug."

James Lawson, one of the lawyers representing Miller, had arranged for Richard Resnick, associate professor of New York Medical College and a director of the school's Division of Drug Abuse, Research and Treatment, to perform the experiment.

McKenney had been expected to go to New York to take the drug.

A spokesman for McKenney said District Court Chief Justice Samuel Zoll supported the decision made today by McKenney.

Zoll had expressed concern about the "impact on the entire district court system" of the proposed experiment.

Saints can clinch title

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Crucial games in the San Antonio League and the Hacienda League highlight tonight's schedule of high school football games in the valley.

Perhaps the most important of all is the HL clash between San Dimas High and Alta Loma at Chaffey College at 8 p.m. If the Saints can pull that one out, they will clinch at least a co-championship. And with Ontario the final opponent on their schedule, the Saints would appear a good bet to win the title outright if they win tonight.

The SAL's chief contest tonight will be the Ganesha-Garey game at Mt. San Antonio College at 7:30. The Giants' 4-1 league record positions them just half a game behind the undefeated Vikings, tied with Damien for the league lead at 4-0.

Meanwhile, Damien will face the challenge of Chino, the only team to defeat the Spartans in league play in 1975. The Spartans will host the Cowboys, Montclair will entertain Pomona and Claremont will celebrate its Homecoming against Upland at Citrus College, all at 7:30 p.m.

Other HL games tonight will find Ontario hosting Walnut at Chaffey High, Gladstone at Bonita and Sierra Vista against Royal Oak at Charter Oak High, all at 8 p.m.

American Christian and Calvary Baptist will close out their Christian League schedules this weekend. The Cougars will host Victor Valley Christian at John Galvin Park tonight at 7 p.m. and ACA will meet Liberty Christian at Oak View Elementary School in Huntington Beach Saturday at 1 p.m.

The game against Liberty Christian should determine whether the Minutemen get into the eight-man football playoffs.

The Minutemen trail Liberty Christian by one game entering Saturday's contest — the Huntington Beach-based school defeated ACA the last time they tangled, 38-0.

If the locals can pull off an upset they would tie Liberty for the league championship, virtually assuring themselves of a berth in the eight-man playoffs, which begin next Friday.

If the Minutemen lose, they will have to hope that the CIF office awards them one of the two berths left over after the six league champions from the eight-man division claim their playoff spots. That is not a likely proposition, since two teams that are currently second in their own leagues — Flintridge in the Prep League and Maranatha in the Academy League — are ranked ahead of No. 10 American Christian in the CIF eight-man poll.

Another team that can guarantee itself a playoff berth with a win tonight is San Dimas, the seventh-ranked team in the CIF 2A poll. The Saints have become the valley's leading prep team in both offense and defense by scoring an average of 25.6 points per game while surrendering 6.1 per game.

But Alta Loma's stats are nearly as impressive: 22.7 points scored per game and 7.9 allowed.

Another team with more than a passing interest in the outcome of the San Dimas-Alta Loma game is Walnut. The Mustangs are tied with the Braves for second place at 4-1 and trail San Dimas (5-0) by just one game.

If the Braves should upset the Saints, Walnut could pull into a three-way tie for first place with a win over the host Jaguars.

Bonita can stay in playoff contention with a win tonight over Gladstone, a team that has lost 23 straight games. The Bearcats are 3-2 in league play.

Ganesha will pit two very quick halfbacks — Floyd Eddings and Bennie Gooden — against a very quick Garey defense tonight at MSAC.

Both teams carry four-game win streaks into the contest. Garey is the valley's only undefeated team, with a tie against La Sierra the only blotch on its record. A win for the Giants tonight would move them ahead of Garey in the standings and would mean that the postponed game between Garey and Damien would have to be made up on Nov. 13. If the Vikes and Spartans both win their remaining two league games, they will share the championship and will not make up the game.

Damien is riding a five-game winning streak, tying it with San Dimas and Chaffey for the longest string of victories among valley schools. Chino has won but two games and tied one in seven outings, but the two Cowboy wins have come in the past two weeks.

Claremont and Montclair will be trying to even their league records tonight while their opponents — Upland and Pomona respectively — will be trying to salvage something of their miserable seasons. The Red Devils are still winless on the year and the Highlanders have just one victory — over the Devils.

WAITING GAME

Steve Myer, former MSAC star, stands on side lines watching Seahawks play. The rookie quarterback appeared in one exhibition game, but has not played during regular season.

Free agent bidding begins

NEW YORK (AP) — And now, the bidding begins.

Super-agent Jerry Kapstein's Providence, R.I. offices opened for business bright and early today and baseball owners and general managers will be lining up to talk money with the man who represents 10 of the 24 free agents selected in Thursday's free-agent clearance sale.

"We have appointments with clubs in both leagues starting Friday," said Kapstein, who watched quietly in a corner of the room as baseball divided up the available talent.

Thirteen players were chosen by the maximum 12 teams and nine of those men are clients of Kapstein.

The most popular player at the start of the draft was Oakland outfielder Joe Rudi, who was selected six times on the first round. The first player to be removed from the list of eligibles was Oakland catcher Gene Tenace, who reached his 12-team limit midway through the third round. Kapstein represents both of them.

Others chosen by the 12-team limit in order were Rudi and another Oakland outfielder, Don Baylor, outfielder Gary Matthews of San Francisco, pitchers Don Gullett of Cincinnati, Bill Campbell of Minnesota, Wayne Garland of Baltimore and A's reliever Rollie Fingers, infielders Bobby Grich of Baltimore, Sal Bando of Oakland, and Dave Cash of Philadelphia, and pitcher Doyle Alexander of the New York Yankees.

The first man drafted was Baltimore outfielder Reggie Jackson, who was picked by the Montreal Expos. But Jackson's reported asking price of $3 million for five years, may have scared off some teams and he did not reach the 12-team limit until the 14th round of the draft.

Under the draft's ground rules teams are permitted to sign no more than two free agents each unless they lose more than that number. Only Oakland, with eight players available and six drafted, Baltimore with four and California with three, can sign more than two.

Charles O. Finley, owner of the Oakland club, went almost the limit, drafting throughout the first 10 rounds and selecting such old friends as Jackson, the outfielder he traded to Baltimore on the eve of the 1976 season.

There were some interesting bidding battles set up by the draft.

The New York Mets and New York Yankees, for example, both had Jackson, Baylor, Grich, Matthews, Gullett and Oakland shortstop Bert Campaneris on their shopping lists.

The Yankees, meanwhile, were more concerned with other American League East teams than they were with the Mets.

"The teams in the different divisions are watching each other very closely," said George M. Steinbrenner, principal owner of the AL champions. "The Orioles watched us like hawks."

The Chicago Cubs made the fewest selections of any of the teams participating in the draft, picking just four players—Tenace, Campbell, Baylor and Garland. Each of those four were also selected by the Cubs' crosstown American League rivals, the White Sox, who made 18 selections, the most players picked by any club.

Two players, veteran first basemen Willie McCovey and Nate Colbert, were not selected by any teams and thus become free agents available to all 24 clubs.

Myer waiting for a chance to play

SEATTLE (AP) — Steve Myer confesses he is not a scrambling quarterback. In fact, he is not even a playing quarterback at present.

The Seattle Seahawks' fourth-round draft pick from the University of New Mexico says his lack of scampering probably is one reason he has yet to throw a pass in the first half of his first season in the National Football League.

Left-handed first-year quarterback Jim Zorn, who not only can scramble but also can run, is another reason. And a third is that Coach Jack Patera apparently has settled on veteran Bill Munson as his No. 2 signal caller.

"I don't consider myself a runner. I never have been and, who knows, I probably never will be," says Myer.

"Jim's got a lot of ability," Myer says of Zorn. "He sets up in the pocket pretty well. He's a good thrower, but he's also a good runner. That makes him that much better."

The 22-year-old Myer, who completed more than 53 per cent of his passes for nearly 7,300 yards and 57 touchdowns in his college career at Mount San Antonio in Walnut and later at New Mexico, says his primary asset "is throwing the ball, setting up in the pocket.

"I think Jim's biggest asset is that he can scramble. Right now, with our ball club, I think we need a quarterback like that. We're an expansion team and we've been through a lot of mistakes and letdowns. You need to have somebody who can make the big play."

Myer's only appearance was in the fourth quarter of a 52-7 preseason loss to Denver.

"It really is frustrating. I'd sure like to be playing a lot more," he says. "You go out to practice every day, not doing much, even in practice. But you have to look at it kind of philosophically.

"You say, 'Well, I'm a rookie and I've got a lot to learn.' I feel I'm getting ready to play. You can't have any lapses. You have to know what you're doing, too, knowing your offense and knowing how to read coverages. Once you get that down, a lot just comes from experience. You have to be doing it all the time."

He admits to feeling fortunate at still being a member of the team. "When we got Munson and we had four quarterbacks again, I was worried," recalls Myer, one of nine quarterbacks who reported to training camp last July. "I was thinking, 'Oh, gee, what are they thinking? They want a veteran to come in. They don't like the rookies.'" But third-year pro Neil Graff was cut and Myer stayed.

"I'm glad I made it," he says. "That's the important thing."

Champions' field is set

ARCADIA (AP) — Honest Pleasure will lead seven horses from eastern tracks Saturday at Santa Anita in the $350,000 Champions, one of the world's richest horse races.

Ten horses will compete over the mile and one-quarter for the $240,000 first prize.

Top weight of 126 pounds will go to King Pellinore, a world record setter at the The Champions distance earlier this year and winner of the Oak Tree Invitational here last Sunday. The horse will probably be ridden by Bill Shoemaker.

Next high weight of 125 pounds will be aboard Riot In Paris, who will probably be ridden by Laffit Pincay Jr.

Honest Pleasure, who has won four $100,000 stakes races last summer, will carry 121 pounds. Should the Florida-bred horse win, he would become the 20th millionaire in thoroughbred racing history.

L'Heureax, a stakes winner on both grass and dirt, will carry 118 pounds, while the only filly in the race, four-year-old Proud Delta, will carry 117 pounds.

49ers to juggle lineup for 'Skins

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — San Francisco 49ers Coach Monte Clark has announced a couple of lineup changes for the National Football League's game at Sunday against Washington.

Keith Fahnhorst is starting ahead of Cas Banaszek at right tackle, and Ralph McGill is returning as starting safety.

"We're not counting Cas out," Clark said Thursday. "I just think Keith deserves the chance to start." Banaszek has been starting at the offensive tackle spot since 1968. Fahnhorst is in his third NFL season.

McGill was replaced in the lineup by rookie Bruce Rhodes after suffering a concussion four weeks ago against the Los Angeles Rams.

Hurt Gopher can't limp

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The University of Minnesota football team has been crippled by numerous injuries this season, but one of the Gopher players is really in bad shape.

Offensive tackle Jeff Morrow, who has an injured right knee and a sprained left ankle, says, "I can't even limp."

Mariners tab unknown

NEW YORK (AP) — The Seattle Mariners opened the American League baseball expansion draft today by selecting Ruppert Jones, an outfielder from the Kansas City Royals' organization, as the No. 1 pick.

Jones played in 28 games for the American League West Division champions and batted .216. The 21-year-old left-handed hitter spent most of the 1976 season at Omaha of the American Association.

The Toronto Blue Jays who, like the Mariners, will begin play next season, followed by choosing Bob Bailor, a 25-year-old shortstop from the Baltimore Orioles' organization.

Bailor appeared in nine games for the Orioles in 1976, batting .333. He spent most of the season at Rochester of the International League, this third year with that club, and hit .311 with one homer and 12 RBI.

Seattle's selection of Jones was announced by entertainer Danny Kaye, part-owner of the Mariners' franchise. Jones batted .262 with 19 home runs and 72 runs batted in at Omaha last season.

The 12 established American League teams protected 15 players each from the new teams in the first round of the draft. After each of the first three rounds, the established clubs were to withdraw three more names from the list of draft eligibles. Before the fifth and final round, they were to add two names to their protected lists.

Seattle and Toronto were to be stocked with 30 players apiece, each carrying a price tag of $175,000. The established teams each stood to lose five players, one in each of the draft's five rounds.

Seattle's second choice was right-handed pitcher Gary Wheelock from the California Angels' system. Wheelock appeared in two games with the Angels last season, pitching just two innings. At Salt Lake of the Pacific Coast League he wss 15-8 with a 3.81 earned run average.

Toronto's second selection was left-handed pitcher Ted Garvin from the Minnesota Twins' organization as the trend toward younger players continued.

Garvin, 20, had an 11-9 record with a 3.30 ERA at Orlando of the Florida State League.

Seattle's third choice was infieler Bill Stein from the Chicago White Sox. Stein batted .268 with four homers and 36 RBI in 117 games with the White Sox. He was the first recognizable name selected by either team in the draft.

Toronto followed by selecting right-handed pitcher James Clancy, a 20-year-old out of the Texas Rangers' organization, then Seattle went for Boston pitcher Dick Pole, who was 6-5 with a 4.31 ERA for the Red Sox in 31 games in 1976.

Clancy was 6-8 with a 6.41 ERA at San Antonio of the Texas League last year.

Toronto next selected outfielder Gary Lee Woods from the Oakland A's system. Last season, his fourth as a professional, Woods appeared in six games for the A's, batting .125. He spent the season at Tucson of the PCL, batting .308 with eight homers and 57 RBI.

Seattle's next selection was first baseman-outfielder Dan Meyer of the Detroit Tigers. Meyer hit .252 with two homers and 16 RBI in 105 games for the Tigers last season.

Toronto then selected 37-year-old designated hitter Rico Carty of the Cleveland Indians, the first veteran and major name to be called out in the draft. It was the 10th selection of the first round.

Carty was one of the AL's leading DH batters last season wuth a .310 average, including 13 homers and 83 RBI. He broke into the majors in 1963 with the old Milwaukee Braves and won the National League batting championship with Atlanta when he hit .366.

Seattle then chose left-handed pitcher Grant Jackson from the New York Yankees. Jackson, a relief specialist, was 7-1 with a 2.54 ERA in 34 games for the Yankees and Baltimore Orioles last season. He was acquired by New York in a 0-player trade on June 15.

Jackson, 34, broke into the majors in 1965 with the Philadelphia Phillies and was traded to the Orioles in 1971.

Toronto completed the first round by choosing right-handed pitcher Claude L. Edge from the Milwaukee Brewers' system. Edge, 0-1 with a 1.80 ERA at Burlington of the Midwest League, was the third 20-year-old pitcher chosen by the Blue Jays in the first round.

USC, UCLA on collision course

By The Associated Press

Barring upsets—which appear unlikely—the Nov. 20 game between UCLA and Southern California will decide which team goes to the Rose Bowl to face the champions of the Big Ten Conference.

However, USC Coach John Robinson feels this weekend's Trojan game against Stanford in Palo Alto could be critical to his team's chances of going to Pasadena on New Year's Day, and he says a loss to the Cardinals this weekend would be worse than disturbing.

His reasoning goes something like this:

If Stanford can beat his USC team this week and then beat Oregon and Cal, if UCLA beats Oregon and Oregon State but loses to the Trojans, there will be a three-way tie in the Pacific—8 Conference. UCLA, USC and Stanford will all be 6-1.

If that should occur, Robinson reasons, Pac—8 rules say the Bruins would return to the Rose Bowl because they would have the best nonconference record.

If that situation occurs, the Nov. 20 game essentially would be meaningless: by then the Bruins would already have won the right to go the the Rose Bowl and could lose to the Trojans and still be the Pac—8 representative.

If the Bruins and Trojans have the same Pac—8 records when they meet here Nov. 20 and a two-way tie exists, UCLA can play for a tie; USC must win.

UCLA, meanwhile, gets a sort of breather when it plays at home Saturday against an Oregon team that has yet to win in the conference. While UCLA is 7-0-1 for the season, ranked third in the nation and working on a 12-game unbeaten streak, Oregon is 0-4 in the Pac—8 and 3-5 in all games.

Cal is out of the Rose Bowl running after last week's 20-6 loss to Southern Cal, but the high-powered Bear offense remains potent and will test Washington at Seattle in the Huskies' last home game of the year.

In the only other conference game of 1976, Washington State, 2-6, goes after its second straight victory when hapless Oregon State, 1-7, invades Pullman, Wash., for WSU's homecoming game.

Southern Cal has won six consecutive games since it's opening loss to Missouri, and the Trojans have won the last two weeks with Ricky Bell playing only briefly because of a hip pointer injury.

Tigers devour competition

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Chaffey High "prepared" for next week's big Citrus Belt League football encounter with Fontana by walking over Pacific, 56-0, Thursday night at Graber Stadium.

Though it might seem impossible that one team could beat another so badly without pouring it on, Tiger coach Ray Stark was by no means guilty of running up the score.

"We didn't run it up," he said after the game. "We used jayvees all through the second half. But when jayvees get into the game, they want to score — and they did."

Stark used virtually every player at his disposal during the one-sided contest. Three different quarterbacks called signals for the Tigers and 10 different players carried the ball.

They all looked like all-stars against the hapless Pirates. Chaffey accumulated 364 yards rushing on 45 carries — an average of 8.1 yards per run.

The win was Chaffey's fifth in a row and improved its CBL record to 4-0. The Tigers' final league game will take place next Friday at Fontana High, whose Steelers are 2-1 and figure to beat San Gorgonio tonight.

If the Tigers beat Fontana next week, they will win the CBL championship outright. If they lose to the Steelers, there will probably be a three-way tie for the title, since Eisenhower (2-1) will most likely win its final two contests against Redlands and Pacific.

At any rate, the Tigers clinched a playoff berth Thursday night.

Just how completely Chaffey dominated Pacific (1-3, 2-6) can be measured in any of several game statistics: The Tigers amassed 463 total yards to the Pirates' 142 and earned 27 first downs to the visitors' 10; Chaffey never punted; in fact, the Tigers faced only nine third-down situations, scoring touchdowns on two of them and converting five to first downs; Chaffey scored on eight of its 11 possessions; Pacific did not cross the midfield stripe until the second half, and then only twice.

In fact, only once did the Pirates pass Chaffey's 40-yard line — Pacific's deepest penetration was a second-down-and-nine situation on the Tiger 27, but the Pirates turned over the ball on downs three plays later at the Chaffey 44.

Actually, it could have been worse for the Pirates — they might have had to play another 14 seconds. After Chaffey scored its final touchdown with 14 seconds on the clock, the Pirates were assessed 60 yards in penalties for their blatant misbehavior. Rather than have the Tigers kick off from the Pacific goal line, the officials elected to send the frustrated Pirates, who were by that time becoming rather unruly, to the showers.

The Tigers' statistics were as impressive individually as they were collectively. Frank Fernandez led all rushers with 91 yards on seven carries and caught three passes, one of them a two-yard TD. Steve Lehor gained 79 yards on 10 carries — including scoring runs of 25 and 31 yards — and caught a pass for a two-point conversion. Frank Cohn gained 61 yards on five carries, one of them a 31-yard score. Eddie Saunders, seeing his first action after a season-long injury, rushed for 36 yards and a TD on just four carries. In all, six Tigers had 20 yards or more rushing.

Quarterback John Gable completed only five of 13 passes for 87 yards, but he threw three touchdowns in the first half and completed a pair of two-point conversions. Randy Johnston caught a 19-yard touchdown pass — with no Pirate within 15 yards of him — and one of the two-pointers and played a marvelous game as usual at his safety position. And sophomore Scott Bennett caught two aerials, one a 59-yard TD.

Coach Stark was unhappy with just one thing: his players, by that time mostly third and fourth-stringers, called a timeout with 19 seconds left and a 49-0 lead and scored on the next play.

"They should never have called that timeout," Stark said. "That was bad."

Cub shakeup threatened

CHICAGO (AP) — P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, is threatening a shakeup of the entire organization.

In a story appearing in the Chicago Daily News, Wrigley is quoted as saying the club lost $900,000 last year, "And we can't keep that up or we'll go bankrupt. I'm going to bring in people with business sense to run the club. The baseball people don't seem to know how to do it."

"We won't put a baseball man in charge. They don't seem to know how to do things in a business-like way. They're too involved in the games.

The Cubs drew 1,026,217 last season but still ended with a $900,000 loss.

College unbeatens scarce

By The Associated Press

There are plenty of big college football games remaining, but the only Game of the Century left this year seems to be ... would you believe ... Rutgers vs. Colgate.

That one takes place Nov. 20 in New Brunswick, N.J., and it's the only regular-season contest left between teams with unblemished records—as of now. In fact, it's the only one left at all barring a Cotton Bowl match-up between fifth-ranked Texas Tech and either second-ranked Pitt or No. 6 Maryland.

Besides Pitt, Texas Tech, Maryland, Rutgers and Colgate, the only other unbeaten-untied clubs are top-rated Michigan and—asterisk, asterisk—Southwestern Louisiana. The Ragin' Cajuns whipped everyone on the field but had to forfeit victories over Fresno State and Cincinnati for using ineligible players.

A notch below the select seven—or six—is unbeaten-but-tied UCLA while 10 teams have only one loss to mar their seasons. And in that group, the schedule lists Saturday's meeting between seventh-ranked Georgia and No. 10 Florida in Jacksonville while fourth-ranked Southern California meets both UCLA and Notre Dame and Long Beach State takes on San Diego State.

The Georgia-Florida clash will play a large part in settling the Southeastern Conference scramble—Florida leads by one game—and most other conference also have key contests coming up this weekend.

While Michigan visits Purdue in Big Ten action, co-leader Ohio State, ranked No. 8, entertains Illinois. In the Pacific-8, UCLA is at home against Oregon while co-leader Southern Cal visits Stanford.

Texas Tech, tied with No. 12 Arkansas atop the Southwest Conference, should have a cakewalk at winless Texas Christian while the Razorbacks visit rugged Baylor.

This man is King Richard | This man wants his crown

Richard Petty has won NASCAR's coveted Winston Cup six times. It's symbolic of the best Grand National stock car driver in the world. They call him King Richard with very good reason, for only two other men have won as many as three national titles—Richard's father, Lee Petty, and David Pearson.

The young whippersnapper who wants King Richard's crown is Cale Yarborough who, at 37, is two years younger than Petty and has been trying to win the Winston Cup for 19 years. This year Cale believes he has the car, the Holly Farms Chevy, and the points to win the cup. He's leading the standings now, but it's close. It could be settled at the last Winston Cup race of the season.

DATSUN 280Z—OFFICIAL PACE CAR

1977 Season:
FORD HAS THE CARS THAT CALIFORNIA WANTS.

Thunderbird. A new kind of thunder.

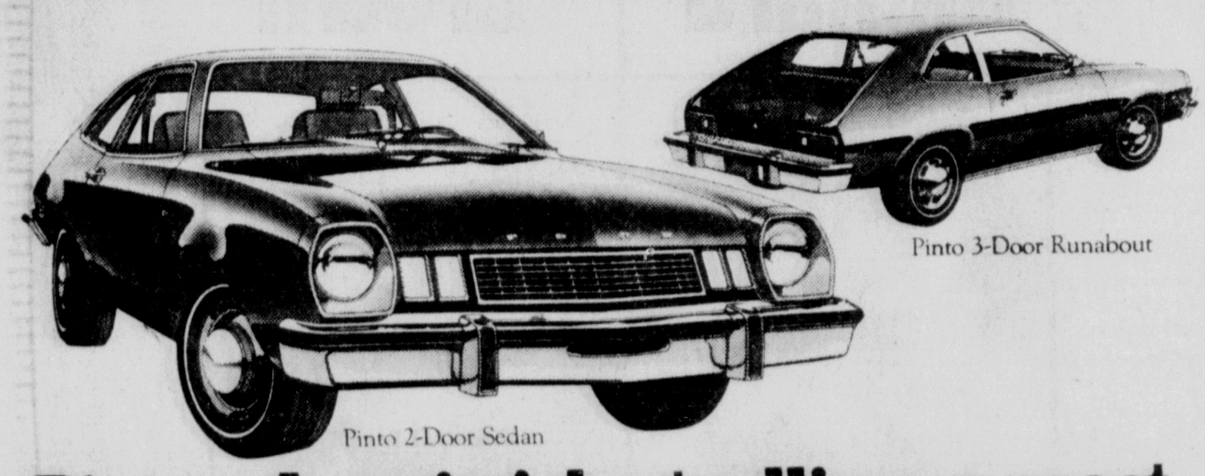
A completely new Thunderbird at thousands less than you'd guess.

Leaner, cleaner and 10 inches trimmer in size—the '77 Thunderbird still has the special luxury features and appointments that make Thunderbird famous. Even with optional vinyl roof, bodyside moldings, whitewall tires and more, it's much less than you'd expect. And if you order a "plain" T-Bird you get power front disc brakes, power steering, automatic transmission, 302 cubic-inch V-8, full wheel covers, AM radio, electric clock and steel-belted radials at no extra charge. Now more than ever Thunderbird luxury is within reach.

Granada Ghia 4-Door Sedan

Ford Granada. The best selling car in California.

The 1977 Ford Granada, at your Ford Dealer, looks like cars costing many times more, yet it's designed to be functional and practical. No wonder it's California's favorite car. Now refined for 1977 with improvements like standard steel-belted radial tires. And it's one of the few U.S. cars to offer 4-wheel disc brakes (optional). Look into an elegant interior with room for five adults, and a vacation-size trunk that holds eight assorted pieces of luggage. Look into the Ford Granada, America's success car, now in a brilliant 1977 edition.

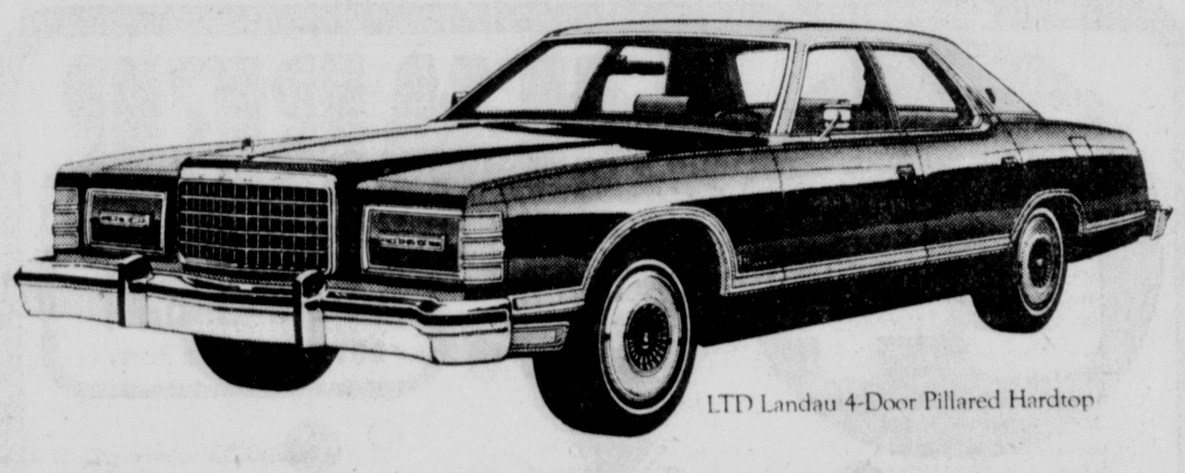


Pinto 3-Door Runabout

Pinto 2-Door Sedan

Pinto...America's best selling compact car, now with sportier handling.

California has a new Pinto for 1977. With a fresh new look front and rear. And spirited new performance to match. A special California package adds front stabilizer bar for sportier handling, steel-belted radials, rear window defroster and deluxe wheel covers as standard equipment. With a long list of options for you to enjoy: all glass rear door, flip up removable open air roof, 4-way manual driver's seat and Sports Rallye Package for the best handling Pinto ever. This new Pinto has spirit you can feel. It comes from a strong and proven 2.3 liter 4-cylinder engine and responsive four-on-the-floor manual transmission (automatic is optional). For more spirit, choose an optional 2.8 liter v-6 with automatic transmission. And the '77 Pinto brings you built-in durability with the electro-dip prime coating on the entire unit-body construction.



LTD Landau 4-Door Pillared Hardtop

The full-size car that stayed full-size. FORD LTD.

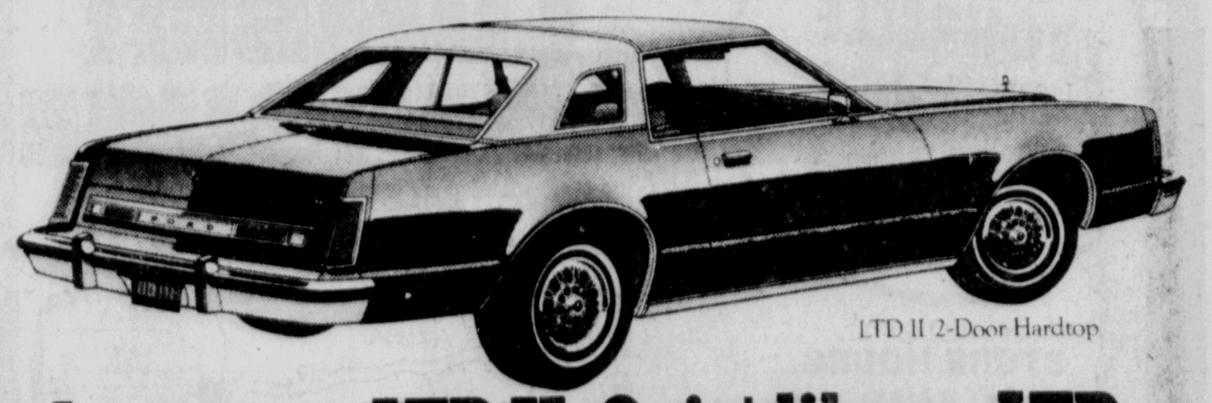
This year, some car makers are making their full-size cars shorter and narrower. Ford believes that people who want a full-size car should have that choice. So the '77 Ford LTD hasn't been reduced by a single inch! Ford LTD has a longer wheelbase than the down-sized Olds 98, Buick Electra, and Chevrolet Caprice and Impala (which have shrunk to the length of the mid-size Chevelle). And LTD still gives you its traditionally smooth, quiet ride, interior spaciousness, deep-well trunk, and 3½ ton towing capacity (with optional Trailer Towing Package). See the new Ford LTD at your Ford Dealer.

Ford kicks off a great new season with a great new game. FORD'S FIRST & TEN GAME.

- A football game the whole family will enjoy... fun for kids, challenging for adults.
- Authentic football strategy, with runs, passes, punts, field goals, fumbles, time outs and safeties.
- Nothing to break, nothing to wear out, and no electricity. It's portable, too. You can play it on the beach.
- More football fun than heavily advertised games costing $10 to $15...and it's yours for just $1.00.
- Great Christmas gift idea.

Stop into your Ford Dealers today and get yourself some football fun with Ford's First and Ten Game.

Only $1.00...a $4.95 value



LTD II 2-Door Hardtop

A new car: LTD II. Quiet like an LTD. With a trim new price.

For a 6-passenger car that's trimmer in size and price than LTD, look at Ford's LTD II. It combines LTD's high level of workmanship with a unique sporty spirit all its own. And LTD II, like Ford LTD, comes with V-8, automatic transmission, power steering, power front disc brakes, steel-belted radials, DuraSpark Ignition system, and more...standard. At your Ford Dealer now.

Test-drive one of Ford's better ideas for '77...and compare.

We're confident that when you measure Ford's better ideas for 1977 against the best that competition offers, you'll put Ford out front for value. And there's no better yardstick for comparison than to see the cars and take a revealing test drive. Come in today.

Random Notes

By RICH WISEMAN

"WE'VE SPENT EIGHT YEARS on the back streets and eight years uptown, and I don't think there's any reason to keep on touring other than money." With that declaration, ROBBIE ROBERTSON announced that the BAND will quit the road after a farewell concert they're calling "The Last Waltz" Thanksgiving night in San Francisco.

And what a show it promises to be. To be held at either Winterland (the site of the Band's first concert under that name, in 1969) or The Cow Palace, it will feature, in manager LARRY SAMUELS' words, "Some friends who've been part of our music." Neither Robertson nor Samuels would name names, but the "friends" reportedly include BOB DYLAN, VAN MORRISON, NEIL YOUNG, ERIC CLAPTON, NEIL DIAMOND, MUDDY WATERS, PAUL BUTTERFIELD and RONNIE HAWKINS.

Robertson said there were plans to either record or film the event.

BRIAN WILSON CONTINUES to ride the wave of recovery. He's already written a half-dozen tunes for the BEACH BOYS' next album, and has been hitting the studio at 9 a.m. daily to tinker with the tracks. Also, he's set to appear on stage with the Beach Boys at their Nov. 24, 25, and 26 dates at Madison Square Garden and their New Year's Eve show at L.A.'s Forum.

ONE OF THE PRESSING questions unattached male rock stars seem to have on their minds these days is, "Who is STEVIE NICKS seeing?" FLEETWOOD MAC'S Stevie happens to be one of the more beautiful and potentially available (now that she and LINDSEY BUCKINGHAM are just friends) female rock and rollers around. Such figures as the EAGLES' DON HENLEY have been falling all over themselves to court her.

Last we heard, JEFFERSON STARSHIP'S PAUL KANTNER had the inside track. The two met at a Starship party in L.A. following their Forum date. Stevie arrived in a white limousine with, as one observer put it, "12 women that looked exactly like her." Happily nestled in the limo at party's end was Kantner.

The next morning, GRACE SLICK, who couldn't stand the suspense any longer, tried to peek inside Kantner's room at the Continental Hyatt House by hanging outside a neighboring window. Then she tried to stir him with a raspy rendition of "Rhiannon." Finally, Kantner opened his door to find the rest of Jefferson Starship standing in the hallway, smiling. Kantner shut the door. "He's not talking," a friend said. "He's very discreet."

PAUL SIMON COLEBRATED his 35th birthday with a corned beef and cabbage repast at Elaine's in New York, Oct. 13. Simon got the side room for himself and 50 friends, including brother EDDIE, ART GARFUNKEL, MICK JAGGER, producer RICHARD PERRY, DAVID GEFFIN and CHEVY CHASE. . . . For JOHN LENNON's 36th birthday, October 9th, RINGO STARR sent New York porn poetess CHERRY VANNILLA over to John and Yoko's room at the Dakota to recite her version of "Romeo and Juliet" . . . PETER FRAMPTON's girlfriend, PENNY McCALL, hid behind Jackie O-sized sunglasses at Peter's Madison Square Garden concerts. Penny got her eyes blackened in a car accident a couple of days earlier . . . LINDA RONSTADT had an eventful drive home to Malibu recently. "I got on the freeway and I forgot to change gears," she said. In a while, through the din of her car radio, she began hearing a "horrible banging noise" and "there was water spurting out from under the hood. I coasted to a gas station where it stopped. There I was at 4 a.m. in the low rider section of the valley." The engine is a complete wreck.

MONTI ROCK III, disco star and egoist supreme, is moving to London Dec. 1. He wanted to tell us all about it: "I'm going with my costumes and my ego. I can't work in America forever as an opening act to every ding-a-ling that's happening.

"They love me in London. I'm an alive happening. I'm comedy rock. I ain't ELTON JOHN. Elton is paranoid now because he thinks everybody wants him for his money. There's no other reason you'd want Elton. I'm high-class and good-looking."

PERKY POWELL

Jane Powell, film and musical comedy star, will play the title role in the San Bernardino Civic Light Opera production of "Irene." The musical hit of 1919, revived on Broadway in 1973, will be staged next Friday through Nov. 20 at the California Theater of Performing Arts with an 8:15 p.m. curtain. Also starring are Ron Husmann and Patsy Kelly. Tickets are now on sale at all agencies.

'GONE' BACK AGAIN

One of the most acclaimed movies of all time, "Gone with the Wind" will be shown on NBC-TV in two parts Sunday and Monday nights. The film, starring Vivien Leigh and Clark Gable, was adapted from the epic Civil War novel by Margaret Mitchell. NBC paid $10 million for the TV rights, the highest price ever paid for a movie. It is the first time it has been on TV.

Counter-culture

Poster art gets class

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rock poster art, a reflection of the counter-culture movement that swept the nation in the late Sixties, has abandoned its street-post beginnings for the world of museums.

The well-attended exhibit of 250 posters at the San Francisco Museum of Art comes nearly a decade after the height of a cultural wave that challenged the Old Way, according to exhibit organizer Walter Madeiros.

Poster art was the movement's face to the public, growing out of the success of San Francisco rock bands and exploding with the success of large rock concerts and dancehalls.

"It all sort of came together around the music and the dope," Madeiros explained. "It made a group out of people who were culturally disenfranchised."

Like other periods of renaissance, the movement had its patrons. The owners of two local dancehalls, the Avalon and the Fillmore, kept the artists pumping out new posters weekly, with press runs as large as 5,000. The going rate for poster designs was about $150 a piece.

Many of the posters were also reduced for handbills, and some were miniaturized into rock concert tickets. The designs included fantastic creatures and complex designs that on closer examination formed the name of the featured band at the next concert.

The posters were "a triumph of art over function," according to Madeiros. Advertising the Grateful Dead, Jefferson Airplane and Moby Grape freed the artists to make innovations in the use of color, printing techniques, design of type faces.

It was an event when each new poster hit the streets. Artists would check out what new limits had been reached and street "collectors" would grab up copies for their own.

Once free for the taking, the posters are worth more now, according to Ben Friedman, owner of the Hostermat, a retail outlet here. Friedman says most of the posters now sell for about five dollars, with some rare editions going for as much as $50 each.

"I'm just blown away that I was in the right place in the right time," said Alton Kelley, one of the 12 poster artists in the exhibit. "It was really a scene. It was before the word hippie existed — nobody had a word for it."

Kelley now operates a studio in San Rafael, and with Stanley Mouse — his poster collaborator — owns Monster Corp. of America, a firm that specializes in T-shirt art.

The flower power cultural burst officially ended on July 4, 1971, the last performance at the Fillmore. But Madeiros says its spirit lives.

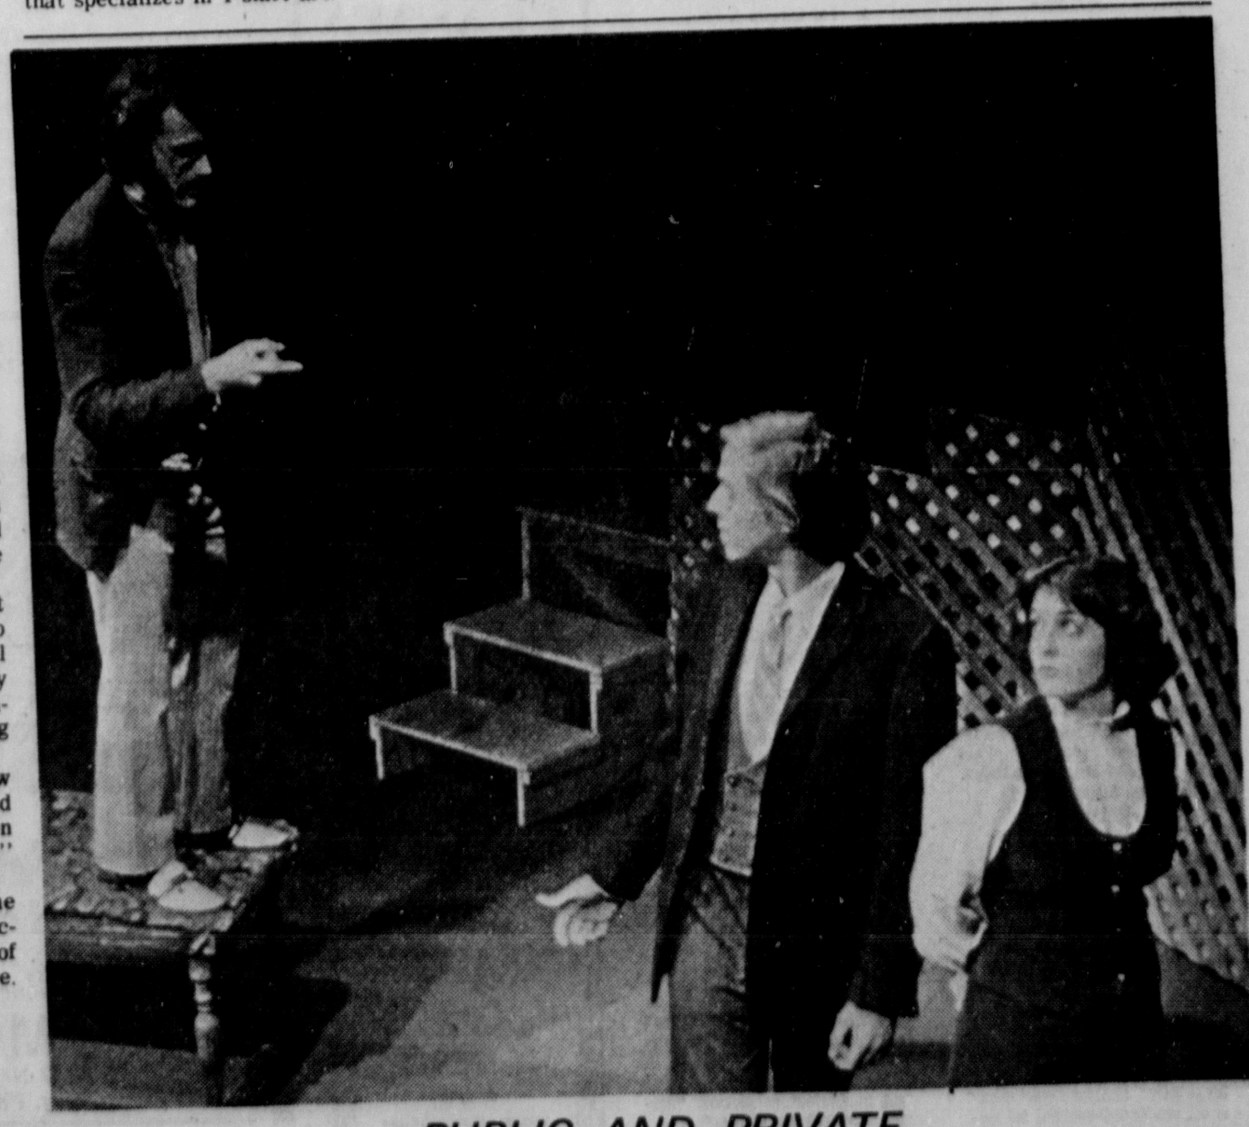
"The straight world was ready for these things," he said, citing back-to-nature fads in urban areas, housewives learning macrame, and marijuana smoking in the suburbs.

"People didn't realize how spoiled we were at the time," said David Spieth, a 25-year-old carpenter who visited the exhibit. "Back then nobody looked at it as a piece of art — it was a happening.

"But I guess that's art," he added.

Quinn set for 'Children'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Anthony Quinn will star in the movie version of the classic Oscar Lewis novel "The Children of Sanchez."



PUBLIC AND PRIVATE

David A. Glasa, left, Steve Adams and Debbie Kniesley star in "The Public Eye" and "The Private Ear," to be presented in Dailey Theater, La Verne College, at 6:30 Saturday night. The Peter Shaffer plays are directed by John Woodruff, visiting professor of drama at LVC.

Auditions called at Playhouse

The Claremont Playhouse will hold auditions for Neil Simon's comedy, "Come Blow Your Horn," in the Pavilion of Griswold's Old School House at 7:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday.

There are parts for three males — one about 21, another in his early 30s, and a third 55 to 60. Four women are needed — one in her early 20s, another about 25 and two about 50.

Call-back readings will be held Thursday and next Friday, and rehearsals will start at the theater at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14.

"Come Blow Your Horn" will open Dec. 10 and play to Jan. 29.

Currently being offered at the Playhouse is the Anthony Newley musical, "Stop the World, I Want To Get Off." It plays at 8 o'clock Thursday through Saturday nights. Reservations can be made by calling 621-5005.

Pomona programs chamber concert

Members of the Los Angeles Philharmonic will present a concert of chamber music in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday. Admission is free.

The featured performer will be Kalman Bloch, longtime instructor of clarinet in the college. Other artists in the group are Tze-Koong Wang, violin; David Speltz, cello, and Zita Carno, piano.

The program will include ensemble music with clarinet composed in the past 35 years. The opening work will be "Dialogues" for clarinet and piano by George Rochberg, written in 1958. Following will be the late Ingolf Dahl's "Concerto a tre," composed in 1952, for clarinet, violin and cello; "Reflections" for clarinet and piano by Karl Kohn, Pomona College composer-in-residence, and "Echoes," a piece for clarinet and two-channel electronic tape, composed in 1974 by Olly Wilson. The concert will close with the popular "Contrasts," for violin, clarinet and piano, written by Bela Bartok in 1942 for himself, Joseph Szigeti and Benny Goodman.

Church to stage 'Fludde'

"Noye's Fludde," a one-act opera based on the Chester miracle play of the 14th and 15th centuries, will be presented in the sanctuary of the Claremont United Church of Christ, Congregational, at 7 p.m. Saturday and at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Hollis Williams designed the set, costumes and masks. Steven Hiet constructed the ark.

The performance is open to the public without charge.

SWEET SINGER — Dionne Warwick will be featured on "In Performance at Wolf Trap on KCET, Los Angeles, at 9 p.m. Nov. 29. The program was taped at the Wolf Trap Farm Park for the Performing Arts near Washington, D.C.

Hoaxes cause CB problems

By INK DIPPER

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Ink Dipper, KYZ-3916, is the handle of the editor of The CB Times-Journal.)

Someone is going to die because of a CB hoax.

Maybe it will be an ambulance driver rushing to the scene of an auto wreck that doesn't really exist. Maybe it will be the victim of a real auto wreck who can't get help because the ambulance is racing in the other direction.

Or maybe, if we're lucky, it will be the hoaxer himself, beaten to death by someone enraged over the black eye that hoaxes are giving CBers.

Unfortunately, it will probably be one of the first two people. The hoaxer is practically untouchable.

The hoax problem is nationwide. Local, state and federal agencies spend thousands of dollars a year to hunt emergencies which exist only in sick minds.

A few hoaxes have drawn national attention, though hundreds of others occur each month. One estimate is that out of every 100 emergency CB calls, eight are fake.

Sometimes a hoax can be discovered early. A CBer at the scene of an alleged accident, for instance, can alert police that someone is putting out a false report.

But authorities have to follow through on others because they have no idea that the report is anything but authentic.

One of the most widely reported hoaxes was in 1973 when a California CB operator heard a call from an hysterical little boy who said that his father had been killed and that he was calling from their overturned pickup truck in New Mexico.

Searchers spent five days and $150,000 in manhours, equipment use and fuel before the incident was marked up as a prank.

In June, U.S. Coast Guard and law enforcement officers in Marathon, Florida, spent four frantic hours searching for two boats. According to the urgent distress calls, one of the boats was sinking with several people aboard, and the second boat then took the survivors. Next time calls from the second boat that it was overloaded and taking on water.

Four hours after the first call, a woman contacted police and said she heard three men in a pickup truck putting out a distress call similar to the ones transmitted by the two "boats."

By the time the rescue operation was called off, taxpayers had lost $20,000.

Putting out a false distress call carries a maximum fine of $10,000, up to a year in jail or the fine and jail term. But authorities have little luck catching hoaxers.

A hoax usually doesn't last long enough for the Federal Communications Commission to bring in sophisticated direction - finding antennas.

Most hoaxes are quick calls to police or emergency monitoring stations. It's like pulling the handle on a fire box and then running into the night.

If the hoax problem is going to be brought under control, it will have to be done by CBers and not by outside agencies. Groups that set up emergency monitoring systems — such as REACT and ALERT — have been successful in organizing CBers and cutting down the number of false calls. The groups work with law enforcement agencies, and the police and sheriff's departments rely on the CBers for accurate information.

But most law enforcement agencies aren't that well organized for dealing with CBers, and even the best organization can't help in all cases. The New Mexico and Florida incidents are examples of having to assume that the call is legitimate.

Which leads us back to where this began — someone is going to die. Let's hope for the best.

'Oklahoma!'

Gallery doing musical comedy

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Gallery Theater's teenage "Oklahoma!" is a lively and exuberant romp along the nostalgia trail for the audience, but hardly for the performers. Rodgers and Hammerstein created the classic musical before most of the young actors were born.

Still, there's plenty of bounce and excitement, as the young singers and dancers throw themselves into the action with as much zeal as if the show were in its opening run on Broadway.

Like "Showboat," "Oklahoma!" has become part of the warp and woof of the American culture, and "Surrey with the Fringe on Top" is as familiar as the "Star-Spangled Banner." Add to that such mini-classics as "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning!" "Many a New Day" and "People Will Say We're in Love," and half the audience is humming as they leave the theater.

Andrea Miller and Bradford Kahn are beguiling and attractive as Laurey and Curly, creating interesting figures of the young lovers.

Dee-Dee Jernigan offers a superbly comic Ado Annie, the girl who "cain't say no," and she adds to her talent for clowning and outstanding voice. Her suitors, Will Parker, deftly played by Scott Grossberg (great in "Everything's up-to-date in Kansas City") and Tyler Learned as the consistently hilarious Ali Hakim, are a delight.

Paul Audelo's Jud Fry is a suitably repugnant villain, done in a nice blend of pathos, evil and buffoonery, and Dorothy Copin provides a humorous and understanding Aunt Eller. Chipping in with gusto in smaller roles are Frank Kohel, Chris Biggs, Lisa Wright, Stan Chapin, Robert Greenig and Stephen Skrob.

A charming feature of the production is the performance of Elizabeth Biggs, Michelle Facer, Terri Slocum and Renee Sparks, a piquant quartet of young dancers.

"Oklahoma!" will be presented at 8 o'clock Friday and Saturday nights for several weekends. The theater is at C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario. Reservations can be made at 982-5357.

'Billy' renders unto Caesar

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sid Caesar will star in a new comedy to be filmed in Australia, "Billy."

Caesar, finishing up "Fire Sale," is currently in "Silent Movie."

"Billy," described as family entertainment, is being made by Trans-Atlantic Enterprises in association with the Australian Broadcasting Co.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

With this issue Weekend! begins its second year, and right now I'm looking at my first column in that initial entertainment offering November 7, 1975. Not particularly impressive or noteworthy except, perhaps, the part in which I state the purpose of my wanderings. And so, as a refresher (and in case there's anyone out there besides my boss who wonders just what it is I do), I offer the following. In that first column I said:

"I want to state at the outset that I like a well-prepared meal and good music as well as the next person. But, while I thoroughly enjoy both, I have no desire in this column to give a critical appraisal of either. But I am interested in the dining out experience, and each week I have a choice to make, just as you do, about what to do, where to go.

"It is your weekend, and you will make that choice on the basis of what's available to you. It's our Weekend! And we hope to be able to help you expand your choices."

If we have helped you "expand your choices" in this past year, we're happy. If we haven't, we'll try harder!

It's rather an errie experience to be "read" by a psychic, to have your thoughts and plans described, defined and analyzed as William Rainen did mine last Sunday night at Dock of the Bay. He was pretty right on, too, in his summation of where I am and what I'm thinking about at this moment in my life. (I only hope my future unfolds as excitingly as he "sees" it!)

Rainen's Halloween show centered on his use of psychometry, the art of reading (experiencing?) a person's life force by touching or holding one of their personal possessions, a ring, necklace, watch, etc. The contention is that each of us radiates a life force, or aura, which those with psychic powers can pick up on to identify and explain. I guess. I admit I'm into rather a hazy area here. I'm struggling with terminology. Each occult technique has its own, and for centuries many people, like Alfie, have been having themselves "read" in an effort to find out what's it all about.

Someone asked me Sunday night if I'm a believer. A flippant yes or no answer is totally inadequate. I feel that I've been around long enough to be a tad skeptical of easy answers, but that I haven't lived long enough to be cynical. There's a boyish hope there somewhere that just maybe...

Anyway, I can say that William Rainen's show was entertaining. There were many people there in costume Sunday night, and they kept him doing his thing for more than an hour. I was impressed with Rainen's style. He doesn't care if you believe or not. Just enjoy! I did and maybe you will, too. He'll be at Dock of the Bay, 1504 Foothill, La Verne, for a couple more weeks on Wednesdays and Thursdays. Showtime is 9:45 p.m.

Ronald McDonald is coming to Pomona this Sunday for an appearance that has to spell some fun and excitement for Pomona Valley youngsters. He and his scheming sidekick, the Hamburglar, will make personal appearances at the McDonald's on Murchison at 2:00 p.m. (San Bernardino Freeway at Ganesha.)

A long-time hamburger ambassador for McDonald's and, by now, a famous TV personality, Ronald will perform a delightful magic show from his animated McDonaldland stage. The stage is actually a miniature reproduction of the McDonaldland set used for filming McDonald's TV commercials, and features all the McDonaldland characters. In addition to the show, Ronald has prizes for both parents and children. Owner Tom Spiel has requested that parents and children arrive at least 30 minutes before showtime to assure themselves of getting a good seat. That's this Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

AROUND AND ABOUT

...During the month of November, Bob's Big Boy restaurants are offering the famous Big Boy double-deck hamberuger, french fries and a coke for only 99 cents, a considerable savings when you consider the escalating cost of food.

...A packed house at Claremont's Beef 'N Barrel watched as Linda Powers (above, right) won $25 for best costume during the Barrel's Halloween party last Saturday night. "Cartune" leader, Wayne Moore (in drag) presents dinner-for-two certificate to Barbara Eifler (center) for runner-up prize.

...Manager Steve Frazier of Ice House Canyon Lodge reports that a big weekend turnout is expected for their "Tribute to Elvis" special. The program, a presentation of KSOM, features Bobby Greer in a happening which has stirred quite a bit of excitement. Tomorrow is the last night in a four evening run. I plan to get up there this evening.

Do-It-Yourself

Indoor slide easily built

By STEVE ELLINGSON

Imagine the hours of fun your children or grandchildren will have playing on this clever, sturdy indoor slide! While waiting their turn, they can have countless adventures crawling through the large holes cut into the sides. unlike so many modern toys, this slide prompts physical activity that is so necessary to a child's well-being. When painted with bright, durable enamel, it will make a unique addition to any child's room. Of course, it's designed with safety in mind.

Built from one 24" by 24" sheet of exterior plywood, one 48" by 48" sheet of hardboard, and a few 2' by 2", this project is a snap for the amateur do-it-yourselfer. It measures 20" wide, 36" high and 61" long. Our plan is loaded with drawings and photographs to guide you every step of the way. And no special tools are needed with this simple-to-follow plan.

To obtain Plan No. 580, Indoor Slide, send $2.00 (includes 1st class postage and handling) by cash, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, Pomona Progress-Bulletin Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, California 91409.

Gardeners check list

—When Dahlias bloom themselves out, let the tops yellow off, then cut the stalk within a few inches of the ground. Let this dry out, lift a clump of tubers, wash them and let them dry before storing in a dry place for the winter. Wait until next spring before trying to separate the tubers in a clump.

—Dormant spraying is especially effective now that pests are inactive and more easy to eliminate.

—Pruning time is here. Get detailed instructions from your local nursery. Following your pruning, give your whole garden a thorough clean up spray.

—Azaleas and Rhododendrons will soon be available in local nurseries. They make lovely Christmas gift plants!

—Winter vegetable gardening is one of the special favors nature has bestowed on the California gardener. Drop by a C.A.N. member nursery this month and see what's available in the way of seedling vegetables in flats.

—Berried shrubs to plant now include Hollies, Pyracanthas, Heavenly Bamboo and miniature berried shrubs — Dwarf Burford Holly and Tiny Tim Pyracantha.

—Clean up leaves and fallen fruit. Cut back browned perennials and prune evergreens lightly.

—This is a good time for transplanting. If you are remodeling your garden, see the fine hardy evergreens that are arriving daily at your C.A.N. nursery. You'll find excellent hedge material, foundation plants and accents.

—Feed annuals set out last month. Keep them well watered.

—Keep an eye to your planting of Ranunculus. Cover them if you can to keep the birds at bill's length when the bulbs start to sprout.

—Hurry with all gardening activities such as soil preparation, bulb and shrub planting. The winter rains will soon interfere with most garden chores.

—Cool weather bedding plants such as Fairy Primrose, Pansies, Violas, Calendulas, Stock and Snapdragons can be planted now.

Where mowing is hard

Ground cover aids

Groundcovers offer a natural alternative to grass for landscaping certain areas where mowing is difficult, or where shade inhibits grass growth or simply where a change in pace is desired They are easy to maintain, according to the American Association of Nurserymen, and come in a variety of shapes, sizes, textures and colors that offer the homeowner a wide choice to fit any landscape plan.

Whether they are shrubs, vines, annuals, perennials, evergreens or deciduous, or whether they have flowers or broad variegated leaves, groundcovers are always low growing. They offer the advantage of being able to grow in places where other plants often will not, such as on slopes, banks, in heavily shaded areas or in trouble spots on a lawn. In any case, they can be a real asset to the landscape and add a delightful contrast to lawns or other landscape plants.

It is essential to plan the area where groundcover is to be planned so they will grow fully over the desired area. Consider the conditions such as shade or sunlight available, the amount of traffic the area will get, the moisture and drainage of the soil. A local nursery garden center can give good advice on the best groundcovers for each situation.

While varieties will differ in some of their requirements for care and planting, the homeowner should follow certain steps in planting and maintenance that almost all groundcovers have in common.

Generally, they will not accept much walking on, even though they are fairly hardy. While they do reduce or eliminate erosion after they are established, they are susceptible to damage from erosion on slopes or banks when first planted before their roots take hold. Therefore, it is always wise to place wood or metal strips in the soil across the bed at intervals of about 18 inches on steeper slopes and farther apart on less steep slopes until the plants have become firmly established.

Prepare the soil sufficiently in advance of planting to give it a chance to settle. Compacted or hard soil, or clay, should be dug or loosened with peat moss or other organic material mixed in. The soil can be fertilized, if necessary, and a nursery garden center expert can give the best advice on the proper one to use.

Individual plants should be placed into the ground at no more than the depth which they were in the nursery or other planting area. Some types of groundcover propagate more rapidly than others and therefore may be spaced at greater intervals. Check with your nursery garden center.

Be sure to pack soil firmly around the plants and water thoroughly. Most popular groundcovers need about an inch of rainfall a week during the growing season. Proper mulching with peat moss or other organic material will also help keep the ground moist. Water whenever the ground appears to be dry.

Keep the beds weeded.

Ivy and vines

Ivy and vines are nature's insulators. Planted on masonry walls, or on trellises or arbors adjacent to wooden walls, they help block out hot summer sun and keep buildings cooler on the inside. A convection current also develops behind the cool green leaves that draws warm air away from the wall. In winter, ivies and vines planted on the windward sides of a building help block out chilling winds and serve as insulation to keep heat in and cold air out. The wide variety of ivies and vines not only keeps surroundings refreshingly green but, the American Association of Nurserymen says, they help save money on utility bills.

Winter gardening

Winter vegetable gardening is one of the special favors nature has bestowed on the California gardener. If you would harvest delectable greens for your dining table during the coolest months, drop by a C.A.N. nursery this month and see what's available in the way of seedling vegetables in flats.

House plants

House plants, like other household items, will gather dust in time. With plants, though, you can't just take a dust cloth and have at them. Use a damp cloth and wipe the leaves off. Or set the pot in a sink and gently syringe the leaves with water. Some gardeners actually put larger house plants right in the bath tub and turn on the shower.

Joyce Brothers

Resigning as mother

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: MY mother is giving me a hard time because I'm not fighting for custody of my sons, who are 8 and 10. I can't convince my family that it would be wrong to slug it out in court. I love my sons but I think I'm an inadequate mother. My husband was always both mother and father to the boys and desperately wants them. It may sound selfish but I'd like to find myself. Will I regret this and am I being unfair to my sons? — V.N.

Dear V.N.: Under the circumstances, I think it might be more unfair to your sons if you submit to pressures just because others expect you to behave in a more conventional way. If you do, you will probably resent your children and those who pressured you.

Some fathers are better suited tempermentally and better able to relate to and guide their children.

It is extremely important that you keep in close contact with your sons and reassure them of your love. They need to be able to love both parents and the more you and your husband help each other maintain respect for both of you, the easier it will be for your sons to adjust. Many children get embroiled in loyalty conflicts and are unable to disentangle themselves.

Explain to your sons in simple, unemotional terms what is going to happen. Make sure they realize thay are in no way responsible for your problems. Try to present a picture that makes them feel that they can expect a sense of continuity in their relationship with you. They will suffer less if they have some clue as to what's going on and what to expect in their future.

You may be a better mother in the future if you find yourself now and decide what you wish to do with your life. Ideally, this should be done before marriage, and certainly before children are brought into the world. Since this didn't happen in that order, it must be done now, otherwise, you might well destroy your children's chances for happiness because of your resentment and confusion.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Since my father-in-law's wife died several months ago, he complains about being unable to sleep and of having nightmares when he does. He never complained before. Our doctor finds him in good physical health. We love Dad and hate to see him suffer. — R.P.

Dear R.P.: As long as he's seen a doctor, I suggest you try not to worry too much unless this continues for months. His sleeplessness may be part of his natural mourning period! He also may be so preoccupied with death that he resists going to sleep for fear of what might happen — a heart attack or a nightmare.

Those who suffer from nightmares often find relief by sleeping during the day because it sometimes helps break the pattern of troubling dreams. Daytime sleepers almost never have nightmares, but are likely to have pleasant dreams.

It might help if your father-in-law talked about his dreams. Telling them to a sympathetic listener may make them clear and then perhaps he can face and overcome the fears they dramatize.

I assume he lives with you so you might be interested in knowing that a study showed that widowed persons who lived alone adjusted better to widowhood than those who lived with grown children.

Loneliness is a major problem for the person who has lost a loved one. You can help by encouraging your father-in-law to make new friends.

Church of Nazarene setting for nuptials

MRS. JAMES WISE

The Church of the Nazarene in Upland was the setting for the marriage of Miss Suzanne Roberta Prest, daughter of the Robert Prests of Upland, and James Daniel Wise, Ontario, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wise of Upland.

The Rev. Edwin McDonald read the evening ceremony which was followed by a reception in Upland at The Arbor.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Annie Prest and bridesmaids were Misses Sue Griffith, Judy Varela, Cindy Pembrock and Barbara Prest. Kathy McFarland was the flower girl and ring bearer was Steve McFarland.

Mike Varela was best man and ushers were Norm Hopkins, Dave Quandt, Bob Prest and Rick Phillips.

The couple honeymooned in San Francisco and are now at home in Ontario.

Bazzar scheduled Saturday

Theme for the pre-Christmas bazaar to be sponsored by the San Dimas United Methodist Women on Saturday is "Christmas Carousel." The event will open at 1 p.m. at the church.

Mrs. Muriel Moore is coordinator for the bazaar and will be assisted by Mmes. Ruth Hager, Pearl Way, Myrtle Swank, Clara Thomas and Myrtle Thomas.

The event is open to the public. Homemade pies and cakes with coffee will be served from 1 to 5 p.m. The church is located at 114 W. 2nd St., San Dimas.

Industrial nurses will meet

The Inland Center Association of Industrial Nurses (ICIAN) will hold its dinner meeting Nov. 17 at Skinner's Restaurant, San Bernardino.

The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour, followed by dinner at 7. The speaker will be Scotty Wallace, safety director, City of San Bernardino. His topic will be "Workmen's Compensation."

Persons wishing more information or reservation may contact Peggy Brudnick, 383-5397, or Majorie Lambeth, 829-3531.

DEBORAH KEATING

December wedding planned

Miss Deborah J. Keating of Montclair and William F. Britt Jr. of Pomona are engaged.

The bride-elect, daughter of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Keating of Montclair, graduated from Montclair High School. She is employed by Montgomery Ward in Montclair.

The future bridegroom, son of Mrs. Joseph Castellano of Pomona, attended Wilmington, Mass. schools. He is employed in Los Angeles.

A Dec. 11 wedding is planned.

Nutrition Society announces speaker

"Live Longer Now" — report on the program used at the Longevity Rehabilitation Center at Santa Barbara — will be presented by Cecyl Bruner at the Tuesday meeting of the American Nutrition Society in the Claremont Library at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open to the public.

Miss Bruner will tell of her five-day visit at the Center where a diet and exercise program is used to reverse angina to the extent that imminent coronary bypass surgery is avoided, and bypass closures are arrested. The speaker interviewed patients, attended lectures and food preparation sessions, and ate the prescribed diet.

Achiever luncheon charted

The Progress Bulletin Woman Achievers for 1976 will be honored at a luncheon at Orlando's Nov. 10 at noon.

The honorees, Mrs. Jan Ellison, Mrs. Mary Montes, Miss Estelle Nesbit and Mrs. Carol Smith, will be joined by their many friends at the luncheon.

Luncheon reservations may be made by calling the Family News department at the PB after 10 a.m. throughout this week.

Trophies will be presented to the winners, and guests will have an opportunity to meet the judges, Mrs. JoAnn Fitzgibbons, Mrs. Barbara De Voss, H. Gordan Wells, Dr. Armen Sarafian and Richard Gorow.

Tuesday meeting planned

The United Methodist Women of Claremont United Methodist Church will honor new members at a meeting at 10 a.m., Tuesday, in the Round Building of the church.

Special memberships will be presented during the meeting and a memorial service will be held for members who have died during the past year. The presentation of the budget will precede the worship service. Luncheon will be served after the meeting. Reservations may be made by calling the church office, 624-2342. For child care call 621-2103.

Johnny Wonder's QUESTION CORNER

Q. "WHAT IS A CHINCHILLA?"

STACEY HEGNA
CRANFORD, NJ

A. THE CHINCHILLA IS A SMALL SOUTH AMERICAN RODENT PRIZED FOR ITS VALUABLE FUR.

The chinchilla is a small rodent closely related to the squirrel. It looks somewhat like a long-tailed rabbit, but with smaller ears.

When it is full grown, the chinchilla is only about half the size of a rabbit. Its native home is in the high, cold mountains of South America.

Chinchillas are shy little animals. At the least alarm they scamper to the safety of their burrows among the rocks. But they soon stick their heads out to see what is going on.

They sleep during the day, and come out of their burrows at dusk to feed on roots and grasses. They hold foood in their front paws and nibble it just as squirrels do.

Chinchillas are very valuable because of their thick, bluish-gray fur that makes beautiful fur coats. For this reason there are not many wild chinchillas left. Most of them have been trapped for their soft, warm fur.

Chinchillas are now raised on farms for their fur, just as mink and foxes are.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/o this newspaper), Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

Cluckers' trucker

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Truckers never mistake Hugh Fletcher's truck-weighing station for any other. It's the only one that clucks.

"I didn't get the chickens on purpose," says Fletcher, 59, who has nine in a fenced area behind the scales. "The chickens fly off poultry trucks as the trucks pull away from the scales. I holler at the drivers, but they never hear me. Sometimes the chickens are injured falling from the trucks. I nurse them back to health."

Fletcher weighs trucks carrying not only chickens but crushed automobiles, watermelons and tires among other things.

*$250 INTRODUCTORY OFFER

Your local authorized Renault 5 dealer has a special factory introductory offer to make you. Come in and test drive our sporty Renault 5. If you like it go ahead and make the best deal possible with your dealer. Buy the car. He'll then give you a cash dividend certificate worth $250. Mail to Renault USA, Inc. within 10 days of your R-5's delivery date and Renault USA, Inc. will send you a check for $250.

Final deadline for receipt of certificate at Renault USA, Inc. is January 14, 1977, however, physical delivery of the car must be made on or before December 31, 1976.

RENAULT 5

Model shown is the Renault 5 TL, sticker priced at only $3,369. P.O.E. West coast. Price excludes transportation, dealer preparation, taxes, or optional equipment. Stripe and mag wheels are optional at extra cost.

Stripe & Sun-roof optional . . . at extra cost!

*Renault 5 is the "in" car in Europe. This offer is an incentive to find out why.

Renault is now the number one automotive manufacturer in all of Europe, ahead of even Volkswagen and Fiat. And our sporty Renault 5 is the big reason why. The Renault 5 is now being sold in the U.S. with a special introductory offer. Because we know that once you've driven this international best-seller you'll think twice before you consider a Rabbit, Honda, or Chevette.

The powerful front-wheel drive R-5 starts with a low sticker price and then goes on to deliver outstanding gas economy. You can get 41 MPG highway/27 city. These are California EPA estimates. Your actual mileage may vary depending on the type of driving you do, your driving habits, your car's condition and optional equipment.

People magazine has noted that the Renault 5 is now the "in" car in Europe. They pointed out that a certain glamorous young Princess recently gave up her Fiat for a Renault! And now this remarkable car is available in America.

Come in for a test drive, because the sporty Renault 5 pays off in a lot of ways besides the $250 offer.
